MAGILL URGES CONGRESSMEN END SNOOPING

Cites Methods Used in Lobbyist Hunt.

Members of congress have received or are about to receive a letter from Dr. Hugh S. Magill, president of the American Federation of Investors. The letter will deal with the purposes and rights of the federation and with the inquisition methods employed by the United States senate investigating committee in hunting down lobbyists—but not government lobbyists.

Dr. Magill's letter, mailed out last Friday to every member of congress —both senators and representatives —is as follows:

"My Dear Senator [or Congressman]:

"Since both houses of congress have investigating committees whose justification seems to be the need of full information on matters of legislation, I beg to submit to you and to other members of congress for your information some pertinent facts and certain questions which naturally arise from these facts.

Object of the Federation.

"The American Federation of Investors is incorporated 'to protect in any lawful manner the rights and interests of its members who are owners, directly or indirectly, of any of the securities of any company doing business in the United States.' It is estimated that at least 10,000,000 thrifty American citizens own such securities and that many more millions are directly interested through life insurance, savings deposits, and other similar investments.

"The federation is not a lobbying organization, as that term is commonly used. Its members do, however, exercise their constitutional right, individually and collectively, 'to petition the government for a redress of grievances.' These grievances may exist in legislation pending before congress that threatens to affect seriously their rights, or in laws enacted by congress that disastrously affect their interests.

Cites Snoopers' Activities.

"As president of the federation, after having furnished to the investigating committees of both the house and senate full and complete information regarding the income and expenditures of the federation, and of all its activities, I have been annoyed, harassed, and threatened by representatives of the senate investigating committee who came to my office and insisted that I permit them to read my personal and private correspondence. This I refused to do. These inquisitors stated to me that in one of their investigations just completed they had demanded, secured, and read letters which the gentleman being investigated had received from his wife.

"Having been thus confronted by these inquisitors sent out by a committee of the senate, may I inquire in all seriousness whether or not you approve of such actions? If you do approve, how can you justify such procedure when the constitution specifically provides that 'The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated'?

A Question of Intrinsic Rights.

"Senate resolution No. 165, under which the senate investigating committee operates, authorizes among other things a full and complete investigation 'of all efforts to influence, encourage, promote, and retard legislation, directly or indirectly.'

"In this connection is it not pertinent to inquire whether American citizens still have the right to express their approval or disapproval with respect to pending legislation, or legislation already enacted, which vitally affects them, without being subjected to investigation by inquisitors sent out by committees of congress?

Some Pertinent Inquiries.

"And is it not pertinent to inquire whether our nation is to continue government of the people, by the people, in which the duly elected representatives of the people make laws for the people in accordance with the will of the people, or whether the free expression by the people of their wishes to their representatives in congress is to be stifled or suppressed by the threat of investigation?

"And is it not pertinent to inquire, further, whether our government has reached the place where the majority of the members of congress pass

NOTED "GUMPS" CREATOR DIES IN AUTO COLLISION

Death Comes as He Plans Vacation.

Sidney Smith's Andy Gump cartoon appears as usual on the first page of the sport section in this issue. Mr. Smith, in accordance with his practice, had drawn many of these cartoons in advance of their publication dates, and these were on hand at the time of his death. They will be published as usual day by day.

Sidney Smith, noted TRIBUNE cartoonist and creator of "The Gumps, was killed instantly early yesterday morning in an automobile collision near Harvard in McHenry county, just south of the Wisconsin boundary line.

Alone in the small sedan he was driving northward toward his farm at Shirland, between Rockford and Beloit, Wis., when his car collided with another sedan driven by Wendell Martin, a resident of Watseka. Martin also was alone. There were no witnesses to the collision, but it was believed that the two cars met almost on the center line of U. S. Route 14. Smith's car was whirled around, hurtled off the road and into a telephone pole. Martin's car was thrown on its side, but remained on the pavement.

Policeman Finds Smith Dead.

The first man to reach the accident scene, State Highway Policeman Osmir Olson, found the artist was dead, the top of his head crushed in. He heard moaning in Martin's car, but was unable to extricate the injured man. When help came and Martin was taken to the Harvard hospital it was found that his hip was broken and his jaw was fractured. He was conscious, but it was impossible to obtain a statement from him.

The crash occurred approximately at 3:45 a. m. Smith had left his Chicago residence at 1500 Lake Shore drive about 2 a. m., planning to spend Sunday at his Shirland farm, a 2,200 acre tract he acquired two years ago. He was intending to give some important instructions concerning the conduct of the farm, as he was planning to leave soon on an extended vacation in the south and west.

Expect Martin to Recover.

Martin apparently was on his way to Algonquin, the headquarters of the Milahn Construction company, by which he is employed as a foreman on road construction work. At the Harvard hospital it was said he probably would recover.

Smith's body was taken to a north side undertaking parlor and from there wil be taken to the Lake Shore drive residence. Final funeral arrangements have not been completed, but it is planned to have the services at his home on Wednesday with the interment at Rosehill.

The cartoonist owned three country places. One of them is a home on Lake Geneva. He owned a second small place near Genoa City, just across the Wisconsin line, which he called "Forty Acres." The third is his big Shirland farm.

Guests Decline; Escape Crash.

He spent the Saturday half-holiday and part of the evening with friends visiting the former two places. He urged them to spend the night with him at Shirland. When they declined, he drove them back to Chicago.

The occasion for the outing had been a three year extension of Cartoonist Smith's contract with THE TRIBUNE. It was signed by him and by Arthur W. Crawford, representing the Chicago Tribune-New York News syndicate. Others present were Blair Walliser, production manager for radio station W-G-N, who had collaborated with Smith for several years in planning "The Gumps," and A. W. Loewenthal.

The group was in a happy mood. Smith's contracts have been famous. When on March 15, 1922, he signed the first million dollar contract ever given a comic strip artist—that was for a ten year period—he was given a Rolls-Royce as a "bonus." In 1930 this contract was extended to 1936, and the contract signed last night ex-

New Orleans, La., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Rolland B. Steele, 25 years old, who resigned a clerkship in the Chicago office of the Home Owners' Loan corporation after he won $40,000 in the Irish sweepstakes last March, was stabbed to death early today in the old French quarter of New Orleans.

Steele, who had moved to the home of his grandparents in Eutaw, Ala., from Chicago a month ago, entered a saloon in the quarter where at the time were a woman dressed in black and her escort. They, like Steele, were intoxicated, according to the bartender, Henry Langhauser.

Talks with Woman.

"Steele started talking to the woman," declared Langhauser. "This made her escort angry and he quarreled loudly with Steele. After a few minutes of this the man and the woman went out of the saloon. Steele got up and followed them. It was only a few minutes later when he staggered back in and fell on the floor, where he died."

The bartender and four other persons who saw Steele's reëntry into the saloon were held by police. A search was ordered for the woman in black and for the man with her.

Steele's uncle, Charles W. Wheeler of Greensboro, Ala., a cotton speculator, was found in a downtown hotel. He said that his nephew had left him with the announcement that he intended to go out and "lap up a few more beers."

Medinah Club Resident.

They had been staying together in the hotel, Wheeler added.

When Steele, then residing in the Medinah Athletic club of Chicago, won his fortune in the racing lottery last spring he announced that he did not intend to let money ruin him.

"I hope I won't have to resign my job," he said. "I want to keep right on working. I know what has happened to a lot of other sweepstakes winners who went off on spending sprees and threw up their jobs."

He took off only an afternoon from the job and returned to his work the next day. He continued in the HOLC offices until a few weeks ago.

Five School Children Die Under Crash of Landslide

SOUILLAC, France, Oct. 20.—(AP)—A landslide crashed down upon a party of 16 school children today, killing five and injuring two.

HURRICANE IN PATH OF PRESIDENT'S SHIP AS IT PLOWS NORTH

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Government weather men tonight reported a tropical storm, with winds of hurricane force near its center, is moving northeastward through the Caribbean sea near the course of the U. S. S. Houston with President Roosevelt aboard.

The Houston rode through a foaming sea and frequent squalls today, but was not in the direct path of the storm. The Houston is due to navigate the Windward Passage tomorrow.

In a 10 p. m. advisory the weather men said the tropical disturbance formed in western Caribbean waters southwest of the Island of Jamaica and tonight was central about 100 to 125 miles south of the island.

"Dangerous Force."

HAVANA, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Belen observatory reported at 11:45 p. m. [eastern standard time] that the cyclonic disturbance approaching Jamaica and Cuba had been located south of the central portion of Jamaica, moving in a northeasterly direction, and that it was "acquiring a dangerous force."

HOLD JOE LOUIS' TRAINER IN GUN BATTLE; 2 SHOT

Jack Blackburn, 52 years old, 4238 South Michigan avenue, colored trainer of Joe Louis, the boxer, was held last night by the Wabash avenue police after an old man and a little girl, both colored, were shot in a street fight between Blackburn and John Bowman, 24 years old, colored, 365 West 57th street.

The wounded, who were taken to the Provident hospital, are Enoch Houser, 69 years old, 329 East 58th street, and Lucy Cannon, 9 years old, 357 East 57th street. Houser's condition was critical.

Bowman told the police that Blackburn started a fight with him in an alley near 57th street and South Park avenue and he beat the trainer. Bowman said he went home and later when his wife and nephew were fired upon as they left the house, Houser and the Cannon girl, bystanders, were wounded in the exchange of shots. Bowman was held with Blackburn and William Parnell, 50 years old, 5355 Calumet avenue, for the shooting. Blackburn was pardoned in Philadelphia in 1913 after serving part of a prison sentence for killing a man in an altercation.

Injun Summer Lures Throngs to Highways

After eight consecutive days of real "Injun summer" Chicago may expect today a return of the cool days which characterized the first third of the month. As the temperature again remained above normal yesterday, drawing out thousands of motorists and hikers to enjoy the colorful autumn scenery, Forecaster A. W. Cook predicted the decline today, with showers by night.

After the rain, said Mr. Cook, the wind will shift from the southwest to the west, and the temperature readings should be 10 to 15 degrees lower. Yesterday's maximum was 67 at 3 p. m., the minimum 55, and the mean 61—9 degrees above normal.

An Unpropitious Beginning.

When October started out with chilly winds that called for topcoats and fall furs, most unofficial forecasters predicted unpleasant weather for the month, and golfers were certain their game would suffer because of the cold. During the first 12 days these predictions held true.

The mercury dipped to 35 degrees on the 6th and 7th. While none of the regular government weather stations recorded any frost, Chicago's suburbs on these two mornings awoke to a "white" frost covering their gardens.

The first eight days of the month had readings averaging 18 degrees below normal. On the 9th the mercury averaged normal, and during the next three days, it fell below normal. The normal mean for October is 53.8 degrees. These twelve days piled up a total deficiency of 117 degrees.

Reverses Usual Trend.

According to Forecaster Cook, records of the bureau show that the first half of the month ordinarily is about 10 degrees warmer than the last half. On Oct. 1 the average over a period of years has been 60 and on the 31st it has been 47.

A week ago Sunday, on Oct. 13, the northwest winds suddenly whipped around to the southwest and began unloading masses of warm air from the Texas plains. On this same day, the first of the old "Injun summer," THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE printed in color the famous cartoon of that name drawn by John McCutcheon. According to tradition, Injun summer was thus called because the redskins waited for that season to hunt for their winter meat supplies.

Gen. Greely, Famous Arctic Explorer, Dies

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Maj. Gen. Adolphus W. Greely, U. S. A., retired, who attained worldwide fame as leader of the fateful arctic exploration party of 1881, died this afternoon in Walter Reed hospital from the effects of a blood clot that developed on Oct. 7 in his left leg. Burial will be in Arlington National cemetery on Tuesday.

Gen. Greely had been in poor health for months, but was removed to the Army hospital that day when hope for his ultimate recovery was abandoned. He was in his 91st year.

Although his vitality gradually weakened, Gen. Greely retained consciousness almost until the end. He is survived by four daughters and two sons, all of whom heve remained close to the hospital during the past few weeks.

One Son an Army Officer.

They are Misses Antoinet and Rose Greely, who lived with him in his O street residence; Mrs. Charles Adams of Snowville, N. H.; Mrs. Harold Shedd of North Conway, N. H.; Col. John Nesmith Greely, now assigned to the War college, and Adolphus W. Greely, employed by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. Four grandchildren also survive.

Brig. Gen. David L. Brainard, U. S. A., retired, of this city, who was Gen. Greely's second in command of the 1881 expedition to the arctic, now is the sole survivor of the group. He called daily at the hospital to see his former chief.

Gen. Greely was one of the original organizers of the National Geographic society and a member of the board of trustees continuously for 47 years from the date of the society's founding in 1888.

WAITS A HALF CENTURY

Half a century elapsed between the heroic adventure for which Gen. Greely is best remembered—the ill-fated polar expedition of 1881-'84—and formal recognition of it by the nation which he had served. On his 91st birthday, last March 27, he received a medal of honor from congress "for his life of splendid public service." Secretary of War Dern pinned the decoration on the general's breast in his O street residence in the nation's capital.

When Greely and six others were brought back to civilization, leaving behind eighteen of their companions who had met death among frozen hardships, he found he had been dropped several files in the promotion list. He was then a first lieutenant, although he had emerged from the civil war as a brevet major of volunteers after a distinguished record in many battles. Long afterward he blamed his demotion on "political pull."

Late though his country was in recognizing his exploit of reaching further north—83 degrees and 24 minutes—than any previous explorer, his scientific accomplishments had won him international tribute long before. He had received the medals of the Royal Geographical society of

ETHIOPIANS CUT OFF, SURROUND DUCE'S TROOPS

Africans Say Enemy Is Short of Food.

BULLETIN.

[Copyright: 1935: By the Associated Press.]

MOGADISCIO, Italian Somaliland, 11:15 p. m. Sunday, Oct. 20.—Italian forces under Gen. Rudolfo Graziani on the southern front wiped out strong Ethiopian forces today in the Dajanere region near the Webbe Shibeli river.

DESSYE, Ethiopia, Oct. 20.—[Reuter's.]—Horsemen arriving here today said between 500 and 700 Italians had been cut off from communication with the main Italian forces by Danakil warriors.

The Danakils also were said to have claimed they had killed or wounded 200 Italians, and had captured two mule caravans which were bringing up rations for Italian forces.

The troops reported cut off were said to be surrounded by tribesmen in hilly country about fifteen miles from the French Somaliland border southeast of Mount Mussa Ali. There they have formed a square with two tanks in the center, the reports stated. They were described as extremely short of food and water.

Britain Bars Italian Ship.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

NAIROBI, Kenya, Oct. 20.—The British government has instructed East African authorities to apply the international neutrality regulations restricting the stay of vessels owned or chartered by belligerent governments to twenty-four hours.

Application of this regulation forced the Italian steamship Sursum Corda to leave Mombasa yesterday before she had finished loading a cargo of foodstuffs, gasoline and hay consigned to Mogadiscio, Italian Somaliland, for use by the Italian troops in the war against Ethiopia.

The Sursum Corda was unable to take on all the coal she had ordered. She was permitted to load only 125 tons, just enough to take her to Chisimaio, Italian Somaliland.

Italians Take Two Villages.

ROME, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Press dispatches from Italian Somaliland tonight said two "important" new Ethiopian villages were captured by the Italian forces today on the southern front.

A strong column of Ethiopians, the reports said, advanced from Gorahai toward Ualual and Gerlogubi yesterday to attack the Italians on their left. They were dispersed by an aerial bombardment, after which Italian native soldiers pursued the enemy all night, according to the dispatches. Many Ethiopian defenders were reported killed and wounded.

As a result of the attack, the Italians reportedly took Shillawe and Dagnerei, described as "very important." Dagnerei is on the Webbe Shibeli river south of Gerlogubi. Shillawe is midway on the trail between Dagnerei and Gorahai.

READY FOR NEW PUSH

BY MORTIMER DURAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ASMARA, Eritrea, Oct. 20.—Italian military operations on the Eritrean frontier are at a standstill, pending orders for the expected drive on Makale, 60 miles southeast of Adowa. Engineers who during the recent advance worked feverishly at road making within sound of the firing so that the troops never missed a hot meal and bread rations are continuing at full speed. A new motor road leading from Aksum, Ethiopian holy city, recently captured by the Italians, has been completed during the past two days.

Water has been discovered in unexpected places and 100 wells have been dug. Pipe lines, supplemented by water trucks, transport the water to the front. At the high altitude gasoline consumption by army trucks, tanks, and airplanes is excessively heavy. This has created a grave problem for the Italians.

Warriors Conceal Selves.

Italian airplane observers report considerable difficulty in gauging the strength of the Ethiopians. Emperor Haile Selassie's warriors conceal themselves cleverly and, owing to their light accouterments, are able to move rapidly from place to place. This fact explains the small number of prisoners taken during the recent advances.

Only scattered groups of Ethiopians are facing the front lines of the Italians. The chief concentrations are in the neighborhood of Makale, Tembien, and Birkutan, where considerable forces have assembled. From reports brought in by Italian observers, it is calculated the Ethiopians could muster about 100,000 men in that vicinity.

Ethiopian troops, including a big army led by Ras Kassa, are reported to be moving northward from Addis Ababa. Other Ethiopian contingents are concentrating south of Makale. Their objective is to join forces with Ras Seyoum, who retreated from Adowa, presumably with the intention of concentrating to resist further advances by the invaders.

Deserters Retain Weapons.

The Ethiopians who have deserted to the Italians are being allowed to retain their weapons. Chiefs of the tribesmen stand surety for the loyalty of their armed followers.

The particular friendliness the priests at Aksum have shown toward the Italians is due to the resentment they feel against Emperor Haile Selassie for transferring the religous center to Addis Ababa. He is the only Ehiopian emperor who has not been crowned in the holy city.

Italians Advance Cautiously.

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

ADIGRAT, Ethiopia, Saturday, Oct. 19—Delayed.]—The Italian army's forward movements are obviously continuing along the now classic line, which is to occupy a strategic spot, consolidate it, thoroughly establish the necessary supply lines, build roads and only then move forward. This is what is being done at Adigrat.

The road building continues to be a marvel to all observers. Within two weeks from the taking of Adigrat there are now quite passable roads built by the engineering corps under physical conditions which the natives themselves cannot stand.

On account of the height in this district it is so cold at night that coverings are no protection. During the day there is a broiling sun which is just as dangerous to the unwary. The strain on the heart is noticeable and fatigue comes almost immediately upon exertion.

To this is added very difficult terrain, with roads winding around the edge of dizzy cliffs.

Morale of Troops High.

The morale of the troops remains very high. Talks with many of the privates as well as the officers gives the impression that the chief complaint is that the Ethiopians will not form and fight and that the advance is being made too cautiously.

Road building is being carried on so swiftly that a 20 mile stretch between Adigrat and the present front has already passable highways. Telephone lines also are established.

Italian Ships at Port Said.

[Special Cable to the London Daily Telegraph and the Chicago Tribune.]

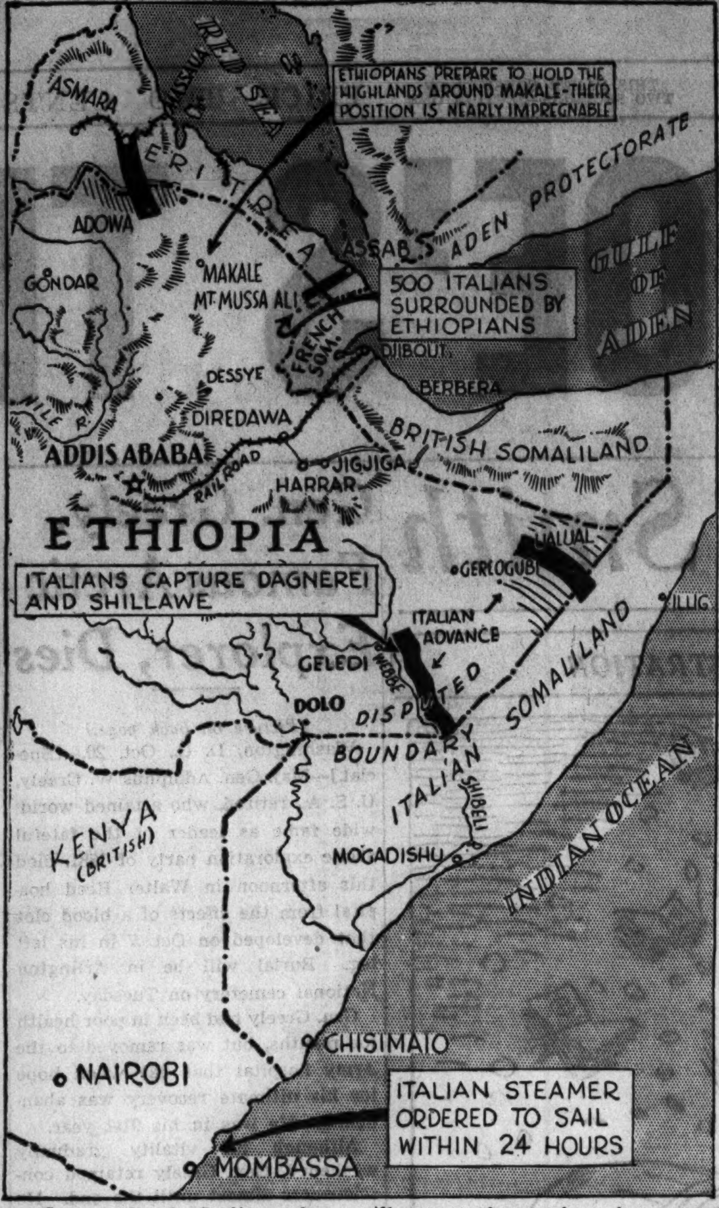
PORT SAID, Egypt, Oct. 20.—There was no lull this week-end in the movement of Italian troops and supplies to the Ethiopian war area. The Toscano, with 2,000 troops aboard, arrived here on its way to Eritrea.

Last night the hospital ship California arrived from Eritrea with a number of Italian invalids and wounded soldiers. Only Italian officials were allowed aboard.

Today three ships flying the Italian flag moved toward the Suez canal. Two were transports, including the Saturnia. The other, a cargo boat, was loaded with anti-aircraft guns and hay.

DAY'S MOVES ON ETHIOPIAN FRONTS



Capture by the Italians of two villages on the southern front, preparations on the northern front for a drive against the Ethiopian stronghold at Makale, and the report that 500 to 700 Italian troops had been surrounded by wild tribesmen in the Mount Mussa Ali sector, were yesterday's highlights in dispatches from the African fighting zone.

NAMES IN WAR TWIST TONGUES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—(AP)—"Aksum," "Jigjiga," and "Harrar" may only be strange names on the war filled front pages to most people, but they're putting furrows in the foreheads and new twists in the tongues of the pronunciation experts.

The difficulty, officials of the government's division of geographical names explained today, is in transliterating the strange characters of Ethiopia's Amharic language into the English alphabet.

At present the division is working on a guide to pronunciation of Ethiopian names. Pending its completion officials declined to lay down any hard and fast rules as to how they should or should not be pronounced. Records with which they are working, however, gave these pronunciations for the better known names of cities figuring in the war news:

Addis Ababa, pronounced Ah-dis Ah-bay-ba, with the accent distinctly on the first syllable of both words. "Ababa" should sound almost as if it were spelled "Awawa."

Djibouti—Jay-boot-e. The common English usage is to accent the second syllable, while the French accent is on the last syllable, jay-boo-tee.

Harrar—Ha-ar, accent on first syllable and similar in pronunciation to "horror."

Makale—Mock-a-le, accent on first syllable.

Oxford Students Support League Penalties on Italy

OXFORD, England, Oct. 20.—(AP)—A conference of Oxford undergraduates, representative of all shades of political opinion in the university, passed resolutions today supporting military as well as economic sanctions by the league of nations as a means of ending the Italo-Ethiopian dispute. The undergraduates also decided to form a peace council. The decisions were in sharp contrast to the now famous "white feather" decision of 275 members of the Oxford union who resolved in 1933 "not to fight for king and country."

ETHIOPIANS LURE ITALIAN ARMY TOWARD MAKALE

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, Oct. 20.—The Ethiopian government's satisfaction over the way everything in the northern sector is going according to plans is certainly justified if Ras Seyoum has managed to lure the Italians toward Makale without becoming engaged in a serious action. Makale lies 60 miles southeast of Adowa.

It would be difficult for the Italian force to extricate itself from their positions without loss of prestige, which is important to Eritrean soldiers. The transportation of supplies to Makale will be difficult unless airplanes are used. Ethiopian troops at Alaji, 35 miles south of Makale, are continually subjected to aerial bombing.

Reject Italy's Proposal.

Ethiopia's answer to the Italian suggestion that Italy will not damage the Djibouti-Addis Ababa railway if it is not used in the importation of munitions is still delayed. This proposal, originally made with French support, has been followed by even stronger suggestions from Italy that the Ethiopians should undertake not to use the railway to transport men and materials even between Addis Ababa and Diredawa in return for certain advantages guaranteed by France. That proposal was immediately rejected.

Fitorari Biru, former minister of war, who has been living in enforced retirement on his country estates, has been pardoned and will arrive in this capital with his private army in a few days. Biru, who is extremely popular with the troops, was disgraced last year on account of his debts, his independent direction of military affairs, and a scene at the palace in which he insulted Emperor Haile Selassie to his face.

One Chief Still in Chains.

The emperor has now pardoned all his old enemies except Ras Hailu, who is still imprisoned in chains. Ras Hailu's agents are now taking advantage of the intense local patriotism of his former subjects in Gojjam to make trouble for the present governor, Ras Imru.

The working of the feudal system was shown Friday when Ras Mulugeta, minister of war, ordered Dedjazmatch Abeba of Gofa to move to the front. The order met a blank refusal, as the Dedjazmatch, although admitting his inferior rank, held that as governor of the province he was responsible to the emperor if to anybody.

The emperor intervened on the side of Abeba.

$135,000 RAISED FOR BRITISH AMBULANCE SERVICE IN ETHIOPIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 20.—A gift of $10,000 was guaranteed by the duke of Westminister tonight, which brings the total contributions to the British ambulance service in Ethiopia to $135,000. This is only $40,000 short of the goal set by the archbishops of Canterbury, the marquess of Lothian, Lord Lugard, and George Lansbury of the Labor party.

The ambulance service fund's representatives in Addis Ababa and Berbera, British Somaliland, have been sending reports of great suffering on the war fronts. They report that at night hyenas and vultures attack the wounded who are unable to crawl away. Emperor Haile Selassie has appealed to the fund's headquarters to dispatch a special unit to Gallabat on the Sudan frontier. A small unit will be sent to the town.

FALL AT SANITARIUM FATAL.

BRITONS UNVEIL SYMBOL AGAINST AERIAL BOMBING

WOODFORD, England, Oct. 20.—(AP)—A monument, consisting of a stone model of an aerial torpedo mounted on a pedestal bearing the inscription "To those who in 1932 upheld the divine right to use bombing planes," was unveiled here today.

The promoters of the monument, among whom was the crusading Sylvia Pankhurst, said it was intended to commemorate the action of Lord Londonderry and other British representatives in Geneva "by whose opposition the proposal to outlaw bombing planes was defeated."

R. R. Zaphiro, secretary of the Ethiopian legation, performed the ceremony of unveiling the monument, the organizers claiming he was a representative of the first country to suffer as a result of what they alleged was the British government's support of "murder from the air."

LET ITALY KEEP LAND SHE TAKES, LAVAL PROPOSES

French Premier Pushes Plan to Satisfy Duce.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Premier Pierre Laval, usually well informed sources said tonight, is seeking a way to permit Premier Mussolini of Italy to keep the territory he has occupied in Ethiopia and to give him an economic monopoly over the rest of the country under league of nations procedure.

Laval is expected to bend his efforts toward this goal within the ten days before the date of the application of economic sanctions is voted at Geneva, these persons asserted.

Some officials, however, foresaw great difficulties in negotiating such an arrangement with both Great Britain and Emperor Haile Selassie, and there was an unconfirmed report Laval has received a letter from Mussolini saying Il Duce does not consider the time yet ripe for mediation.

Claim Laval Was Thanked.

The letter was reported to have cited present British feeling and to have thanked the French premier for his "loyalty."

A suggestion for an Italian protectorate over Tigre province, now partly occupied by Italy, and the other Ethiopian lowlands, as well as economic and administrative control over the remainder of the country was reported in some quarters to have emanated from Mussolini himself.

But other sources indicated Il Duce had refrained from making definite propositions.

At the same time some observers contradicted a "British interpretation" of Laval's note to London as meaning the British fleet in the Mediterranean would be aided by the French in case of Italian attack under present circumstances.

Serving British Interests.

These persons said British naval reinforcements now were considered to be solely serving British interests.

The Paris newspaper Oeuvre said the text of the note, now in the hands of officials at Geneva, shows France has informed Great Britain that some fifty nations of the league cannot be expected to make war if one sees fit to take protective steps which might be considered provocation by violators of the league covenant.

Anthony Eden, Britain's minister for league affairs, talked to Joseph A. C. Avenol, secretary general of the league of nations during his two hour stopover in Paris en route from Geneva to London, but the nature of the discussion was not disclosed.

It also was learned Prince Paul of Jugo-Slavia had gone from here to London with the suggestion in French circles he might urge British officials to take a cautious attitude toward Italy.

HITLER KEEPS SILENT ON COURSE TO TAKE IN BOYCOTT OF ITALY

BERLIN, Oct. 20. — (AP) — Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today kept to his neutral course with respect to the "buy-nothing" boycott against Italy voted by the league of nations. Nor does he intend to change, it was said in official quarters, until he is forced. Then, these quarters maintained, he will go whichever way seems at the moment best to serve the reich.

The opinion was expressed unofficially that Der Fuehrer would decide on a passive resistance to Italy in order to hold Britain's friendship, but other observers hold that unforeseen events may swerve him from that decision.

So far no request has come from the league, through Britain, asking Germany to join in sanctions, which, in view of Hitler's expressed desire for "neutrality," is a matter for relief at the foreign office. The Wilhelmstrasse also feels that Russia "needs to be watched."

FRENCH VOTERS BACK UP LAVAL'S POLICY ON WAR

Premier Wins 2 Seats in Senate Election.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 20. — Premier Pierre Laval won a signal triumph for his neutrality policy in the Italo-Ethiopian war today when he was reëlected to the senate not only from the Puy-de-Dome department in his native province of Auvergne but also from the Seine, the legislative district of Paris. His election in Puy-de-Dome was expected, but his election in Paris was considered extremely doubtful in view of the rapid growth of the left sentiment in industrial districts. It is estimated that more than one-fourth of Laval's vote in Paris was from the Red front.

Abandon Hope of Peace.

The main idea in Laval's peace campaign in the last few weeks, which was approved electorally, was to persuade the British to make it easy for Premier Mussolini to back down. However, it is recognized in diplomatic circles that there is little hope of a final scotching of the war.

Some diplomatic circles believe Laval's next move will be to negotiate for a Franco-German rapprochement. The cooling off of Franco-British cordiality in recent weeks was considered as paving the way for a German understanding. If Premier Laval is able to bring this about he can dispense with a great part of British support.

The results of today's election make it evident there will be no great disturbance of the political proportions in the upper house.

Radicals Win Seats.

In the Paris district Premier Laval's ticket won only one seat besides his own. The other eight went to the communist-Socialist-radical combination known as the anti-Fascist or popular front.

The communists broke into the senate for the first time in history with their leader, Marcel Cachin.

Under the election laws, which allow the same candidate to stand in two separate districts, Laval must choose the seat he wants to represent by next January.

ITALY PAYS $8.12 TO EACH NATIVE VICTIM OF '96 ADOWA DEFEAT

FIELD HEADQUARTERS, THE ITALIAN ARMIES, Northern Ethiopia, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Italy rewarded today the veteran native troopers who suffered for their loyalty to Italy after the latter's disastrous defeat at Adowa in 1896.

Gen. Emilio de Bono, leader of the Italian colonial forces, headed a group of officials who handed 100 lire [$8.12] to each trooper presenting himself with evidence of mutilation received after capture by Ethiopians. The mutilations were said to have consisted of the amputation of one hand and one foot.

In this manner the Eritrean army observed the 40th anniversary of the peace treaty between Italy and Menelik II., which was signed in Addis Ababa, whereby Italy agreed to furnish the Ethiopian ruler arms. These arms were later used to annihilate the Italian troops at Adowa.

ITALY ASKED TO PAY OWNERS FOR SLAVES SET FREE

ITALIAN ARMY FIELD HEADQUARTERS, Northern Ethiopia, Oct. 19.—(AP)—[Delayed.]—Gen. Emilio de Bono, commander in chief of Fascist forces in East Africa, who has freed the slaves of Tigre province, today was called upon to solve the problems arising from their liberation.

Chief of these is the question of compensation to their former owners. No decision has yet been reached on whether slaveholders, whose property has been alienated by the general's decree, will receive recompense. Gen. de Bono must also determine whether marriage ties between a slave and his wife shall be recognized under the Italian law.

Provision must be made for the employment of the freed men. Many of them in the territory occupied by Italian forces have been put to work building new military roads and are paid workmen's wages. In this connection military authorities recognize that careful supervision of the former slaves must be exercised.

EGYPTIAN PRINCE WILL TURN OVER MEDICAL SUPPLIES TO ETHIOPIA

DJIBOUTI, French Somaliland, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Prince Ismael Daoud, member of the Egyptian royal family, arrived here tonight and revealed that he will go to Addis Ababa to turn over important medical supplies to the Ethiopian government.

He said he would leave by special train in company with nine physicians. A shipment of 300 hospital beds and other material for use in treatment of war wounded will be on the train.

During his stay in Addis Ababa, the prince will be the special guest of Emperor Haile Selassie.

FIND ROOSEVELT FIRED LEAGUE AGAINST ITALY

Pledges to Great Britain Viewed as Whip.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—With his abrogation of the traditional American policy of freedom of the seas, President Roosevelt, it became known today, touched off the coercive measures adopted by the league of nations against Italy designed to halt the war in Africa.

The league acted only after the President had given an earnest of American coöperation to the full extent possible with the European powers in punishing Italy as an unwaranted aggressor upon Ethiopia.

This, it transpires, is the explanation of the haste with which the President proclaimed a state of war existing between Italy and Ethiopia, declared the statutory embargo upon the export of implements of war to both belligerents, and even went beyond the powers conferred by congress in withdrawing from American citizens the protection of their government in any transaction whatsoever with the belligerents.

Report Pledges to Britain.

The British government, which animated the action by the league, is understood to have obtained from the Roosevelt administration even more far reaching assurances of coöperation with the powers arrayed against Italy. The sympathetic attitude of the American government toward the undertaking to outlaw Italy has aroused high hopes abroad and among American internationalists that the United States at no distant date will join the league.

The whole question of the course adopted by the administration and the future attitude of the government will come to a head in the next session of congress when the present embargo legislation expires by limitation on March 1.

American internationalists are preparing to press for the adoption of the resolution of Senator James P. Pope [Dem., Idaho] for entrance of the United States into the league of nations.

Seen as Campaign Issue.

It also is possible that the question will become an issue in the presidential election.

The part that the Roosevelt administration played in the promulgation of the economic sanctions against Italy by the league is beginning to leak out bit by bit. For weeks the league has been considering the question of applying to Italy the sanctions laid down by the covenant which comprise embargoes of exports by all league members, and other measures which combine to effect a complete boycott of a nation declared to be an aggressor.

It eventually became evident that the action of the league hinged on the decision that would be made at 10 Downing street. If Britain declared for sanctions the league would vote sanctions. But Prime Minister Baldwin and his associates at 10 Downing street were unwilling to plump for sanctions unless assured of coöperation by the United States.

Sound Out Attitude.

There were feverish soundings of the attitude of the Roosevelt administration both through the American embassy in London and the British embassy in Washington.

Finally a procedure was hit upon which gave Great Britain every ounce of American coöperation that was possible while at the same time divesting the action of any appearance of the Roosevelt administration acting at the instance of the league.

The President gave his consent to the proclamation of the American embargo before the meeting of the league council and also to the further step abrogating the American policy of freedom of the seas.

The proclamation imposing an embargo on the export of implements of war and warning citizens against traveling on ships of the belligerents was all that Mr. Roosevelt was authorized to do under the terms of the neutrality resolution adopted at the late session of congress. But he went further than that in an accompanying statement to which he gave his approval.

In this statement he said:

"In these specific circumstances I desire it to be understood that any of our people who voluntarily engage in transactions of any character with either of the belligerents do so at their own risk."

Thus the President by authority of congress outlawed trade in implements of war and by executive fiat withdrew the protection of the flag from any trade with the belligerents, no matter how innocent. In a single sentence he abrogated American adherence to the principle of freedom of the seas to neutral trade, which was one of the causes of our war with England in 1812 and with Germany in 1917.

Arabia Resists Attempts of Italy to Gain Influence

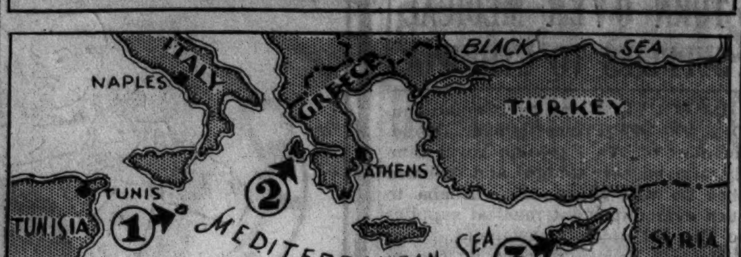
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 20.—Reports from Jedda today indicate a definite pro-Ethiopian feeling exists in Arabia. The Italian colony in Hejaz has increased and the consulate has been transformed into a legation. The Italians are trying to get a concession for road making, but are not likely to succeed. The Imam Yahya of Yemen also is distrustful of Italian intentions and is fortifying various places.

BRITAIN PLANS WAR BASE OFF GREECE



[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Oct. 20.—When ex-King George II. reascends the throne of Greece—provided the plebiscite of Nov. 3 is favorable—one of his first acts will be to cede the island of Cephalonia [(2) on map] to Great Britain for the establishment of a new big British naval base in the eastern Mediterranean, in exchange for the island of Cyprus (3). This information was given THE TRIBUNE by Greek royalist circles here.

Recent developments have convinced the British admiralty that Malta (1) with its small harbor and its proximity to Sicily is too exposed to an attack from Italy.

Argostoli, chief port of Cephalonia, offers ideal facilities for a naval base, lying on an inclosed bay seven miles deep and large enough for the entire British fleet. The bay, furthermore, is well protected by numerous outlying islets which can be fortified.

The British have been seeking since the world war to get hold of Cephalonia whence they can control the routes to Egypt and India which no longer is possible from Gibraltar.

Great Britain's insistence on obtaining French naval support was directed chiefly by the urgent necessity for obtaining a suitable harbor and shelter to refit the fleet in the event of hostilities. The Anglo-French naval accord, it is understood, opens the port of Bizerta, Tunis, to British warships.

SMITH LEAVES FOR RFC PARLEY ON COUNTY'S DEBT REFUNDING PLANS

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, and several other county officials left for Washington, D. C., yesterday to confer with officials of the Reconstruction Finance corporation on a program for refunding the county's $48,000,000 of bonded debt.

The RFC holds approximately $13,000,000 of county bonds, making it necessary for the county to get approval of the RFC to any refunding plan. The county officials will seek to learn from the RFC officials on what program the latter would coöperate with the county.

Four refunding plans now are under consideration by the county board. They propose various methods of refunding $38,000,000 of unmatured bonds in order to redistribute their maturities evenly over a period of years. The plans also contemplate the sale of $10,000,000 of new bonds to clear up outstanding principal and interest defaults, or an exchange of new 4 per cent liens for the defaulted bonds.

BAKERS OPEN U. S. CONVENTION IN CHICAGO TODAY

Bakers from all over the country were gathering yesterday in the Hotel Sherman to open today the annual convention of the American Bakers' association. Early arrivals chatted about business and looked over the exhibits that have been set up by allied industries.

In the convention the bakers will hear the findings of scientists in researches on bread and will discuss trade conditions.

On item of business will be to combat Donald E. Montgomery, consumers' counsel for the Agricultural Adjustment administration, in his efforts to place the blame for increases in bread prices on them as he did in an open letter which he wrote to Henry Stude of Chicago, president of the association. On Saturday Stude assailed the position taken by Montgomery, stating that the price boosting had not been general throughout the country, and was caused by AAA policies which raised the cost of ingredients.

LEAGUE BIDS U. S. ENTER DRIVE TO STOP MUSSOLINI

Hopes for 'Friendly Reply' to Invitation.

GENEVA, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The league of nations, hoping for a "friendly answer," tomorrow will inform the United States it would welcome any communication it may make concerning the drastic system of sanctions it has prepared against Italy.

The United States also will be invited, league officials said, to notify Geneva of any action it may be taking.

A complete documentation of the league's action on the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, capped last night by the adoption of a boycott on all of Italy's goods by the general committee of fifty-two nations, will be handed to Hugh R. Wilson, the American envoy here.

Three Classes of Sanctions.

Last night's general committee actions completed the first major phase of the league's drive to stop the Italo-Ethiopian war.

Three classes of sanctions measures pushed through following upon the league's indictment of Italy as an aggressor include:

1. An arms embargo upon Italy and the lifting of one against Ethiopia.
2. Financial sanctions, designed to cut off Italian cash and credits abroad.
3. Economic sanctions, embracing the "buy nothing" boycott and an embargo upon exports of "key products" to the Fascist state.

The committee of fifty-two, which fixed Oct. 31 as the time to decide when the far reaching boycott will become effective, is to meet again on that date. The coördinating committee of eighteen will continue permanently in session to watch over the execution of this and other sanctions.

Hope for Friendly Reply.

A league spokesman, commenting on the invitation to America, said the league hoped for a "friendly answer" from Washington.

Complete records of the league's case against Italy will be sent also to the other nonmember states, including Japan, Brazil, Egypt, Costa Rica, Iceland, and probably the Free City of Danzig.

Since Germany will be a member until noon tomorrow, she has received the sanctions documents regularly.

Hope that Japan will apply an arms embargo on Italy was expressed by the spokesman, who conceded, however, that nation may also apply such action to Ethiopia, following the example of the United States.

As for existing commercial treaties between Italy and states which participate in sanctions against her, league jurists have decided Italy will have no legal right to complain if the treaties are not executed.

The league covenant, they said, binds both Italy and the sanctions states and "prevails over the treaties in question."

At the same time the jurists held Italy cannot refuse to carry out any commercial treaty by suspending contracts in process of execution.

They ruled further that when there are treaties of friendship and nonaggression which prevent signatories from participating in the agreement to prevent purchase or sale of goods or extension of credit, the application of sanctions is legitimate.

In short, the jurists held the covenant is the supreme law.

Lloyd George Aims Blow at Mussolini; Calls Him War God

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 20.—"The god of war in the world is breathing fire, slaughter, and defiance."

This description was applied to Premier Mussolini of Italy today by David Lloyd George, Great Britain's wartime prime minister, in a speech at Whitefield's tabernacle in London. In his address, the former Liberal leader roundly criticized the British and French governments for indecision and timidity before the league of nations, which, he said, "brought all the machinery of peace into contempt."

Recalls Plea to Disarm.

Only a few years ago, Lloyd George recalled, Mussolini issued a state paper urging disarmament.

"Now, however, he is boasting that he has ten million men ready to be placed under arms," the former prime minister cried.

Europe, Lloyd George warned, is engaged in a furious armaments race. He declared that the British government, which refused to find more than $10,000,000 for distressed areas, is on the eve of an election where 30,000,000 men and women would be asked to sanction the expenditure of a billion dollars on arms "to join in the mad rivalry which will end in a world war and another shattering catastrophe."

In view of this, he said, it was clear that all attempts at disarmament have been abandoned.

The present situation, the veteran statesman maintained, is due to weak handling by the league of the Japanese invasion of Manchuria. The Italo-Ethiopian dispute, he asserted, began more than a year ago. He maintained that if the league had decided to take action then, war would not have taken place.

Takes Slap at League.

"The tale of the league in this dispute is a sorry one—a miserable tale of weakness, hesitation, indecision, and procrastination," Lloyd George exclaimed. "If France and Britain, the two nations which control the league, had had a clear purpose of firmness and vision and were prepared to take the risks for peace, the league would have been established on a firm foundation today."

Nevertheless, he said he saw a faint ray of hope. He told the electors of the country that they had the destiny of mankind in their hands.

"All the world is looking for a lead and looking to one country—Britain. If that lead is given, the whole world will follow it."

Hoare Studies French Note.

Foreign Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare today studied the terms of the reply of Premier Laval of France to the British query concerning French coöperation with Britain in the Mediterranean.

Although British jurists are satisfied the reply gives complete legal assurance of French support for Britain, some perplexity exists because Laval employed 2,000 words to deal in a question which the British desired to be answered by a "yes" or "no."

The foreign office merely announced the note had been received "with satisfaction." Further details are expected to be disclosed by Hoare when he opens the foreign affairs debate at the reassembly of parliament on Tuesday.

Politicians ignore it—
Brain trusters scorn it—
Business men take it for granted!

FOR the last five years, Federal and State agencies have tried to relieve unemployment by "made-work". Ways and means of creating jobs have challenged the ingenuity of those in government who believe that a job is better than a dole. But how were jobs created before the depression came?

The ABC of Economics

As an advertising agency, it has been our privilege to see the inside of the American economic system during the past 60 years and more. We have sat in the councils of management. We have studied the problems of sales and have translated the virtues of a product into the most compelling appeal we could command in order to sell the goods of our customers. And then what happened?

As sales increased, jobs were created. As volume grew, there were more jobs inside the plants whose products we helped to sell. More jobs, too, in the plants where raw materials were used. When the railroads shipped more goods, more freight cars were needed, more handlers employed. In distribution, jobbers and retailers in turn employed more sales people. All this has been an every day routine in the operation of the American economic system. Business Men take it for granted. Politicians ignore it. Brain Trusters scorn it.

America Builds from Within

But the American economic system has been built by jobs made from within and not from without. By jobs that resulted from ever greater sales ability and sales strength as spread throughout the nation by advertising — salesmanship-in-print.

In the past 63 years we have invested for clients upwards of $500,000,000 in advertising — $180,000,000 of that amount in the last five years of depression. Billions in sales accrued to our clients as a result of investing this money. Employment for hundreds of thousands of men was thus created. A million retailers made their mark-up on millions of sales. Freight loadings swelled. Banks turned their money. Ships loaded their cargoes. And dividend checks got into the mail.

Salesmanship-in-Print Turns Dollars into Jobs

All these things happened because someone appealed successfully to the millions to buy. Because someone accelerated the quick exchange of goods with advertising, which Lord & Thomas defined 30 years ago as Salesmanship-in-Print.

True salesmanship-in-print is a great deal more than the mere writing of copy. It is a commercial concept as wide as the field of human imagination and emotion. It is the vital stuff of which commerce is made. And the men who can apply its principles with mastery and creative fire are few indeed. Yet they are here at Lord & Thomas—they have always been here. Men with the feel for ideas that sell. Men who know that advertising success, like all commercial success, depends on getting big men behind you: men who can sell the most for the money.

Jobs Made from Within

If America's recovery is to be real, it must, as always before, rest securely on jobs made from within American business. Politicians ignore this. Brain Trusters scorn it. But Business Men who win, take it for granted. And in giving irresistible buying Reasons-Why to the millions with money, salesmanship-in-print creates jobs for the other millions, which means a Real Recovery.

PRINTER KILLED AND 5 INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Woman Near Death After Brookfield Crash.

John Sinkau, 48 years old, 4608 South Spaulding avenue, a printer, was killed, and a passenger, Mrs. Marcelle Yakus, 44 years old, 4024 South Maplewood avenue, was seriously injured in an automobile collision yesterday at Ogden and Maple avenues in Brookfield.

The car driven by Sinkau collided with one driven by Norman Gran, 28 years old, 4914 Iowa street, a draftsman, who was slightly hurt. Three other passengers in Sinkau's machine incurred minor injuries. At the Berwyn hospital it was said Mrs. Yakus' skull probably was fractured.

Fatalities in County.

At 4 p. m. yesterday 758 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1, according to the coroner's office. In that period 591 were killed in trafic accidents within the Chicago city limits and 13,792 were injured. Another Cook county death yesterday:

Rex Roach, 39 years old, 15840 Marshfield avenue, Harvey, was fatally injured yesterday when his automobile turned over after striking the curb at 127th and Halsted streets. Richard Boren, 25 years old, 15115 Turlington avenue, Harvey, who was riding with him, incurred scalp injuries.

Mrs. Lena Consago, 36 years old, and her son Ralph, 21 months old, 1327 North Austin avenue, Oak Park, were severly cut by glass last night when the automobile in which they were severely cut by glass last night another car at Madison street and Euclid avenue, Oak Park. Mother and child were tossed against the windshield, which was shattered. Mrs. Consago's husband, Frank, was driving the car. The other automobile was driven by Frederick Mellen, 801 Washington boulevard.

Woman's Car Turns Over.

Mrs. Ann Smith, 21 years old, 7515 Cornell avenue, incurred a possible skull fracture yesterday when her automobile turned over at 150th street and Crawford avenue, in Midlothian. Five passengers in her car, who were not seriously hurt, said the accident was caused by a blowout.

Hugo Keller, 30 years old, 1901 Howe street, was seriously injured when the automobile in which he was riding caromed off a stop light and into a street car which had stopped at Clark and Addison streets near the Cubs' ball park.

The third annual session of the Northwestern university trafic officers' training school will open on the Evanston campus today.

FORTY SHAKEN UP AS BUS AND AUTO LOCK AND CRASH

Forty passengers in an east bound bus of the Chicago Motor Coach company were shaken up yesterday afternoon when the conveyance locked wheels with a passing automobile and crashed into a two story frame building at 2649 Warren avenue.

The front porch of the building, owned by John Henderson, colored, was torn away as was the porch of an adjoining building at 2653 Warren avenue, owned by Henry Bedford, also colored.

The bus and the automobile were both wrecked. The latter was driven by Policeman George Berg, 844 North Laramie avenue, who was on his way to work at the Warren avenue station. He reported that the driver of the bus, Sam Haas, 4503 Washington boulevard, cut in front of him as the bus was passing his car. Haas was taken to the station for a statement.

Ridgeland avenue at Madison street in Oak Park was bathed with 1,837 gallons of milk yesterday when a truck owned by the Interstate Milk Transportation company overturned after colliding with a passenger automobile.

The smaller vehicle, driven by Thomas Ryan, 28 years old, 4045 Lake street, a member of the drill school for rookie firemen, was pushed against a light standard and a trafic signal with considerable force, but Ryan, his wife and their two guests escaped with minor cuts and bruises.

FIND BODY IN CANAL.

The body of a man, 40 years old, was taken yesterday from the drainage canal near Harlem avenue in Stickney. The body had been in the canal for several weeks. There were no identifying marks.

FLOOD OF PUBLIC OPINION BACKS DAYLIGHT SAVING

3 Representative Groups and Suburb Approve.

Three representative organizations and one suburb have indorsed eastern standard time for Chicagoland in the first voting on the proposal for permanent daylight saving time.

The board of education already has approved the plan as a needed health measure for children. Parent-Teacher organizations and other groups are expected to add their approval before the second hearing on the time ordinance introduced in the city council by Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th] is opened in the city hall at 10:20 a. m. Thursday.

The Illinois Emergency Relief commission, which keeps in close touch with the welfare and interests of thousands of Chicagoland workers, has unanimously indorsed permanent daylight saving time as a health and economic measure.

Emphasizes Value of Sunlight.

"The value of sunlight is well recognized throughout the medical world as a most important factor in the prevention of disease and in the general promotion of sound health," begins the IERC's formal resolution, introduced by Commissioner William H. Sexton. "Since it is held that relief clients are more prone to illness than the general public, and since the extra hour of daylight will make a substantial reduction in the Illinois Emergency Relief commission's expenditures for relief clients' lighting, and further, since the board of education of Chicago has formally indorsed eastern time as a health measure of greatest benefit to the half million children in this great city, this commission gives its official indorsement to the plan to establish eastern standard time in Chicago."

George A. Barr, of Joliet, seconded Mr. Sexton's resolution, and Omar H. Wright, of Belvidere, spoke in its favor. "I wish the daylight plan would be adopted downstate as well," he said.

Indorsed by Realty Board.

The board of directors of the Chicago Real Estate board has also unanimously indorsed the time measure. A resolution, introduced by Percy Wilson, a director of the board and former head of the Federal Housing administration in Chicago, said, in part:

"Eastern standard time for Chicago is part and parcel of the theory of home ownership because it makes home life pleasanter by enabling the home owner to enjoy his surroundings in daylight. From a business point of view, the time change will give the real estate broker, the subdivider, and the apartment agent one hour more to show property."

The Sisterhood Beth Eliezer has formally voted approval of the plan to gain more daylight for Chicago, Mrs. Lillian Mortimer, recording secretary reported.

"Our organization, with its large membership, heartily indorses the eastern time plan," Mrs. Mortimer said. "We believe it has advantages for every citizen, but especially provides health benefits for the children."

Suburb Votes Official Approval.

Mayor J. W. Mahaffay of Palos Park announced that the village council has passed a resolution indorsing eastern time as a needed benefit for the entire Chicago area. This is the first official action by a suburb, but councilmen of eleven other towns and villages have announced they favor the measure.

Ald. Cronson yesterday released additional letters from financial and business leaders supporting the plan to gain sun-hours by making daylight saving time permanent. Among these were:

HOWARD M. SIMS, manager of the Chicago Clearing House association: "I believe that the adoption of eastern time would be a definite advantage to the banks and financial agencies of Chicago in that it would tend to equalize the time here with that of important eastern centers. In addition to this advantage, it would be highly desirable to gain more daylight for the thousands of office workers who now do not leave their places of employment until after dark during the winter months. Personally, I have heard no objections to the plan, but many expressions favorable to it."

Boon to Citizen and Business.

IGNATIUS CHAP, president, the West Thirty-first State bank: "I sincerely hope that the city council will support your eastern standard time plan, as it will provide many benefits both for the individual citizen and for business."

T. R. BENSON, of F. M. Zeiler & Co., brokers: "I personally favor the eastern time proposal because it will given additional daylight hours to employés generally and it will benefit the health of the community. The hours in our business must correspond, in any event, with the hours of eastern markets."

GEORGE P. MAGILL, treasurer, the National Mutual Church Insurance company: "Eastern time for Chicago is not only logical for business, but a distinct advantage for the thousands of loop employés. I feel very sure that the forty persons in our office would approve this permanent change."

Why Set the Clocks Back?

FRANKLIN BUTLER, publisher, House Furnishing Dealer: "Certainly there is no reason for setting our clocks back just as the days are becoming shorter, forcing the majority of people to travel home in the dark. The reason most people look without pleasure upon the advent of winter, in my opinion, is that they dislike to think of these dark evenings, and this could be almost entirely obviated by passage of your ordinance."

A round robin letter signed by officials and employés of H. M. Byllesby & Co., investment securities house, strongly backed permanent daylight time. "We are all for the measure to give Chicago more daylight," it said. "We wish you success in the plan and we can get dozens more signatures for it if you're interested."

The ratio of letters received is twenty for permanent daylight saving time to one against it, Ald. Cronson said.

U. S. DRINKERS QUAFF 23 BILLION BEERS IN YEAR, FIGURES SHOW

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 20.—Twenty-three billion elbows bent and 23 billion beers went down 23 billion throats in the United States during the last year, C. D. Williams announced today.

There were, of course, plenty of duplications in order to distribute that much beer over a portion of the nation's population.

The figures by Williams, who is secretary of the United States Brewers' association, were compiled as of the 12 months ending Oct. 15, and represented 45,904,213 barrels of beer, or approximately 75 per cent of the amount of beer consumed in the United States in 1914.

SIDNEY SMITH, 'GUMPS' CREATOR, KILLED IN CRASH

Motor Collision Ends Noted Cartoonist's Career.

Planned Trip to Southwest.

Looking ahead to a trip to New Orleans from where he intended to go to Arizona, Smith told his friends he had his comic strip prepared three months in advance, but on his return to Chicago from his country place he went into final conference with his collaborator, Walliser, at his home. Walliser remained until after midnight.

Smith talked with his wife, Mrs. Kathryn Imogene Smith, for some time. Then, instead of taking one of his larger cars, he took a new light car for a fast trip to Shirland. He was a skilled driver and often preferred to do his own chauffeuring.

The artist was 58 years old. He was born in Bloomington, Ill., on Feb. 13, 1877, the son of Dr. T. H. and Mrs. Frances A. Shafer Smith. His father practiced dentistry and wanted the boy to follow in his footsteps. But "Bob," as he was called then—he was christened Robert Sidney Smith—showed a fondness for drawing even in his school days. At the age of 18 he was drawing for the Bloomington Sunday Eye.

How He Rose in His Profession.

Successively he went to the Indianapolis News, the Indianapolis Press, the Philadelphia Inquirer, the Pittsburgh Post, the Pittsburgh Press, the Indianapolis Sentinel, and the Toledo News-Bee. By this time his trademark was a drawing of a goat that eventually became known as "Old Doc Yak."

He was still drawing cartoons of goats when, soon after his arrival in Chicago, he joined the art staff of THE TRIBUNE, in 1911. Among other series, he drew "The Bunk of a Busy Brain," "Self-Made Heroes," and "Light Occupations."

About 1917, J. M. Patterson, then active in the direction of activities of THE TRIBUNE, conceived the idea of a daily strip depicting the everyday life of an American family. He christened the family "The Gumps," utilizing "gump," a word which to him inferred an odd sort of a character, as the head of a "typical" family. He outlined the beginning of the now famous series and for years exercised editorial supervision of the strip, continuing up to the present time to suggest developments in the story of "Andy," "Min," and "Bim."

Worldwide Comic Since 1917.

That strip has appeared daily since 1917 wherever newspapers are published in the English language. "The Gumps" have appeared in newspapers not only throughout the United States and Canada, but in Europe, in Hawaii and in Australia. In keeping up the "daily and Sunday" production over this period of time, Smith built up a staf of his own, artists and idea men, who aided him and now are anxious that the strip be continued even after his own advance supply of drawings is exhausted.

In addition to the widow, Cartoonist Smith is survived by two children by former marriages, Mrs. Gladys Smith Luckow of Lauderdale Lake, Wis., and Robert Sidney Smith Jr., who is now in Arizona, and for whose return to Chicago the funeral plans are being delayed. There are two brothers, Dr. Thomas H. Smith of Bloomington, Ill., and James T. Smith of Los Angeles, Cal., and three sisters, Mrs. Charlotte Heafner, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Fan Jo Coolidge, Bloomington, Ill., and Mrs. James Zorge, 5018 Sheridan road, Chicago.

The artist was a member of the Chicago Athletic association, the Bob o' Link Country club, the Forty club, the Lake Shore Athletic club, and the Tavern.

Gov. Horner Pays Tribute.

Among the great number of messages of condolence received yesterday by Mrs. Smith was one from Gov. Horner recalling the cartoonist's personal kindnesses and mourning him as a genius and a friend.

John T. McCutcheon, dean of TRIBUNE cartoonists, attributed Smith's success to his constant interest in his work. "He was always thinking about his cartoons," said McCutcheon, "and he made them seem real to followers all over the world. When Andy and Min were in difficulty their troubles excited as much interest as news stories of the day."

Sidney Smith was the fourth famous TRIBUNE personality whose death has come in recent months. Gaar Williams, another noted cartoonist, whose whimsical humor endeared him to thousands of newspaper readers throughout the nation, died last June 15. Two weeks ago Edward Moore, music critic, who was active in musical circles in Chicago for many years, and Will Barber, THE TRIBUNE's correspondent in Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital, died. Barber was the first foreign correspondent to report impending war events in Africa.

The Story of Cartoonist Sidney Smith's Career

Sidney Smith, who in recent years had been one of the highest paid of all American cartoonists, was not always so favored by fortune. He attributed much of his success to his background of "knocking around" at various occupations in his youth.

One of his own stories, possibly apocryphal, related to a school teacher who told him in 1890: "You go home, young man. You're not fit for anything but a cartoonist."

"Not knowing what a cartoonist was," he said, "I felt morally insulted. When I got the idea later that I could paint, I started work on a canvas as big as a door. I used house paint. When the picture was done I called it 'Mother and Child' and persuaded a storekeeper to put it in his window, with a sign on it: 'For Sale—$500. I would have been glad to take $10.

Evens Score with His Critics.

"The ladies of Bloomington appointed themselves critics of the work and decided it had no points of merit. To get even with them I put another sign on the picture, 'Sold.'

"I was crazy to draw pictures and see them reproduced in the newspapers. But nobody would give me a job and I went out on a lecture tour. My equipment was chalk, a blackboard, and nerve. For more than a year I traveled over the country.

"My experiences were worth a lot. I had to keep practicing something new every day; I saw life in a thousand aspects and got used to drawing under all conditions. As another cartoonist once told me, 'You don't draw cartoons—you write 'em.'"

His first regular job, in Indianapolis, was lost in a few weeks, Smith said, because of his whimsical attitude toward it.

He Finds Out Who's Boss.

"The art manager," he said, "turned me down for a job and I went over his head to the managing editor. Pretty soon the managing editor fired the old art manager and gave me the $35 a week job. The first day I made myself a paper crown and printed on it: 'Who's boss around here, anyhow?'

"My régime was too much of a reaction from the one before—the art manager that was fired had put up a big and dignified front. So I got fired, too.

"It was just by accident that I went into the office of the Pittsburgh Press a little later and asked the managing editor for a job.

"'How in thunder,' he said, 'do you know you're a cartoonist?'

"'How in thunder,' I replied, 'do I know you're a managing editor?' I got the job.

"I was glad to get that job at $25 a week and it turned out well. I began turning out stuff worth while and found my career. If I hadn't gone in and asked for that job I might have been driving a grocery wagon today instead of drawing the Gumps."

Sorry to Drop Old Doc Yak.

He was sorry, Smith said, when he had to give up drawing his earlier famous comic characters—including Old Doc Yak—to devote all his time to the Gumps.

"But the Gumps had a wider popular appeal. It was so wide that it often created uncomfortable situations. Early I discovered that a strip had to be clean. Many people resented it if I make Andy Gump do something they considered not exactly 'right.'

"Even if Andy hid a bottle in the basement during prohibition and took a few sly nips out of it, some of the readers wouldn't like it. Andy was an everyday philosopher. My idea was to make him and the other Gumps like real people—you could hold a mirror up to yourself and say: 'There's Andy Gump.' He's not always right and he gets into trouble frequently by being too cocksure. But you like a friend, don't you, if you can laugh at his faults now and then?"

RUSSIANS REJECT DIVISION OF RACES BY BRAIN FORMATION

LENINGRAD, U. S. S. R., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The "bourgeois theory" that differences in brain formation divide mankind into higher and lower races was challenged today by soviet scientists after a study of 500 human brains.

The researches showed, according to L. G. Webber, assistant director of the Bekhteroff Brain institute, that ape-like brain ridges are not peculiar to peoples of the darker races. These ridges, regarded in some quarters as the distinguishing mark in the so-called lower races, Dr. Webber said, were found in the brains of Europeans and even in those of prominent scientists.

The institute's experiments showed also, Dr. Webber said, that the heart of a person who died of poisoning resumes certain of its functions under the stimulation of a type of electric current. Respiratory centers also resume certain functions under another type of current, he reported.

Cadet Flyer Is Killed, Private Hurt in Crash

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Cadet Frank William Brendle, 22, of the Twentieth bombardment squadron, Langley field, was killed and Private Paul Hamerla of the same squadron was injured seriously when their training plane crashed today.

SENATOR LEWIS RECOVERS; GOES TO GERMAN SPA

MOSCOW, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois entrained for Berlin tonight after recovering from pneumonia which kept him here five weeks. He had intended to make only a two day visit.

He was accompanied by Mrs. Lewis and her niece, Mrs. Donald B. Jelks of Jacksonville, Fla., and Miss Betty Jelks. Dr. Adolph S. Rumreich of the American embassy and Mrs. Rumreich also left with the party.

From Berlin they plan to go to Badenweiler in the Black Forest for several weeks rest.

DIES 9 DAYS AFTER FALL.

Mount Vernon, Ill., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—John Egbert, 58, died here today as the result of a fall of 28 feet Oct. 11, when he fell from a scaffold to the bottom of a concreted well, striking his head. He never was conscious after the fall.

MAENTANIS GIVEN SPECIAL HEARING, GOVERNOR FINDS

But Horner Says Inquiry Shows No Irregularity.

Gov. Horner said last night that his investigation had disclosed no irregularity in the release of Nick Maentanis on parole last Wednesday from Joliet penitentiary. "Special consideration" was given to the Chicago prisoner's case, according to the governor, at the instance of two parole board members, Michael J. Howlett of Chicago and Delmar D. Darrah of Bloomington.

Maentanis is one of five men convicted less than four years ago of entering by force the home of William H. Mitchell in Lake Forest and robbing Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell and seven guests of jewelry worth $150,000. His parole last week, without notice to Lake county authorities, aroused a storm of protest in Lake Forest. Mrs. Mitchell and others demanded an inquiry, pointing out that the convict served only three years and eight months of a sentence of one year to life.

Factors Governing Decision.

Among the factors which Gov. Horner said influenced the parole board to release Maentanis were the circumstances that he had a good previous record of home life and industry, without criminal involvement; his reputation and character were vouched for by the pastor of Holy Trinity church, 1101 South Peoria street; and his behavior in prison was excellent.

Moreover, the governor asserted, there were other facts which gave possible support to Maentanis' declarations of innocence. In this connection, Gov. Horner remarked, the parole board noted that Maentanis is of Greek decent while the other four convicted in the Mitchell robbery are of Italian blood. This difference, the board felt, gave color to Maentanis' avowal that he did not know the other four, though he lived at 702 Sibley street in the same west side neighborhood as the Italians.

The five robbers who invaded the Mitchell home were forced by police pistol fire to flee on foot, abandoning the automobile in which they drove to the scene. Maentanis was arrested a short time later while waiting for a North Shore electric train to Chicago. He said his car had been stolen.

Four Victims Identify Suspect.

Nevertheless, after first deciding that Maentanis should serve eight years of his year to life sentence, with time off for good behavior, the board granted him a rehearing and cut this time in half.

Last night Mr. Darrah said he did not recall the facts on which he and Mr. Howlett based their recommendation. Mr. Howlett made the preliminary investigation which resulted in the rehearing and the abridgment of Maentanis' term, according to Mr. Darrah. Yesterday, Mr. Howlett was out of the city.

22 RESCUED AS VESSEL SINKS; 37 MORE OUT IN GALE

Take to Boats in Storm Over Atlantic.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—A rescue steamer snatched 22 seamen tonight from the fury of an ocean storm, but the Atlantic still held the fate of 37 others. The gale in the last 36 hours has claimed two British freighters and piled up dozens of small craft along the shores.

The crew of 22 of the freighter Pendennis, radio messages said, was saved by the Norwegian steamer Iris shortly before the vessel, heavily laden with coal, sank in the North sea.

But for almost 24 hours there had been no authentic news of the 5,735 ton Donaldson freighter Vardulia, reported abandoned about 700 miles northeast of Ireland by her crew of 37 yesterday. Last messages from the Vardulia said the crew had taken to the boats in mountainous seas.

Sinks in 5 Hours.

Six steamers were in the general area of the distressed ship and at least one was expected to reach her position at any time.

Two ships, the Oregon and the Visco, which sped to the rescue of the Vardulia, wirelessed today they had searched the last given position of the vessel without finding a trace of it.

The Pendennis sank only five hours after she had sent out an appeal for assistance against what was described as the worst storm in recent years in the North sea and Baltic. All sea trafic in that region was completely stopped tonight.

The storm came out of the southwest Saturday afternoon and broke in full fury last night, bringing frequent SOS calls from the English channel, the north Atlantic, and the Scandinavian seas. Considerable property was damaged throughout Great Britain, and all smaller craft turned into port.

The 6,000 ton French steamer Adrar went aground near the island of Sylt, off Denmark.

The pocket battleship Admiral Scheer was en route to aid the Adrar, all of whose men were reported still aboard.

4 Steamers Collide.

Four steamers collided in Altona harbor, damaging all of them. Many other ships in that harbor, near Hamburg, broke loose.

SOS calls also were received from the Italian steamer Pilsa, 8,000 tons; the French Ouvertne, 2,114 tons, and the Latvian Kandava, 1,905 tons, but their positions and their condition were not given.

The British dredger Bruce capsized in Falmouth harbor after shipping much water while being towed. A lifeboat from Peterhead, Aberdeenshire, rescued the crew of four from the 50 ton sailing ketch Cantickhead, which was dragging anchor in Peterhead bay and in danger of being dashed on the rocks. The British trawler Boy Scout had a broken propeller midway to Belgium.

DOCTOR REPORTS BUSTER KEATON'S CONDITION GRAVE

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Buster Keaton, screen comedian, is critically ill in a hospital here, suffering from influenza and a nervous breakdown, his physician, Dr. John Shuman of Santa Monica, said tonight.

"Keaton is suffering from a nervous breakdown brought on by family and financial worries," Dr. Shuman said. "His condition is very grave and it was necessary to remove him from his home to a hospital for complete isolation."

The actor has been ill several days of influenza and added complications developed today.

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The engagement of Jane Wyatt, stage and film actress, to Edgar Bethune Ward will be announced tomorrow by Jane's mother, Mrs. Christopher Wyatt. Ward is the son of Mrs. Percy Edgar Ward of Florence, Italy, and a grandson of Edgar Bethune, former vice president of the Prudential Life Insurance company. After the death of Jane's father a few years ago it was discovered the Wyatt fortune had shrunk. Jane took to the stage and almost from the beginning won success. She is now in Hollywood.

SNOW AND COLD PERIL HELENA QUAKE REFUGEES

Many Sleep in Autos; 248 Shocks Felt.

Helena, Mont., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Snow and increasing cold harassed this quake-ridden city today as jarring earth tremors, which have killed two persons and injured scores, continued for the eighth successive day. The earth quivered again tonight, but the intensity did not compare with Friday night's devastating rumbler.

Concern was greatest for 400 refugees in a tent city at Camp Cooney, the National Guard reservation northeast of Helena. The tents are not equipped with stoves and there are no large quarters to which the victims might be moved.

Shocks Are Lighter.

The earth quivered intermittently today, but the shocks seemed appreciably lighter.

Heavy snowflakes that fell during the afternoon threatened discomfort to another group—those whose chimneys and heating plants were wrecked Friday night by the heaviest of the 248 earth shocks recorded since Oct. 12.

The property damage was variously estimated from $1,500,000 to $2,500,000.

Sleep in Autos.

Hundreds of persons passed the night in their motor cars fearing to remain in their homes.

The exodus of residents began late yesterday to ranches, resorts, and the comparative safety of valley and mountain roads.

Main street, one of Montana's brightest Saturday night spots, was dark for the first time in years.

From 9 o'clock to 11 o'clock last night the earth was fairly quiet. At the latter hour, however, a heavy quivering was recorded. Four hours of quiet ensued. Then from 2 a. m. to 4 a. m. the shocks recurred.

None of these shocks approached in destructive power the Friday night convulsions which twisted the town and harassed its populace.

Between 9:47 p. m. Friday, the time of the severest quake, and nightfall last night 156 earth tremors had been recorded. The big shock was the sixteenth of a series which had begun about a week before.

PLANS TO SPEED AERIAL TRAVELS TO WEST INDIES

Chicago to Be 24 Hours from Porto Rico.

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Juan T. Trippe, president of Pan-American Airways system, said today on Nov. 1 the system will tighten up its flying schedules to a 150-mile-an-hour average. Thus it will fight for the south and central American sky travel market against challenging foreign competitors.

Trippe said 30 new high-speed transport planes would move schedules up 20 per cent throughout that system's 32,000-mile network. New York and Chicago will be brought within 24 hours of Porto Rico, Jamaica, and Guatemala, and Rio de Janiero within five and a half days.

The new schedules wil be "the fastest international air service in the world," Trippe said, and are nearly 50 miles an hour faster than the average European mail and transport services.

Nine trans-oceanic "clipper" ships and 12 other planes for the new service are being completed in American plants.

European airlines have speeded their schedules and offer double the American service in eastern South America, Trippe said, but the accelerated American service for shipping, mail and passengers are expected partly to offset this situation.

Pan-American Airways will also construct modern "airway hotels" or arrange for annexes to existing hotels to handle the new routings, he said.

SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

Liberty League Assails Deceptive Bookkeeping.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—New Dealers must choose between national solvency by ending waste and extravagance or a breakdown of treasury credit by pursuing present policies with resulting devastating inflation and chaos, the American Liberty league declared today.

In an analysis of budget prospects, the non-partisan group, created to combat excesses in government, asserts that if President Roosevelt and the congress so choose, it is within their power to reduce the annual deficit in 1937 to an insignificant amount. Attainment of an approximate balance between receipts and expenditures is held possible.

"To accomplish this, however," the league said, "a drastic reduction in expenditures must be made and economy must be exercised by the government exactly as by a family which lives within its income."

Facing Political Ruin.

The other course before the President—continuance of costly New Deal experiments in disregard of Democratic economy pledges—will lead to financial and political ruin, the league warned.

"No administrative or legislative action can give more certain promise of rapid business recovery than the abandonment of spendthrift policies," the league said. "Waste and extravagance have characterized expenditures in the regular as well as the 'emergency' branches of the government.

"Prompt elimination of deficits, now in their sixth year, is one of the essentials for the preservation of American institutions. Indefinite continuation of an unbalanced budget will lead to a breakdown of treasury credit, devastating inflation, and chaos, from which might come dictatorship and an end of constitutional government."

Legerdemain Is Condemned.

The league condemns "slight-of-hand bookkeeping" of the New Deal through which the administration, by juggling classifications of expenditures, has sought to cover up its failure to live up to its campaign promises for reduced expenditures even in the ordinary operating costs of government. The league compares the revised budget statement with treasury statements prior to the beginning of the present fiscal year last July 1. The new classifications are extended back over the fiscal years of 1934 and 1935 in the revised budget statement.

Thus it is found that recovery and relief expenditures totaled $4,283,315,473 in the fiscal year 1934 instead of $4,004,135,500, which is the figure given for emergency expenditures in the daily treasury statement at the end of that year, the league pointed out. General expenditures in 1934 are reduced from $3,100,914,534 to $2,821,734,611.

General expenditures for 1935 were reduced from $3,721,234,634 to $3,093,577,956. Under the new classification the New Deal shifted expenditures previously classified as general to recovery and relief, according to the league.

Leaves Public Confused.

"The change in classification is an example of the juggling of figures which has taken place and tends to leave the public so hopelessly confused," the league said. "The impression given from current figures is that emergency expenditures account entirely for the big increases in government costs.

"Actually the regular activities are being conducted upon as extravagant and wasteful a basis as those of an emergency character."

By reason of a tremendous increase in the tax burdens, the New Deal has more revenue than in any period since the war, the league asserted. Despite the increased revenue, it added, the deficit will be larger in the present year than in 1932, when receipts sank to the lowest recent level.

Report 4 Slain, 5 Kidnaped by Bandit in Philippines

MANILA, Oct. 20.—(AP)—A report that four persons had been slain and five kidnaped and held for $2,500 ransom in a raid by Teodoro Asezillo, notorious bandit, was received tonight by the Bulletin from Laguna province. The message said Asezillo seized five villagers and took to the hills after an ambuscade in which the four were killed. Constabulary officers, who have been hunting Asezillo for five months, said he was protected by farmers whom he had terrorized.

Resumes Honeymoon

MRS. LOUIS KALA.

Louis Kala, 13901 South Halsted street, Riverdale, 21 years old, who became a bridegroom early Saturday evening in Crown Point, left the police lockup in Harvey at 4 p. m. yesterday and resumed the honeymoon cut short by his unexpected arrest.

Kala was arrested Saturday night on a disorderly conduct warant sworn out by the father of his bride, La Verne Eldridge, 18 years old. The father, the Rev. Elmer Eldridge, 2158 Mobile avenue, sought to prevent his daughter's marriage, and although in this he did not succeed he did manage to break up the wedding party and send his new son-in-law to jail for the night.

The trouble started when the minister asked Blue Island police to search for La Verne, charging that she had run away with Kala. The Blue Island authorities turned the matter over to the county highway police because Kala lived in Riverdale, and Lieut. Henry Andel, subsequently interrupted the wedding party at the Kala home and took the bridegroom off to the Harvey lockup.

The bride went along, and remained near his cell through the night until the groom's father appeared and posted $1,000 bond guaranteeing his son's appearance tomorrow before Police Magistrate Joseph Flaherty. Then the newlyweds went to the Kala family home.

WORKS PROGRAM TO BE ANNOUNCED IN A DAY OR TWO

Robert J. Dunham, state works progress administrator, declared yesterday that today or tomorrow the program would be announced for proceeding with 223 Illinois projects for which $21,376,716 was released on Saturday in Washington. Of the total projects twenty were allotted for Chicago at a cost of $19,152,279.

One project, which it is believed will be given priority by the local officials, is for the rehabilitation of the sewer system on the far south side, in the area extending from 87th street to the city limits and from Wentworth to Western avenues. This project will cost $11,533,000. Forty-five projects for Cook county are included in the list. Maywood was allotted $1,128,710 for new storm sewers.

Mr. Dunham conceded yesterday that it was impossible to predict when the 183,500 relief clients would be taken from the relief rolls and given employment on the public works projects. He said, however, that the transfer would be made as fast as possible.

FINISH Y. M. C. A. IMPROVEMENTS.

Central Y. M. C. A. officials announced yesterday that a $60,000 improvement program in their building at 19 South La Salle street had been completed and that the new facilities would be opened to members today.

MAGILL APPEALS TO CONGRESSMEN TO END SNOOPING

Points Out Methods Used in Lobbyist Hunt.

without question the 'must bills' handed down by the executive, which many members of congress confess they have never read, while by action of the senate citizens and groups of citizens are persecuted, threatened, and in some instances intimidated, because they dare to raise any question concerning the enactment of laws vitally affecting their interests and the interests of our country as a whole?

Committee Powers Extended.

"Senate resolution No. 184, modifying senate resolution No. 165 and extending its powers, sets forth among other things as an object of investigation 'efforts to influence, suppress, or foment public sentiment.'

"In this connection is it not pertinent to inquire whether, if all efforts to influence public sentiment are to be subject to investigation, with the inevitable tendency to intimidation, the right of free speech and free press and the right of the people peaceably to assemble in public meetings and public discussions for the purpose of influencing and crystalizing public sentiment, is not thereby seriously threatened?

Questions Congress' Power.

"What power has congress, or either house of congress, by law or by resolution, to investigate or question the sacred right of the American people guaranteed by the constitution in these words: 'Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or of the right of the people peaceably to assemble and to petition the government for a redress of grievances'?

"As the responsible executive of an organized body of American citizens who ask no special favors but who dare to insist on their constitutional rights, I call these vital questions to your attention as a member of congress. You have taken a solemn oath to uphold the constitution of the United States, and I cannot believe you would sanction trampling under foot the sacred guarantees of personal liberty contained in that immortal document. Every American citizen who hates tyranny and loves justice is vitally concerned in this matter, for his liberties and the liberties of every American citizen are at stake."

German Town Decorates 3 Old Horses: 'War Buddy'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REICHENHALL, Germany, Oct. 20.—This town today solemnly decorated three horses between 27 and 30 years old for their gallant services in the world war. Medals inscribed with the words "War Buddy" were slung around their necks. Two were used in the Austrian army but now draw beer wagons. The third was with the German army and now draws Reichenhall's only hansom cab.

INDIANIAN BELIEVED PUSHED OUT WINDOW OF DEMOCRATIC CLUB

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Whether Edward F. Gartin, Bloomington stone mill foreman, fell or was pushed to his death from a second story window of Monroe county Democratic headquarters here yesterday puzzled authorities today.

At first it was believed that he fell, but later developments indicated he might have been pushed, Coroner Ben Ross said today.

Gartin, members of the Democratic club said, had been drinking with a few other companions before one of them cried out that he had fallen to his death. The fact that his watch, glasses and money were missing caused suspicion.

Howe Gartin, stone union leader, said he is convinced his brother was slain.

WATCHMAN KILLS EX-EMPLOYE AND IS SHOT IN DUEL

Roy D. Young, 32 years old, 4615 Malden street, was killed and Daniel Bentz, 33 years old, 4641 Sheridan road, was critically wounded in a pistol battle in Sheridan road in the heart of Uptown Chicago yesterday.

Bentz, the head of the Uptown Watch service, was taken to the Lakeview hospital with a bullet wound in his abdomen. He told Town Hall police he saw Young, whom he formerly employed, throw a brick through a window of the Neumode hosiery store at 4624 Sheridan road.

Bentz said Young resisted arrest and in the scuffle pistols were drawn. Bentz asserted he fired in self-defense only after he was wounded.

INDUSTRY PLEA FOR LOW COST HOMES DENIED

Tugwell Rules Against Suburban Colonies.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The well manicured thumbs of Rexford Guy Tugwell have turned down industry's latest bid for New Deal coöperation, it was learned today. As resettlement administrator, the dapper undersecretary of agriculture and No. 1 brain truster has refused approval of a plan advanced to bring low cost housing to industrial centers.

The proposal was advanced simultaneously several weeks ago by bankers, manufacturers, and civil leaders of several large cities. They asked Tugwell to modify the plans of the low cost housing division of his administration so as to provide colonies of suburban homes for workers in their areas.

The petitioners asserted that such alteration of plans would be a distinct step toward recovery. They argued that betterment of the workers' home life would tend to discourage labor unrest and resultant stabilization of industry would bring higher wages to workers through uninterrupted flow of production.

Assail Approved Project.

The representatives were promised consideration of their proposal by Tugwell. He is reported to have promised "to let them know" his decision shortly.

The first indication of rejection of the plan came Oct. 11 when Tugwell's administration gave Tugwell's experimental farm near Beltsville, Md., the first resettlement administration housing project. The unit allocated 5½ million dollars for houses for 1,000 families. Community leaders of the area are clamoring against the project.

Together with 3½ million dollars already spent on the 5,144 acre farm by the department of agriculture, the housing project will bring the total cost of the experiment to the government to 9 million dollars, or about $1,700 an acre. At the same time the administration announced it has three other projects under consideration on which it will spend 25½ million dollars.

Declines to Name Sites.

Although the administration has refused to name the three other sites, it was learned authoritatively today that none of the projects will go to areas named by the petitioning groups. It was reported that Tugwell's adverse decision is an outgrowth of general New Deal suspicion of any proposal advanced by private enterprise.

Tugwell is said to be convinced that the petitioners advanced the plan to make his low cost housing program a subsidy to industry on the assumption that cheap housing would lessen pressure for higher wages. Tugwell also is said to fear that employers might use his program to check unionization by denying homes to union men.

A resettlement administration official who confirmed reports of Tugwell's decision, said the administration might enact regulations which would protect low cost housing from the feared abuses. However, he added, Tugwell probably prefers to work out the program in his own way.

Boy Struck by Train Still Unconscious from Injury

MRS. P. BELMONT, CENTER OF 1890'S SOCIAL FEUD, DIES

Heart Attack Is Fatal in Paris.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Perry Belmont, New York social leader, the former Jessie Robbins of Newport, R. I., died here today of a heart attack after a long illness. She and her husband had been in Paris for the last year. He was with her when she died. Mrs. Belmont had been seriously ill since a recent attack of pneumonia. Friends said a funeral service would be held in Paris before the body is taken to the United States for burial in the family vault at Newport.

Recalls 1899 Divorce.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Newport, R. I., Oct. 20.—Word received today of the death in Paris of Mrs. Perry Belmont, recalled a famous society feud of the late 1890's. She was the beautiful Mrs Jesse Robbins Sloane, daughter of the junior member of the McKesson and Robbins drug firm, when she met the Belmont, Beau Brummel of his day. A warm friendship, scandalous to Victorian society, resulted. To save his honor, the woman's husband, Henry T. Sloane, in 1899, divorced her.

The divorce decree awarded custody of their two girls, 11 and 16, to Sloane until they were 18 when they were to return to their mother.

The Belmonts were married four hours after the divorce at Greenwich, Conn., Belmont giving the Congregational minister $500. When that minister learned that the couple came to him because on Episcopal clergyman could possibly marry them, he returned the money to Belmont, and soon took sick and died.

Drew New York "75."

The marriage aroused high criticism in the Episcopal church beside splitting the social world asunder. It was Mrs. Sloane and Mrs. Ogden Mills who some time before had cut down Ward McAllister's New York "400" to "75." The Eldridge Gerrys, the Whitelaw Reeds and the William Astors sided with Belmont and his bride; the Sloane clan and the Vanderbilts were drawn up opposite. If you sipped tea with one faction you couldn't quaff cocktails with the other. The blue pencils of social secretaries worked overtime deleting the enemy from invitation lists.

For many years, Belmont, who survives and is now 84, lived with his wife in Paris. A son of the original August Belmont, he served four terms in congress and was President Cleveland's minister to Spain.

POSSE SCOURS HILLS WITH BLOODHOUNDS FOR SLAYER OF TWO

Middlesboro, Ky., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Two Tennessee men were shot and killed in the residence of Mrs. Mossie Denny, ten miles east of here, late today. A posse headed by Sherif R. F. Giles of Lee county, Va., aided by bloodhounds, began a search for Rufus Howard, 30 years old, of Bell county, Ky.

The slain men were George Brittain, 55 years old, a rural mail carrier of Harrogate, Tenn., and John Edds, 65 years old, a farmer and saw mill operator.

The only eye witness, Walter Nevils, Claiborne county farmer, said he accompanied Edds and Brittain to the Denny place and that they met Howard, a stranger to them, there. All were seated in the living room, Nevils testified, talking casually, when suddenly Howard jerked out a gun and opened fire, shouting:

"Don't think there's not going to be hell here."

Bob Ellison and Laura Daniels said they were sitting on the front porch at the time and witnessed Howard's flight into the hills.

Predicts 58 Hour Flight Schedule, Frisco to Manila

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Capt. R. O. D. Sullivan, commander of the Pan-American Airways Clipper flying boat, predicted today a flying schedule of 58 hours between San Francisco and Manila for the regular passenger and mail air line soon to be established across the Pacific. He said east bound planes flying the same course would require three to four hours more than the west bound ships, due to headwinds.

MAJ. GEN. GREELY OF ARCTIC FAME DIES IN 91ST YEAR

Burial to Be in Arlington National Cemetery.

Some of His Accomplishments.

His scientific work was summed up as follows:

"It made the nearest gravity observations to the pole, ascertained the climatic conditions of Grinnell land, made glaciological studies, determined the hitherto unknown cycle of magnetic variation of that region, and through its tidal observations first disclosed the conformity of the sidereal day with the diurnal inequality of the tidal waves of the earth."

One of the party, an Eskimo, was drowned. Another was shot on Greely's orders because he had repeatedly pilfered rations when there were hardly any left. The rest were found in an almost moribund condition on Cape Sabine on June 23, 1884, by the third relief expedition under Commander, later Admiral, Winfield Scott Schley. From April 3, when the rations had dwindled to five pounds of meat, three pounds of bread, and a little stearine for each man, they were left to fight cold, starvation, and other privations until rescue came. Greely and his six remaining companions had then been without food of any kind for 42 hours.

Formed in 1880-'81.

The Greely expedition was formed after the International Geographical congress, in session at Hamburg, had recommended, in 1879, the establishment of a chain of thirteen circumpolar stations.

Under acts of congress in 1880 and 1881, Lieut. Greely was placed in command of what was known officially as the Lady Franklin Bay expedition. Greely had volunteered for the service and, after an appropriation of $25,000 had been passed, he was authorized to take two other officers and 21 soldiers from the ranks, to charter a steam vessel and to hire Eskimo hunters.

The vessel selected was the Proteus, an iron-sheathed whaler of 467 tons register. It was arranged that a relief expedition should seek them in 1882, and, if that failed, another in 1883. As it turned out, these both failed, and the third under Schley did not reach the survivors until the nick of time.

Diary Tells of Sufferings.

During the months that Greely and his companions were isolated in the far north he wrote a diary which eloquently told of the terrible sufferings they had to undergo. There was no arctic horror that passed them by. They literally ate their boots, then munched dry lichens and gnawed the remnants of their sealskin clothing. With frozen hands they struggled over the ice in vain search for animal life, sometimes killing a seal or a bear only to see its body sink between ice floes at their feet.

Gen. Greely always doubted that either Dr. Cook or Admiral Peary had discovered the North Pole. Without questioning their sincerity, he said, in 1926:

"I am not calling either Dr. Cook or Admiral Peary a liar, but I am convinced that neither actually reached the pole. Neither was able to give unquestionable proof that he had reached his goal; neither had testimony of scientific witnesses to substantiate his claims, as had Amundsen when he announced he had reached the South Pole."

Gen. Greely was in charge of all official relief operations at San Francisco after the great earthquake in 1906. He was placed on the army retired list, having reached the age limit, in 1908.

Born in March, 1844.

Adolphus Washington Greely was born at Newburyport, Mass., on March 27, 1844. He was the son of John Balch Greely and Mrs. Frances Greely, nee Cobb. After graduating from Newburyport High school in 1860, he volunteered for service when the civil war broke out. On account of his age—he was only 17—he had considerable difficulty in joining the Union forces, but he finally bluffed his way into the ranks of one of the Massachusetts infantry regiments. During the war he was wounded three times. In 1867 he was appointed second lieutenant in the Twenty-sixth United States infantry, and six years later he was a first lieutenant in the Fifth cavalry. Promotion was slow, and it was not until 1886 that he gained the two bars of a captain. But the next year he was promoted to brigadier general and chief signal officer of the United States army. On Feb. 10, 1906, he became a major general. Greely was the first volunteer private soldier to reach the grade of brigadier general in the regular army.

He was married on June 20, 1878, to Henrietta H. C. Nesmith.

FLYERS' STUNTS SCARE SUSPECT; HE CONFESSES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 20.—The mystery surrounding the holdup of the Anglo-South American bank and the assassination of two bank clerks last April in the far southern town of Santa Cruz was cleared up today. Police arrested a Santa Cruz hotelkeeper, Emilio Gustavo Lajus, and obtained a confession from him.

Detectives accompanying Lajus on an airplane trip arranged with the pilot to do some daring stunt flying which shattered Lajus' nerve until he broke down under rapid fire questioning.

Police recovered 113,000 pesos [currently $30,905] which Lajus had hidden in the house of relatives. They are investigating the statement that Lajus dug a tunnel from his hotel into the bank.

Captive Admits $12,000 Holdup of Bank in Ohio

Samuel Goldstine, 43 years old, 6220 Kenwood avenue, held at the detective bureau with three other paroled bank robbers, confessed yesterday, that he was one of the robbers in the $12,000 holdup of a Waterville, O., bank last December, according to the police, who said he named a fellow prisoner, Thomas Gathright, 46 years old, as another of the Waterville bandits. Held with the pair are Frank Pauley, 33 years old, who shared an apartment with Gathright and Goldstine, and James Radecki, 41 years old, 1500 West 17th street. Police said they would be viewed by witnesses to the raid of the University State bank here on Sept. 30 and if not identified would be turned over to either the Indiana authorities or the Ohio authorities, both of whom want them for robberies.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

Mrs. May B. Culp, 60 years old, a housekeeper at the Fort Dearborn hotel, died of a heart attack yesterday.

Inmate Who Escaped from Elgin Asylum Is Captured

Joseph Hauser, 45 years old, who escaped from the Elgin State Hospital for the Insane a week ago, was arrested last night at the home of Robert H. Smith, 1227 East Marquette road, and returned to the institution. During the evening Hauser made a telephone call to his wife, Emily, who operates a restaurant on River road, north of Franklin Park, and threatened her with harm. The county highway police at the Morton Grove staion traced the call to the home of Smith and then obtained the aid of the Chicago police in seizing the fugitive.

Leaps in Parachute to Raise Cash to Buy Artificial Leg

Patchogue, N. Y., Oct. 20.—(AP)—James Horning, 32, Medford, N. Y., parachute jumper, made a 2,000 foot chute jump into Great South bay today to raise funds with which to buy an artificial leg. His leg was amputated in August after Horning had injured it in a jump from a plane at the Norfolk, Va., city airport Jan. 5. One arm is partially paralyzed. His leap was financed by contributions of 2,000 spectators.

And when I'm tired I get a 'lift' with a Camel." Lott adds: "I understand that more expensive tobaccos are used in Camels. Naturally the cigarette that is blended from more expensive tobaccos is going to be easy and gentle on the throat. And Camels never get my wind. 'I'd walk a mile for a Camel!'" Camels are made from more expensive tobaccos than any other popular brand. Turn to Camels and enjoy to the full the pleasure that comes from costlier tobaccos.

GMAC

GENERAL MOTORS ACCEPTANCE CORPORATION

Reduces time payment costs on new cars

With a new 6% plan

GMAC announces today a new, economical way to buy any new General Motors car from General Motors dealers all over the United States.

It's the plan you've been waiting for—a plan you can understand at a glance. It is far simpler and more economical than any other automobile time payment arrangement you've ever tried.

Actually as simple as A, B, C—this new plan provides for convenient time payments of the unpaid balance on your car—including cost of insurance and a financing cost of 6%. This represents a considerable reduction in the cost of financing car purchases. It is not 6% interest, but simply a convenient multiplier anyone can use and understand.

Nothing is added in the way of so-called service or carrying charges. There are no extras. Simply a straightforward, easy-to-understand transaction.

This single step brings the world's finest cars within reach of thousands who have long needed new cars. When you buy a new Cadillac or Buick, Chevrolet or Pontiac, Oldsmobile or La Salle, on this new plan, you actually save money!

And finally—buyers under this new plan receive an insurance policy in the General Exchange Insurance Corporation which protects them against Fire, Theft and Accidental Damage to their cars.

SIMPLE AS A, B, C

A—TAKE YOUR UNPAID BALANCE

B—ADD COST OF INSURANCE

C*—MULTIPLY BY 6%—12 months' plan

[One-half of one per cent per month for periods more or less than 12 months]

That's your whole financing cost. No extras. No service fees. No other charges.

Make your own comparisons

To understand the real economy of the new GMAC plan, compare it with other finance plans on a dollars and cents basis. And be sure to include similar insurance protection. Further details are available now from dealers in General Motors Cars.

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

A CITIZEN SPEAKS.

Dr. Hugh Magill's protest to the membership of congress, published in full in today's TRIBUNE, should be read and pondered not only by every senator and representative in the national legislature but by every citizen. It is not unlikely to be an outstanding document in our political history. It is certainly one of the clearest and most forceful assertions of American civil right we have met since the New Deal began its disintegration of the American system of government and economic order.

Whatever impression Dr. Magill's appeal may make upon the conscience and intelligence of our representatives in the national law making body, intelligent citizenship throughout the country will realize that Dr. Magill stands upon ground which every American must defend if he is to preserve the essentials of his liberty.

The proceedings of the Roosevelt régime have been carried on under the pretense of warfare on the rich and powerful. To support this fiction every effort has been made to overawe and suppress dissent and the greatest propaganda in our history to justify reckless experiment and reckless expenditure has been maintained at the people's expense, from the people's money. The spirit exposed is the spirit of every dictatorial régime. As Dr. Magill shows, it has denied the right of free utterance and the right of the citizen to petition for the redress of grievances. The so-called lobbying investigation is only one manifestation of the purpose of the New Deal, although it is one of the most openly arrogant and inexcusable, to bulldoze and terrorize the victims of the administration's will to rule.

Dr. Magill's organization cannot be pictured by even the most unscrupulous propagandist of the New Deal as an agency of money power, Wall street, or any other rhetorical scapegoat. It is a body of plain citizens, most of them of small means, who have embarked their savings in lawful and publicly beneficial private enterprise. They represent the thrift, self-sacrifice, industry, and foresight essential to the nation's peace, progress, and prosperity.

No body of citizens has a clearer right to organize for the defense of their property rights against the encroachments and reckless exactions of a political régime which discloses on every hand its hostility to private enterprise and private thrift.

But it is necessary to the success of the New Deal conspiracy to subvert the American economic and political order that all formidable protest be discredited and suppressed. Its methods are that of all autocratic régimes, mitigated or restrained only by the knowledge that the American people are not yet slaves. It has proceeded a long way under the guise of planning for the public weal and under pretense of war upon the inordinate power and privilege of great wealth. But this pretense is reduced to the absurd when it seeks to cover attacks upon citizens like Dr. Magill and his associates.

The issue, in short, is being clarified. The conspiracy to subvert and eventually to destroy American free society and substitute for it an omnipotent state can no longer be hidden. The hour is approaching when the citizens of this republic must decide whether they are to rule or be ruled; whether their heritage of liberty is to be sold to politicians and burocrats and sold in their own money.

SEVERAL THINGS EXPLAINED.

One of the curiosities of life in our time and place is the flourishing condition of a number of societies devoted to the study of world politics in contrast to the almost complete absence of societies, flourishing or otherwise, devoted to the study of the political problems of the community in which we live. You can get several hundred well dressed and seemingly intelligent people to hear about the crisis in Albania and three or four times as many to a lecture on the outlook for Germany. The critical situation of the Chicago school system and the outlook for Cook county attract no parallel interest.

Audiences in this community like to be told how brutally repressive are the governments of Italy, Germany, and Russia. There is here a genuine hatred of oppression and a love of liberty which, as sentiments go, are wholly commendable. Still, one wonders from time to time whether these audiences really appreciate the uses, not to say the obligations, of the liberty they adore. We in this country are free to write, to speak, and to organize politically, but, to say the least, we have taken insufficient advantage of our opportunities.

Apparently it is more comfortable to revile Mussolini than to use our liberty of thought and discussion to keep the Chicago schools open and the teachers paid. Our so-called best people would rather hear about the Gosplan than plan a solution of their own transportation problem. If the schools run into trouble and our street cars scarcely run at all, the explanation is easily found.

TRADE IN ARMS.

One state paper in the war memoirs of Robert Lansing recalls to the reader the traditional American policy of neutrality which prevailed until the present administration threw itself into the lap of the pacifists and adopted a fraudulent system of embargoes intended to put the voodoo sign on the munition makers. The Wilson-Lansing note to Austria-Hungary on the sale of arms, ammunition, and implements of war put the American position in its classical form and gave for it the reasons which had prevailed in American international philosophy.

Both Germany and Austria-Hungary had protested against the trade but with an obvious sense of the historical fallacy of their objection and with a consciousness of their own record in doing as neutrals precisely what the American traders were doing. However, they had to be dealt with and Wilson took the traditional American ground, stating it as follows:

"Perceiving as it does that the adoption of the principle that it is the duty of a neutral to prohibit a sale of arms and ammunition to a belligerent during the process of a war would inevitably give the advantage to the belligerent which had encouraged the manufacture of munitions in times of peace and which had laid in vast stores in anticipation of war, the government of the United States is convinced that the adoption of the theory would force militarism on the world and work against that universal peace which is the desire and purpose of all nations which exalt justice and righteousness in their relations with one another."

To this was joined the statement that it had never been the policy of this country to maintain a large military establishment, and in the event of an attack on it by a foreign power it would be at the outset seriously, if not fatally, embarrassed by the lack of arms and ammunition. Therefore the United States had always depended upon the right and power to purchase arms and ammunition from neutral nations in case of foreign attack. "This right which it claims for itself it cannot deny to others."

Mr. Wilson was wise enough to uphold the old doctrin. True, it fitted what was paramount in his inner mind and it suited Lansing's pro-ally maneuvers completely. Nevertheless it was the traditional American peaceful doctrin. Mr. Roosevelt, Wilson's first Democratic successor, has abandoned it, and it will be a marvel if some day, close or remote, the new policy does not come bounding back upon the head of Uncle Sam when he would be a purchaser and desperately needed the goods he would buy.

THE IRON HORSE IN PANAMA.

President Roosevelt looked over the fleet in battle array before he went fishing off the treasure island of Cocos and then on his return stopped at Panama. The New Deal has at least a side interest in national defense, fully warranted by the boiling condition of unpredictable peoples in various parts of the world. They are boiling to the east and boiling to the west and Uncle Sam is turning his head from one side to the other wondering whether he'll have to shift his balance right or left.

Any shift of naval force takes place through the Panama canal and defense of it is supposed to be a prime consideration. Intact it means mobility. What the President must have observed is the lack of a highway across the Canal Zone. Several years ago a report on the defense maneuvers in which the canal was taken theoretically by attackers from the sea noted that the defenders needed a military road.

The stub ends of the existing highway are connected by ferry. Transit through the locks requires six or seven hours. Modern airplanes ought to cross in fifteen minutes. With a highway an automobile in half a hurry would take about an hour. Then there is the Panama railroad. In the fiscal year of '34 it carried 292,525 tons of freight. The canal carried 24,718,000 tons. In '33 the railroad had 11 road locomotives and 55 passenger cars, but it's no political midget.

Much of the railroad trafic is intercoastal domestic carriage for the towns of the Panama Republic and the Zone. The railroad is a United States government corporation, one of the oldest and a model for the New Deal. It was built by American private capital in '49, sold to the French and sold back to the United States government, which holds its stock. It owns nearly all the city of Colon. Its management has to explain every now and then that it happens not to be landlord in the red light district.

The railroad as a corporation does about as it pleases. It operates high, wide, and handsome. Railroad managements here at home must look upon it with envy, Coördinator Eastman with despair. The army cannot get a highway across the isthmus because this United States railroad corporation does not want truck and passenger automobile competition. The army is even persuaded, it would seem, that a military road would be a menace. It might enable the enemy to find the troops.

A governmental corporation has a government department by the seat of the pants and the scruff of the neck, proof of which is the stronger.

STOUT OR SLIM?

[Peoria Transcript.]

When the New York school board discharged a teacher because she was too stout it provoked a storm of protest and criticism. Citizens in all walks of life contended that a teacher's weight had nothing to do with her ability.

But the University of Michigan contradicts those who believe that weight and ability or activity are not related. The department of psychology has conducted investigations into the scarcity of fat boys in the upper reaches of scholastic life at the university.

The department reports that the average grades of stout students are uniformly lower than those of their slimmer brothers. This is not due, the university explains, to a lack of intelligence, but to a nature that is indifferent or too easy going to be stimulated by ambition.

As a result of this study it is difficult to determine whether the New York school board was right or wrong. If the board wants active and scholarly teachers it had better stick to the slims. But if it wants amiable, easy-going teachers whom pupils will like then the stouts are indicated.

Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

CRITICS of the Washington school board say if children go home "prattling the doctrines of Marx and Lenin parents may revolt." I don't know about Comrade Lenin, but I can't see how any child can prattle the doctrines of Comrade Marx. It would be much easier to prattle Sanscrit or Chaldean, or so it seems to me. I've read about three pages (and that's taken five years) of Comrade Marx and I couldn't prattle his doctrines any more than my educated Sealyham, Thomas Atkins, could prattle the Hindustani. Mr. Marx may be highly reprehensible, but he's very poor prattling. I only read him as a sleep producer. Two paragraphs of Comrade Marx put me into a sound slumber from which I don't awaken for hours and hours. One chapter of Comrade Marx would put me to sleep for a week. He's a grand soporific, but very poor prattling. I'm certain if any little Washington school child ever prattled Comrade Marx to me (admitting for the sake of argument that it could be done) I'd think he was choking to death or had the hiccups and I'd throw water in his face and rub his hands and send for the ambulance.

COMMENT SOTTO VOCE.

"Man Wants but Little Here Below,"
Was quite a nifty one day.
But now he wants a shorter week;
He wants two cars, both fast and sleek,
For weekdays and for Sunday.

Man wants but little here below?
Who says so is a mucker.
He wants a fence around the earth;
He wants the world to know his worth;
He wants to be a sucker.

Man wants but little here below?
Well, you may bet your sconce
He wants his liquor straight and hot;
He wants to win the next jack pot;
He wants, he wants, he wants.

THESE LOVELY INDIAN SUMMER DAYS with the leaves turning gold and brown and purple and floating slowly down to earth are so sweet and enchanting, but ding it all, we've got to read so many columns and columns of murder trials and all their gruesome details that we don't have a chance to enjoy nature in her loveliest mood. But why do we insist on reading columns and columns of murder trials with all their gruesome details instead of going out and watching the gold and brown and purple leaves of glorious autumn? It's hard to tell. We humans are funny that way.

MONDAY AGAIN! And we used to talk about Blue Monday. Blue Monday in the old horse and buggy days was joy personified compared to the Blue Mondays we have now when we read the week-end list of motor accidents. I know now how the folks at home during the Civil War days waited breathlessly when the first rumors came that there had been a big battle down at a place called Shiloh, in Tennessee, or one at a little village in Pennsylvania called Gettysburg, or along some faraway river called the Chickamauga, or some outlandish name like that. But, anyhow, in war battles are usually few and far between, but now every day is a battle day and every Saturday and Sunday a Shiloh, a Gettysburg, or a Chickamauga. And besides, the Civil War only lasted a little more than four years. And it finally ended. But our motor casualties keep on day after day for years and years and years. And there's no end in sight.

"SCRAP METAL BANNED for Shipment to Italy."—Headline. That's good news for the Ethiopians. Soldiers over in France didn't mind bullets and shrapnel so much, but they just simply hated to have the air around them filled with old stoves, typewriters, flat irons, old machinery, and wash boilers. And one night a nice peaceable game of poker I was enjoying up in the Argonne was absolutely ruined by the Jerries dropping a couple of worn out freight engines and six fly wheels right down close to us. Anyhow, that's what it sounded like, but nobody stayed to investigate. Anyhow, a war that hasn't got any scrap iron in it will be a great relief to the gentlemen in the front line trenches.

THE BEGGAR AT THE DOOR.

Beyond the sight of steeple,
Beyond the sound of prayers,
There dwell the silent people
With crutches by their chairs;
There dwell the numb, the broken,
With veiled ears and eyes,
Who hear, but give no token,
Who see without surprise.

O silent hearts and leaden,
Forgetting smile and sigh,
I know what Armageddon
Has maimed and laid you by;
I know what peaceful blindness
Within your house may be . . .
I pray you, of your kindness,
Lay plate and cup for me.

DOROTHY KISSLING.

IN THE PICTURES of the women who are organizers of that most commendable association, "The League of Modesty," I notice that the tendency is to have the skirts quite, or almost quite, below the ankle. This effectually conceals the legs (no, no, not legs, how terribly immodest! I meant nether limbs). In the good old days the gals used to wear long skirts cleverly concealing the nether limbs and likewise doing something else of great value: The skirts trailing along the sidewalks kept them brushed clean of cigar stubs, cigarets, paper, and leaves, thereby saving the householder or the janitor from attacking the mussy sidewalks with a broom.

GOODNESS! it's so nice and quiet now that congress is over in Asia or somewhere far, far off. Wonder if we couldn't persuade 'em to stay there. Ah, if only our dreams came true.

MYALGIA, OR MUSCLE PAIN.

MANY of us are familiar with the disabling ailment characterized by pain in the neck, with inability to turn the head from side to side. The condition may follow or accompany the common cold. Those with the affliction will often explain that it came on following "sleeping in a draft."

A recent report by Massell and Solomon describes an epidemic of sore neck or myalgia that occurred recently in Boston. These authors relate that as a result of questioning a few hundred individuals they found that more than 120 had suffered from the disease. The chief symptoms complained of were pain and stiffness in the neck.

A typical case gave the following history: A physician was awakened from a sound sleep about 5 o'clock in the morning by severe pain in the left side of the neck. It was definitly made worse by motion, especially rotating movements of the head. The patient was unable to lie comfortably in any position. By the third day the pain had disappeared, although on extreme rotatory movements of the neck it could be elicited.

Apparently the victims in the Boston epidemic were in excellent health, and pain and stiffness were the only symptoms which occurred. Forty-eight hours was the approximate duration of the disease. In some cases the pain was localized just to the left of the spinal column close to the shoulder girdle.

The appearance of so large a number of cases in a relatively short period lends color to the thought that some general infection, epidemic in character, was responsible. For years, however, sore and painful neck muscles have been recognized under the term myalgia, which means "pain in muscles."

The term fibrositis has also been used to describe a peculiar type of muscle pain commonly called muscular rheumatism, although it is usually applied to inflammation of the fibrous sheaths of nerves and muscles. It is recognized that fibrositis, myalgia, or myositis [inflammation of muscle] may result from injury or long continued strain. The condition may also arise from toxins circulating in the blood. The overuse of a particular group of muscles is probably the most frequent cause. Every one has had a mild attack of muscle soreness following indulgence in exercise to which he is not accustomed. For example, on a holiday an individual may ride horseback, play tennis for several hours, or row a boat. The following day he will complain of being "sore all over." This is not a symptom of infection. It indicates that the lymphatics and the blood vessels have been unable to carry away all the waste products of muscle activity and hence soreness and pain on movement may continue for several days.

The reason that heat usually gives relief is that circulation is stimulated and toxic waste products are thus removed more rapidly. A hot bath of thirty minutes' duration is often of value. The beneficial effects of the use of liniments such as chloroform liniment or oil of wintergreen lie largely in the massage that accompanies their use and the anesthesia produced by the drug.

There are few of us who have failed to experience, at least in some mild form, a stiff neck, a sore back, or painful leg muscles after exposure to chill. Permanent damage rarely results unless rest is neglected. Overfatigue of the entire body, as well as of a particular group of muscles, is often a factor. There is rarely fever, and the principal symptom is pain. Whenever the muscles of the chest are involved, breathing may be difficult.

Some authorities consider that lumbago is a form of myositis and that all similar types of muscle pain are due to infection that has localized in muscle bundles and fibrous sheaths surrounding them.

ASTHMA.

A. R. writes: What causes asthma? Can it be cured?

REPLY.

The word asthma means "to gasp for breath." The symptoms are quite characteristic, as the patient has difficulty in expelling air from the lungs. There are severe paroxysms of difficult breathing, usually followed by a period of complete relief. The attacks recur at more or less frequent intervals.

Many cases originate in diseases affecting the respiratory system during infancy. Others are due to foreign substances to which the individual is hypersensitive [allergy]. The victim may make contact with the offending substance through the inhaled air, food that is eaten, or direct exposure of the skin. Bacterial asthma is due to infection of the respiratory tract itself.

Successful treatment consists in the employment of remedies to allay the paroxysms. During the attack the patient should be placed in a favorable posture for breathing. Fresh air and rest are important. Treatment by vaccine therapy and by X-ray are helpful. A dry climate often relieves an asthmatic condition.

JUMPY NERVES.

C. M. C. writes: Just as I am about to fall asleep my nerves give a jump. The sensation is the same as missing a step and hitting the next one. I am very nervous.

REPLY.

The "starting" of which you write is nervous in character. There is no occasion for alarm. As a rule it is a fatigue manifestation. You jump higher and more often as the exhaustion deepens. Most persons exhibit the phenomenon while lying quietly in bed just before sleep comes.

STOMACH ULCERS.

B. L. S. writes: If a stomach ulcer breaks open is it considered malignant? If not cancerous, will a broken ulcer heal without operation?

REPLY.

Cancer or malignancy sometimes arises as a result of long-standing stomach ulcers. The fact that an ulcer in the stomach perforates does not indicate that it is malignant. This means that the stomach contents have escaped or can escape into the peritoneal cavity. In such a situation operation is necessary—the sooner the better.

FACTS NOT CLEAR.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My stepbrother died during service in the world war and my stepmother received the insurance until her recent death. She left her estate to her children, in which I did not share, being a stepsister. The balance of the insurance money then became payable to the children, who are all stepbrothers and sisters to the deceased. The younger sister was appointed administrator and there are five of us to share. After the mother's death my stepsister did not pay the undertaker and other bills and now wants us to sign to pay those bills out of our money. 1. Three of us object to this, as we feel it should come out of the estate. The lawyer whom the sister engaged has the money now, but because we won't agree to pay those bills is holding it. 2. What can we do to compel settlement? 3. Has this administrator the right to hold money inasmuch as she shares in the estate? As executor she received $50 extra for her trouble. M. C.

1. The mere fact that your mother received insurance money would not obligate her to pay the funeral expenses, if that is the basis of your question.

2. The funeral expenses are a proper charge against your brother's estate. It is not clear just what money is now being distributed.

3. If you cannot get a clearer understanding of the facts than is indicated by your letter to us we would suggest that you have a personal interview with an attorney.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DUTIES OF ADMINISTRATOR.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. What are the duties of the administrator of an estate? 2. Can he sell a piece of property for what he considers a fair price without consulting the heirs and then distribute the proceeds among the heirs? If not, will you kindly enlighten the writer as to (3) what steps to take? J. P. C.

1. Roughly, to get in the assets, inventory them, pay the debts and taxes, file a final account, and close the estate.

2. The administrator, as such, has nothing to do with the handling of real estate, if that is what you mean to ask.

3. Ordinarily an attorney should be employed for probate proceedings. If one has not been employed on your estate we advise you to go over your facts with one immediately.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LIABILITY FOR NOTE.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I borrowed $2,000 from a party in 1931, the money being secured by a promissory note. Said party died recently, leaving no will. The estate consists of only a residence building. There are nine sons and daughters surviving. One of the daughters has in her possession the note I signed. The estate has not yet been filed in probate. 1. Is this note still binding? 2. If still binding, to whom is the note payable? A. J. D.

1. Yes.

2. In order to collect by court proceedings it would be necessary to have an administrator appointed by the Probate court.

FROM ACROSS THE SEA

BY HENRY BUCKLEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID.—Seven hundred beggars have been removed from Madrid's streets and with them disappears one of the most typical cries, that of "A little alms for the love of God," accompanied by the grave and courteous reply of the person appealed to, "Forgive me, brother, God will assist you."

The beggars, with their droning cries, are as typical of Madrid as are the Viennese beggars in the city on the Danube. And Madrid's generosity is quite equal to that of the Viennese. The Madrileño likes to give a coin into the outstretched hand of the beggar and on many occasions public opinion has prevented the authorities from taking steps to check begging. But recently, due probably to extensive unemployment, Madrid has swarmed with beggars. It was difficult to walk 100 yards without being asked three or four times for alms. It was estimated that between 2,000 and 3,000 beggars haunted the streets daily.

Even the great patience of the Madrileño became exhausted. It became almost impossible to take a seat at one of the tables in the street in front of the cafés, for the stream of beggars was unceasing. If the procession of beggars slowed up for an interval it was filled by vendors of razor blades, ties, books.

The city council then acted. It announced that any one caught begging after a certain date would be arrested and detained. Conceptions of personal liberty are not exaggerated in Spain, and although there are in theory constitutional guarantees about being brought before a magistrate within 72 hours of arrest this really cuts little ice, for these guarantees have now been suspended for almost two years. Of the 700 arrested, those from outside the city are being sent to their native towns. The remainder—about 500—are placed in institutions if they are ill and if not they are sent to a concentration camp at Boabdil, near Madrid.

In a city welfare center workshops are also being installed where the younger persons arrested are to be taught trades in order to redeem them from the ranks of beggary. The difficulty exists, however, that in view of the unemployment situation there is no guarantee that they will be able to find work, even if skilled.

In theory, the situation has been solved. But the difficulty lies in the way of the funds required for dealing with this problem. Madrid, like cities the world over, is always short of money, and welfare schemes are the first to feel the ax when demands on the city purse are urgent. He would be a rash person who would assert that beggary has disappeared from Madrid definitly. Already there is a sturdy conflict going on regarding the 200 beggars who are to be sent back to the provinces. The Madrid authorities say that their respective local authorities must pay the railroad fares; these in turn throw the responsibility back on Madrid.

Many Madrid beggars are well known and several are reputed to be wealthy and to own considerable property. None, however, is quite so well known as the Toledo beggar, who has been quoted in many travel books on Spain, and whose habitual cry as he passes though the city is: "Help me with alms, brothers, for God in my early youth took away from me all desire to work." Children are difficult to resist; their poise and careful diction is remarkable as they say: "Please, young sir, give me alms, for we are all brothers before God."

"AND HOW'S YOUR BUSINESS?" "SWELL!"

BETTER MEN.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—The plank in THE TRIBUNE'S platform for America, "Elect much better men to congress," sounds like a forlorn hope rather than a promise possible of redemption. Much better men cannot be elected unless much better men are candidates. And there's the rub. Most candidates for office are men without convictions, with aims more practical than principles. Men of ability and character simply won't volunteer to enter the lists as contenders for poltical honors, so-called. They have to be dragooned into running for office.

How are candidates recruited? Farmers, workers, and employés cannot of necessity become candidates. Professional men (except low grade lawyers) and business men—most of them—cannot spare time. Merchants, manufacturers, and industrialists, while contributing to party funds, do not take an active part in politics. Wealthy men and men of means without active business ties flee from politics as if it were the plague.

All the chiselers, all the low grade lawyers, all the gamblers and racketeers, every public and private grafter, and all who hope to live by corruption or to build their fortunes on the weaknesses and miseries of their fellow men are collected into the ranks of the political group. Divided in two main factions, one organized and marshaled by officeholders now in power and the other by officeholders temporarily out of power, the political group selects the candidates usually from its ranks and with few exceptions the candidate is the lowest common denominator of all the double dealing and double crossing selfishness and low cunning in the community.

No civilized country has spawned such a shoal of political mountebanks and charlatans as has ours and, by the same token, in no civilized country have the wealthy and well to do abdicated their plain duty to their country as they have in ours. Not that this class possesses all the virtues, but they have the time and the means and it is to be hoped that they, or most of them, are above engaging in graft or otherwise impairing their independence and usefulness as public servants. One thing is certain: If a better class of citizens does not engage actively in politics the voters will still be unable to elect much better men to congress or any other political office.

JOHN LANE.

HE'S FED UP.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—I am getting fed up with the sort of nauseous twaddle that goes like this: "Dear Vox Pop: I think our President is mistaken, but I do not question his sincerity."

Well, I question it and I think it's about time we started calling a spade—or a mountebank—by the right name.

No business man would ever knowingly intrust with the investment of one dollar a banker who had notoriously failed to keep his word. We would call—and Roosevelt has called—such a banker dishonest. Yet we are considering reelecting as custodian of our billions and our welfare a Roosevelt whose worth and deeds are monuments of untruthfulness and deceit—even to the intentional and repeated violation of his oath of office.

Some day the American people will awaken to the fact that the synthetic grin is a false face and will rise to brand this slick, unscrupulous political quack for what he is.

SOME FAMOUS SAYINGS.

NORMAN BLOOD.

Dayton, O., Oct. 15.—Your editorial writers like to jab occasionally at Norman blood. Perhaps some one's mind rankles with failure to trace his ancestry beyond the lesser breeds of the British Isles. But it is unpardonable for the World's Greatest Newspaper to present to the world on its editorial page the typographical absurdity, "Kentish gravelkind."

George Washington was of Norman blood. His ancestral tree has been traced to the Norman de Hertburns of the period after the conquest. Plenty of other Americans derive from the Norman breed that laid the foundations of the British empire and made it what it is.

Your editorial says, "It is not easy to figure out how the Normans got over here." For the editor's benefit take the case of the Furlongs of Furlong, a Norman family located in Devon around 1150. John Furlong or de Furlong of this family, in 1172, saved the life of Henry II. while that king was hunting the wild boar near the town of Wexford, Ireland, and in reward received a grant of land in that vicinity. By the year 1345 ancient records refer to the "eleven knights of the Furlong family," who were his descendants. These eleven knights had numerous descendants during the six centuries since, and their progeny will be found wherever the English language is spoken. They were here in colonial days and left an honorable record in the revolution and since. A great number have not bothered about tracing back to Europe, being satisfied to be plain Americans.

There were hundreds of other Norman families in the British Isles in the middle ages whose descendants are right here in America today, and why should they not seek knowledge of their ancestors?

RICHARD FURLONG.

A FARMER DEFENDS THE AAA.

Low Point, Ill., Oct. 14.—In your CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE of Oct. 13 there is an article stating that the AAA hurts hog growers and helps cattle growers.

Now, I am a farmer in central Illinois and have been for the last thirty years, and in all those years raised from 20 to 50 hogs a year. In 1932 and 1933 my hog production averaged 40 head. Under the allotment plan in 1934 I was permitted to raise 30 hogs for market.

In 1933, when there was no AAA and I could raise all the hogs I pleased, I sent a truckload of 18 hogs to Peoria, weighing 200 pounds, for which I received $108.

In 1935, under the AAA, under a 10 per cent reduction I am allowed to send 35 hogs to market. Only three weeks ago I sent three packing sows, averaging 325 pounds, to Peoria and received $96. I expect to market these 35 pigs that I have raised this year at 250 pounds and expect to receive at least $8 a hundred for them, which would total around $700.

Now, which do you think would be the better? If I had raised 100 head of hogs in 1933, which would have consumed a much larger amount of feed and required a much greater amount of care and labor and received $600, or in 1935 raise my allotment of 35 hogs, which requires only one-third of the amount of care, labor, and feed, and received $700? I think common sense would tell you which is best.

FASCIST MOVE TO OUST JUGO-SLAV PREMIER FAILS

He Ignores Parliament's Adverse Vote.

BELGRADE, Jugo-Slavia, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Premier Milan Stoyadinovitch today defied a rebellion of the national parliament which voted against him and demanded he resign.

At the same time secret police were detailed to search out a conspiracy for the seizure of the government and the setting up of a Fascist model dictatorship.

The premier faced a sudden surge of Fascist sentiment when the lawmakers, on the first measure offered at their session, voted down his candidate for president of parliament.

Shouts of "Resign! Resign!" rang through the parliamentary building.

But the premier refused to quit and issued a statement that his cabinet was indifferent to parliament. The situation is highly uncertain, with indications that either the parliament will be dissolved or the ministry forced to resign.

Ex-Premier Is Leader.

Former Premier Bogolyub Yevtich was disclosed as one of the most influential speakers of the Fascist drive and it was revealed today that he controls parliament, which was elected while he still was premier last May.

In a tense session, which immediately became a test of strength, Steve Ceric was elected president of parliament by 171 to 138. Stoyadinovitch thereupon announced he would get along without the legislative body and Jugo-Slavia was again plunged into political wars.

Immediate indications are, however, that the premier will have to tolerate parliament for the time being. Only the regency has the power to dissolve it and Prince Paul, who controls the regency, is in Paris.

Stoyadinovitch justified his defiant attitude with the statement he and the nation want the reëstablishment of the Democratic régime to replace the shaky structure of King Alexander's old dictatorship. But parliament, the premier's friends insist, is headed for a Fascist dictatorship.

Wins Croat Friends.

The premier's stand brought him unexpected friends—Croats and leaders of Serbian Democrats. A few days ago they were chiding the premier over the slow pace with which he was restoring the Democratic régime he had promised. Now, it was indicated, he will find supporters among them.

Police said the Fascists were "planning a putsch and counted on the help of some Jugo-Slav troops."

From the new Jugo-Slav militant Fascist movement, whose followers wear blue shirts, has come a demand for abolition of "corruption" and seizure of industries controled by foreigners.

JEALOUS MATE KILLS WIFE, SELF IN 2D ATTEMPT

Kankakee, Ill., Oct. 20.—(AP)—James McGrath Jr., 27, unemployed furniture maker, shot and killed his wife, Loretta, 20, in their home today, police said, and then killed himself.

Police said McGrath had shot his wife and himself in an earlier attempt, but had inflicted only slight wounds.

While his mother, Mrs. James McGrath Sr., who had taken the gun from her son, attempted to summon police, McGrath obtained a second revolver and carried out the murder and suicide.

The motive, police said, was jealousy. The couple were the parents of one child, Thomas, 2 years old.

Citizens Volunteer in Hunt for $15 Shop Holdup Killer

Residents in the Shakespeare district volunteered yesterday to assist the police in the search for the young bareheaded bandit who shot and killed Miss Ellen Anderson, 37 years old, in her gift shop at 2125 North Rockwell street Saturday night. The slayer got only $15. Investigation yesterday revealed that the money was taken from a secret hiding place in the rear of the shop. Miss Anderson, who had operated the shop for two years, lived with her father, Nels Anderson, at 2861 Lyndale street.

MAYOR, JANITORS IN LATHER OVER SOAP AND TOWELS

Who Runs N. Y. Schools Subject to Dispute.

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The sporadic battle over whether the janitors run Manhattan schools or the schools run the janitors has broken out anew with an acrimonious exchange of remarks between Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia and Arthur J. Hillary, head of the janitors.

Mr. Hillary's organization is officially known as the custodians and engineers' association, and the school janitors have developed a marked antipathy toward being called janitors.

Under the time worn New York system, the custodians are given a lump sum every year for the maintenance of their buildings. Out of this money they are required to purchase all things necessary to the comfort and cleanliness of the pupils.

Cheap Soap, Few Towels.

Mayor La Guardia has charged that somehow there has sprung up a great rivalry among the custodians over who can buy the cheapest soap and fewest towels for his school.

"Go to any principal," said the mayor at a recent budget hearing, "and point out any uncleanliness, and the principal will say 'My God, I can't help it. I haven't any power over the janitors.' The board of education stands there afraid of the janitors.

"Do you know," he continued, "that we couldn't move a voting machine into a school building after certain hours because a janitor wouldn't let us?

May Stop Concerts.

"Do you know that we are on the verge of discontinuing symphony concerts and throwing thousands of musicians out of work because the janitors demand a fee?"

At the same session Leroy Bowman of the United Parents' association called soap and towels "the forgotten babies" of the public school system.

In almost quicker time than it takes to wash your hands, came Mr. Hillary's reply, heaping verbal coals of fire on the mayor's head.

The custodians, said he, would support the mayor and the board of education in any move to change the custodian system.

"The members of the association," he said, "have asked the board of education to change over to a civil service system, and have also presented a bill in the legislature to that effect."

And so, having worked themselves into a lather over the soap and towel business, the opposing factions called another truce.

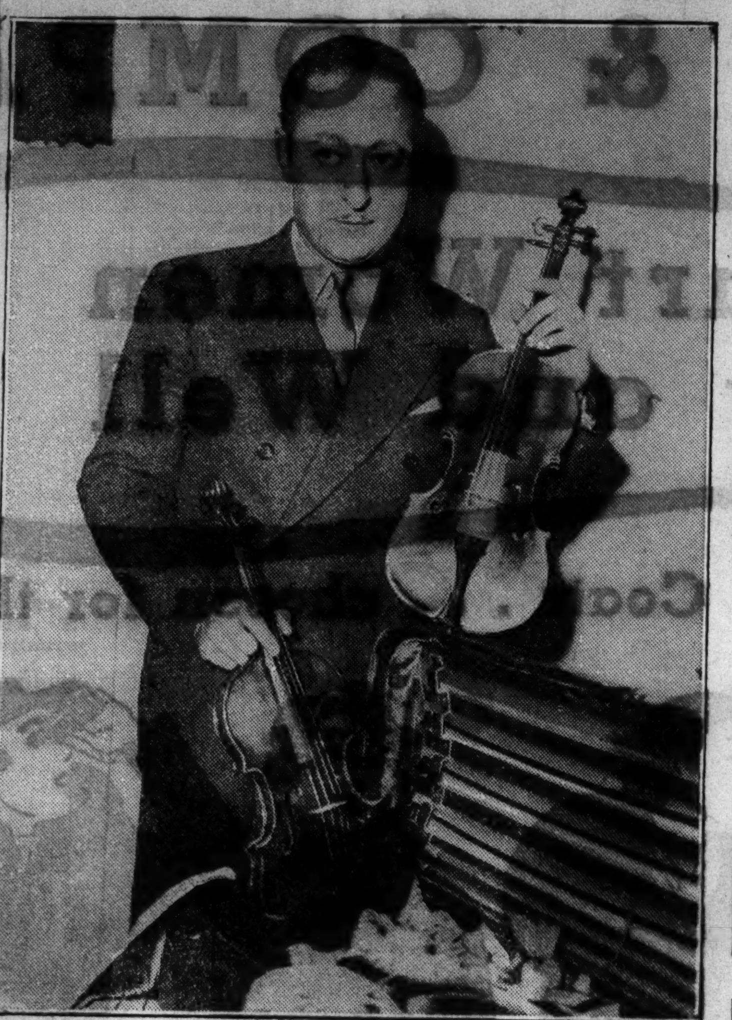
HURLING CONTROL BAD; GIRL HITS WRONG WINDOW

The large and angry young woman who tossed a brick through the window of the Schermerhorn cigar store at 41 South Dearborn street early today had a ready answer for the two policemen who seized her and demanded to know what grudge she had against the tobacco business.

"None at all, offishers," she replied. "It was just a mistake. They shoved me out of the beer tunnel next door and I was throwing the brick at the tunnel door and missed. My control ain't so good."

The amateur brick hurler, loudly proclaiming that she would never tell anybody her name, was locked up in a cell at the detective bureau.

SHOWS HIS FAVORITE VIOLINS



Jascha Heifetz will appear in concert tonight in Orchestra hall. Yesterday at the Lake Shore Drive hotel he was photographed with two of his violins, which together are insured for $95,000. In his right hand is the violinist's favorite, a David Guaranarius made in 1742. The other, a Stradivarius, is played only when the Guaranarius shows signs of being overworked.

LABOR TROUBLE CAUSES CLOSING OF COTTON MILL

Gainesville, Ga., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Chicopee Cotton mill, widely known as the "Model Mill City," has been closed and its 750 operatives and officials were discharged. Labor difficulties have beset it recently.

N. L. Smith, president of the Chicopee Manufacturing corporation, said:

Arrest Trio for Stealing 7 Brass Name Plates

Policemen of the South State street station early today halted an automobile in which two men were riding at 18th street and Indiana avenue. Searching the car they discovered seven brass name plates that had been taken from buildings south of the loop. Three of these plates came from the Buick Motor company, two from the Wheeler Publishing company, and two from the Taprell-Loomis company. The men in the car who were arrested were Henry Krefft, 31 years old, 3608 West 66th place, and Martin Rodnak, 35 years old, 1983 Canalport avenue.

CALL ON SOCIAL GROUPS TO PICK UP RELIEF LOAD

Private Charity a Duty, Leaders Point Out.

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—A call for private social agencies to "enlarge welfare frontiers" was issued today by Gerard Swope, chairman of the 1935 mobilization for human needs.

Seeking to divert public attention from the federal and state governmental relief organizations to the need for enlargement of private charities, statements were included from several leaders in the country's relief systems.

Responsibilities Are Cited.

Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, declared that "the immediate future holds tremendous responsibilities for private organizations in rehabilitating individuals and families long denied the privilege of employment and normal existence."

"I want to emphasize the fact that the security act will not relieve the state or local community of one jot of the social responsibility which it now carries," said Katherine F. Lenroot, chief of the children's bureau of the department of labor.

"Should Continue Leadership."

Declaring that private agencies "should continue to give leadership to the whole field of social work," Admiral Cary T. Grayson, chairman of the American Red Cross, said "the private agency must continue to supplement the work of the public agency in the field of relief."

HOLD UP TAVERN OWNER.

Two men robbed Michael Bernacchi of $100 as he was closing his tavern at 1862 North Wells street yesterday, he reported to police.

Will Play Tonight

Jascha Heifetz, the violinist, will appear in concert at 8:15 o'clock this evening at Orchestra hall under the auspices of the Chicago section, National Council of Jewish Women. Proceeds will go to the council's philanthropies. Mrs. Harry A. Kahn of Glencoe is general chairman of the concert.

DICTATOR QUITS NANKING BEFORE DERN STEAMS IN

Avoids Meeting United States' War Chief.

Officials Meet Boat

SHANGHAI, Oct. 21. — [Monday.] — (AP) — Secretary of War George H. Dern of the United States arrived today aboard the cruiser U. S. S. Chester. He was met by American Ambassador, Nelson T. Johnson, and a representative of the Chinese government. Today he will attend a luncheon given by the ambassador and tonight will dine as the guest of Dr. H. H. Kung, minister of finance of China and brother-in-law of Dictator Chiang.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 20.—Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, commander of the Chinese military forces, boarded a plane at Nanking today for his native village of Fenghwa, Chekiang province. Thus it appears likely there will be no meeting between the dictator and George H. Dern, United States secretary of war. Dern is scheduled to proceed to Nanking Tuesday night to call on heads of the national government. Following several days of sightseeing he will continue his journey to Manila for the inauguration of the Philippine commonwealth.

Japanese in Meeting.

Secretary Dern's arrival here coincides with the opening of the momentous Japanese military, naval, and diplomatic conferences, which are making plans for enforcement of the "new policy" the Japanese cabinet formulated a month ago.

Wang Ching-wei, president of the Nanking executive council, denied today that Japan has presented any new demands and likewise denied there have been any developments in north China indicating Japan's intention to initiate a separatist movement affecting the five northern provinces.

Wang admitted, however, that negotiations are proceeding for an "economic rapprochement" between China and Japan.

Demands Nanking Reform.

Maj. Gen. Yatsugu Okamura, chief of the second department of the imperial Japanese army general staf, who is presiding at the Japanese conference, today declared:

"So long as Nanking remains of the same attitude as at present there is no hope of betterment of Sino-Japanese relations. There must be genuine sincerity before any progress is possible. China must awaken."

Owing to the importance of the Shanghai conference there are present the largest number of high Japanese military, naval, and diplomatic officers who have been in Shanghai since early 1932, when the Japanese had nearly 100,000 troops and naval forces in the district.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

23,000 Visit Farms

October 20, 1935.

COMBINED estimates of managers show that more than 23,000 persons have visited THE TRIBUNE Experimental farms since the first of this year. Up to Oct. 15 approximately 16,000 visited the farm near Wheaton. This included 8,250 who attended THE TRIBUNE horse and mule pulling contest held at the farm on June 15. More than 7,000 visited the Yorkville farm.

Not all of the visitors registered; in fact, much less than half of them wrote their names in the farms' "guest book." Records and notations of guides kept at the farms show that at least eight foreign countries and all but seven of the forty-eight states were represented by visitors at the farms this year. There were visitors from Africa, Germany, Bulgaria, England, Scotland, Canada, Switzerland, and Lithuania.

Visitors continue to come to the farms even after the crops turned brown. During September there were 1,091 visitors' names written in the guest book at the Wheaton farm test plots. Carl Henderson, manager of the farm, says that at least this many visitors came to the farm but did not register.

Gates at the test plots where rare crops were grown this season will be closed this week. All of the crops have been harvested and there is nothing of interest in the plots for visitors. Visitors are welcome at both farms throughout the year and on any day including Sunday.

Clarence Thurow, manager of the Yorkville places, says that visitors continue to come in great numbers, although the farm soon will begin taking on its drab coat for winter. He declares that on sunny days as many as 350 farmers and city people come to the farm, especially on Sundays, when they have time to watch the live stock.

Mr. Thurow finds that the chief attraction at the Yorkville farm nowadays is the herd of more than 400 steers being fed for market. Some visitors come and spend several hours with the cattle, watching them eat at the feed bunks or troughs or nibble grass as they mosey across the pastures—pictures of contentment done in red and white on a green background.

Other visitors go into the fields and watch the tractors putter away as the dark soil is turned upside down. Still others take in the side show staged by the nine blue gray calves that bawl and buck as they scamper over the exercising yards provided for them near the cattle barns. A new calf arrived the other day, making a total of 5 bulls and 4 hefers. These calves are in the test to determine the value of blue gray beef animals produced by crossing pure bred Aberdeen Angus hefers with a pure bred shorthorn bull. Only one hefer in the herd of ten is left to calve.

Nine sows with seventy-five frisky pigs furnish still another side show for farm visitors. This troupe of "oinking" entertainers is being increased almost daily. Three more sows are to farrow soon.

At the Wheaton farm this week workers will demonstrate the old fashioned hand method of thrashing. Soybeans, safflower, flax, hemp, crotalaria, and tobacco seeds will be thrashed during the next few days. These crops were grown in the test plots this season. The seeds are being saved for experimental use.

Warmest Oct. 20 Sends N. Y. Crowds to Beaches

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Thousands thronged beaches in the metropolitan area today as New York experienced its warmest Oct. 20, when the mercury reached 75 degrees. Coney Island had a 300,000 crowd with several thousand of them bathing. Along the New Jersey and Long Island coasts other thousands dipped in the surf.

'OPEN MONGOLIA TO WORLD'; JAPAN SAYS IT'S A DUTY

Gets Consent to Station Envoy in Capital.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Oct. 21.—[Monday.]—"Just as, eighty years ago, Commodore M. C. Perry knocked at Japan's door and opened this country to the world, Manchukuo and Japan are now knocking at Outer Mongolia's door to open that mysterious country to the world."

Eiji Amau, government spokesman, made that declaration today in commenting on the first success encountered by the Japanese and Manchukuoans in this task. This was Mongolia's consent, given yesterday, to discuss Manchukuo's proposal to exchange envoys in the capitals of the respective nations, which hitherto have been steadfastly declined. Until now the best that Mongolia promised was the stationing of representatives at the border.

A Land of Mystery.

Commenting on the reports of the sovietization of Mongolia, Amau declared the country is shrouded in mystery and except for direct communication with the Russians it has no relation with the outside world. Although a part of China nominally, even the Chinese consul is obliged to obtain a soviet permit to enter Mongolia.

It was disclosed that Japan recently asked the soviet embassy in Tokio exactly what was the status of soviet relations with Outer Mongolia, but so far has failed to receive any answer. Amau declared the policy of Manchukuo is to introduce Mongolia to the rest of the world.

When asked whether, as in the case of Perry, Japan was prepared to use force to open the door, Amau said he could not say.

Alarmed by Threats.

MOSCOW, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The soviet union today betrayed symptoms of alarm at the prospect of occupation of Ulan Bator [Urga], capital of the Mongolian peoples' republic, by Japanese and Manchukuoan forces.

Dispatches from there yesterday said this was threatened. Further dispatches are awaited to clarify the situation which developed from the Japanese and Manchukuoan demand to maintain permanent observers in the republic.

Dispatches so far have not revealed the Mongolian attitude in the face of this move other than to say it has caused "indignation" in Ulan Bator. The threat of occupation, as reported in soviet advices, was made verbally to Mongolian delegates to a mixed border commission investigating border disputes.

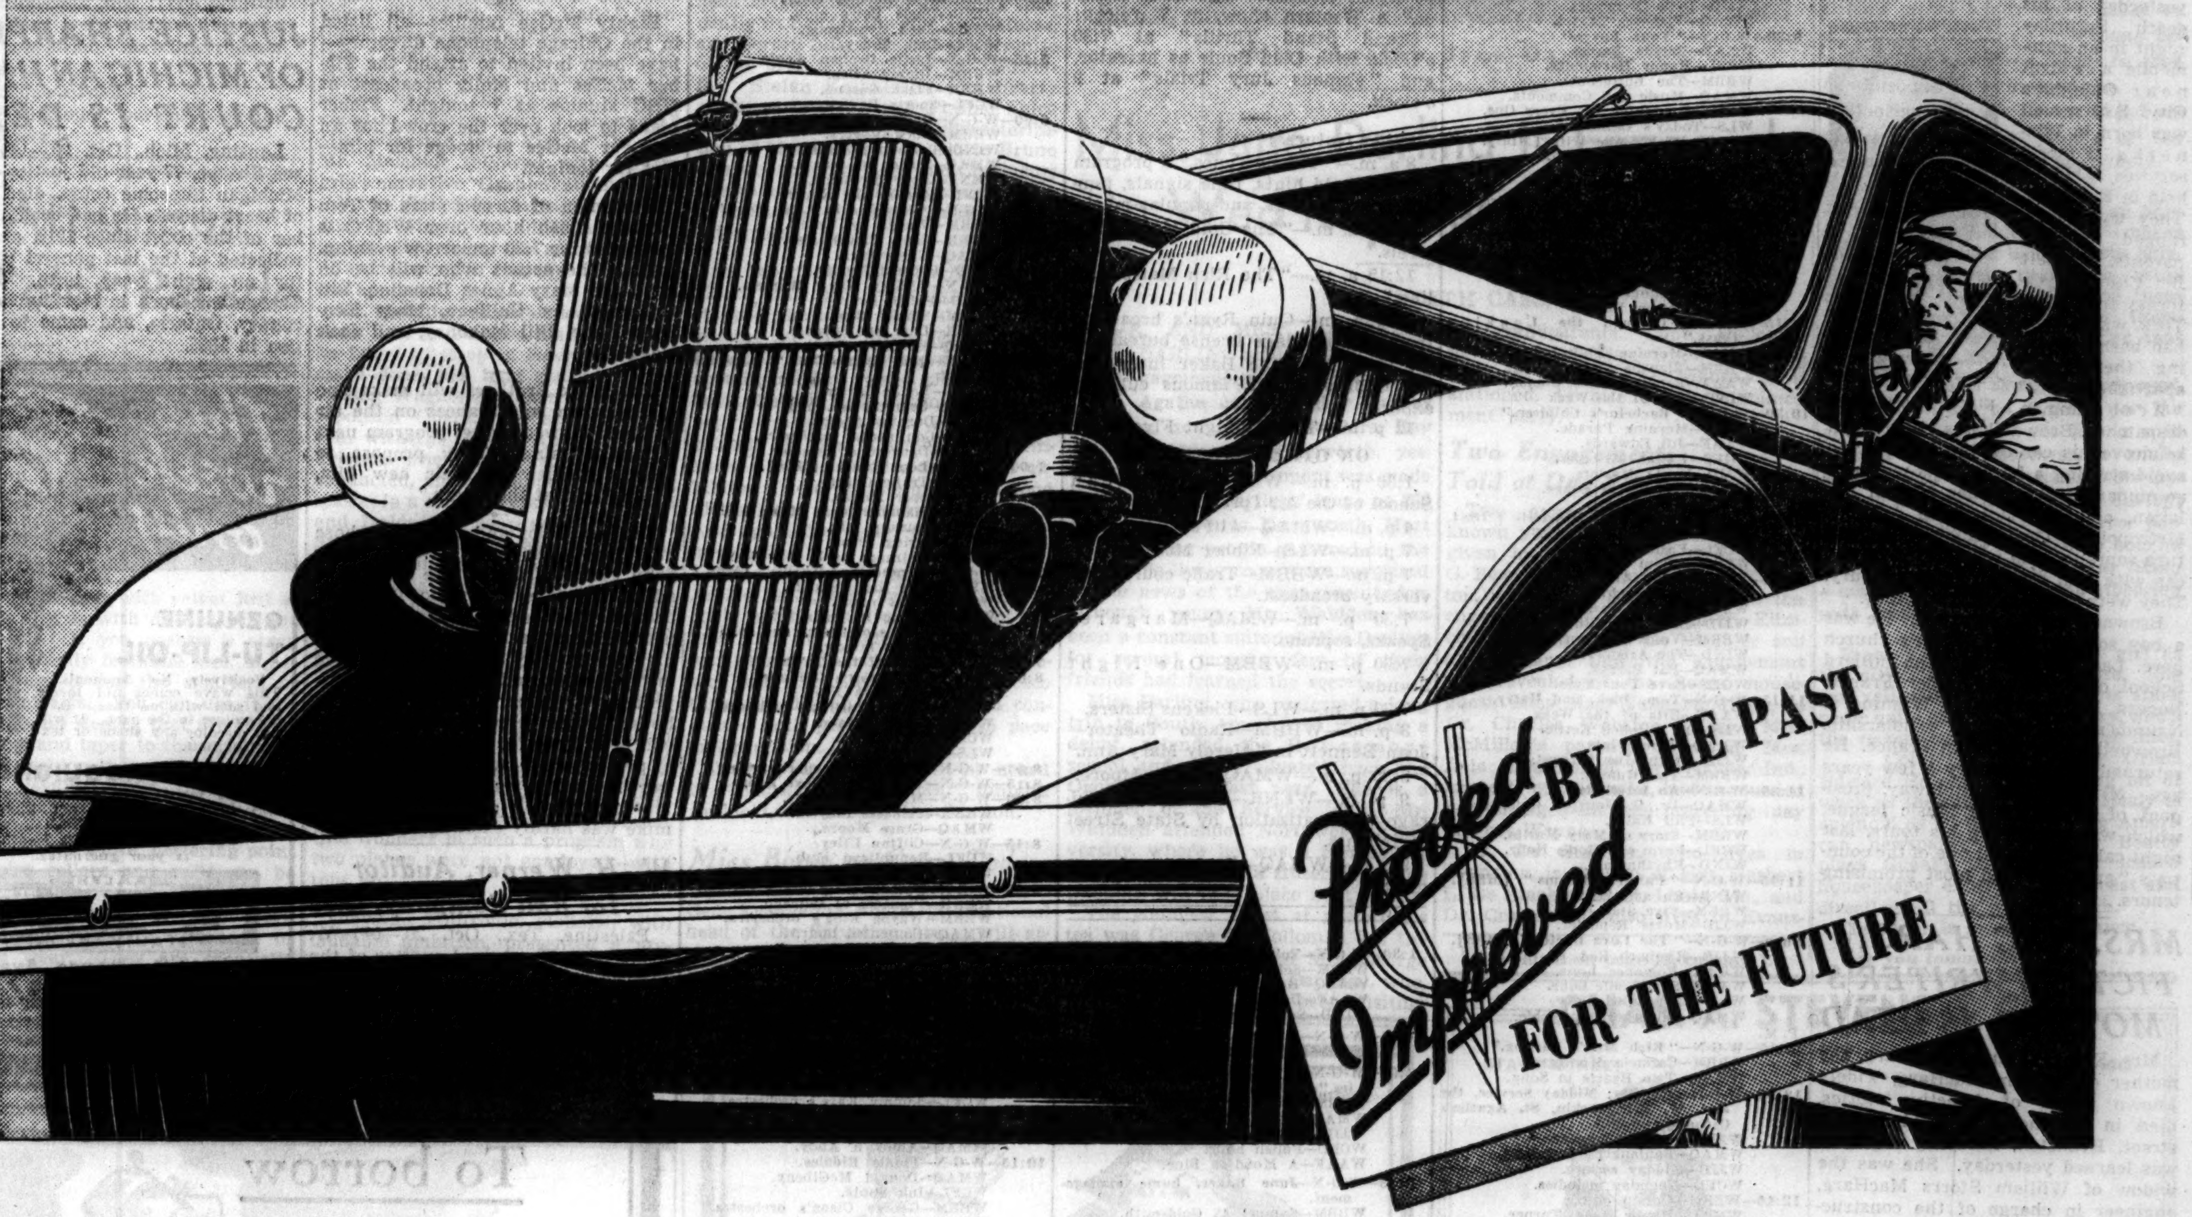
ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

Announcing the new 1936
FORD V-8
TRUCKS AND COMMERCIAL CARS



"WHAT can we do to make them better?" All during the year, Ford engineers have been seeking the answer to that question. They took nothing for granted. They went back to the basic design of each truck and commercial car part . . . and asked themselves, "Is this the best part for the purpose? Have any newer designs, newer materials or later manufacturing methods been devised that will enable us to make this part more reliable, more efficient, longer lasting?"

The Ford V-8 Truck Engine . . . the full-floating rear axle . . . torque-tube drive . . . the heavy-duty Ford transmission . . . centri-force clutch . . . Ford cab and body construction . . . all these and many more were subjects of an intensive study in an effort to "make them better." Countless experiments and investigations were conducted, including a thorough study of every type of brake. New alloys were tested. New manufacturing methods were devised. The result of these investigations proved the soundness of basic Ford design and led to improvements and refinements in tried and tested features.

Thus, Ford V-8 Trucks and Commercial Cars for 1936 have improved appearance, better brakes, new needle-bearing universal joints, easier steering, improved cooling and larger axle shafts. Ford V-8 Trucks and Commercial Cars have been PROVED BY THE PAST . . . right on the job . . . by owners all over the world . . . in billions of miles of hauling and delivery service. And now, for 1936, they have been IMPROVED FOR THE FUTURE. They are unquestionably the greatest values Ford has ever offered . . . more than ever America's Great Truck and Commercial Car Values.

Prove this statement! Try a 1936 Ford V-8 Truck or Commercial Car on your own job . . . without obligation. Call your Ford dealer today and set a date for an "on-the-job" test . . . with your own loads . . . over your own routes . . . with your own driver.

ROUT THAT COLD

Let It Not Hang on Thru the Use of Half-way Measures!

Beware of the "common cold"!

The "common cold", doctors will tell you, is the cause of more serious trouble than anything else.

Many a person who is in a pneumonia jacket today had but a "common cold" yesterday!

Neglect no cold. Take no chances with your treatment.

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine is what a cold requires. It is, first of all, a cold tablet, made expressly for colds. Secondly, it is internal medication, fourfold in effect.

Here's what it does:

First, it opens the bowels, an advisable step in treating a cold.

Second, it checks the fever in the system, a vital step.

Third, it relieves the headache and fever.

When you feel a cold coming on, trust to no makeshift methods.

Adopt the course of safety and take Bromo Quinine. Taken promptly, it will often break up a cold in 24 hours and that's the speedy action you want.

Bromo Quinine contains nothing harmful and is safe to take. It is sold by all drug stores. The few pennies' cost may save you a lot in worry and medical bills. Say "no" to a substitute.

HENDERSON, HEAD OF DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE, DIES

Rose in Britain to Lead Labor Party.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Arthur Henderson, president of the world disarmament conference, died tonight. He was 72 years old.

Henderson, who won the Nobel peace prize in 1934, died in a west end nursing home less than a month after undergoing an operation. He had been suffering from jaundice, due to a gallstone condition.

Once Foreign Secretary.

The one time iron molder rose to his nation's councils as one of the builders of the British Labor party. He moved into league of nations importance as the disappointed but unceasing advocate of world disarmament. He carried on for three years his labors with the disarmament conference.

Henderson was British foreign secretary when the council of the league of nations elected him president of the disarmament conference, but he was neither a minister nor a member of parliament by the time it met in 1932.

Resigns Labor Office.

The national government landslide in 1931 cost him his seat in the house of commons and left only the remnants of the party he had struggled to build. He regained a seat in 1933.

In September, 1934, in an attempt to relieve himself of heavy responsibilities, he resigned the secretaryship of the Labor party—a position he had held for 23 years.

In addition to the Nobel prize his efforts for promotion of peace in 1933 won him the Waterler award.

KURT BROWNELL, CONCERT TENOR, KILLED IN CRASH

Chicago friends of Kurt Brownell, noted young concert tenor, learned yesterday of his death Saturday night in an automobile accident near Oklahoma City. Brownell was born in Winnetka. Funeral services will be held in Evanston. They will be arranged by his parents, who left for Chicago yesterday from New York, where they had been occupying their son's apartment.

KURT BROWNELL.

According to despatches, Brownell was killed when he drove his car off the highway to avoid striking a horse. His wife and accompanist, the former Marian Kalaijan, and Miss Josephine Antoine, Metropolitan Opera company coloratura soprano, who were riding in the car with him escaped serious injury. They were making a concert tour.

Brownell was 27 years old. He was a boy soprano in St. Peter's church here. Later he studied at the Julliard School of Music and under Francis Rogers in New York. Winning a Naumberg Foundation scholarship, Brownell later studied in France. He returned to this country a few years ago. Mrs. Frederick Steinway, president of the National Music league, which was sponsoring his tours, last night called Brownell one of the country's "greatest" and most promising tenors.

MRS. MAC HARG, FICTION WRITER'S MOTHER, IS DEAD

Mrs. Frances Eunice MacHarg, the mother of William MacHarg, widely known writer of detective stories, died in her home at 1414 Church street, Evanston, Saturday night, it was learned yesterday. She was the widow of William Storrs MacHarg, engineer in charge of the construction of Chicago's first intercepting sewers, built to divert the flow of drainage from the lake to the sanitary canal.

Mrs. MacHarg for the last seven years made her home at the Church street address with her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Halsted. Prior to that she lived in Chicago from 1873 to the death of her husband, twenty-five years ago, when she moved to Evanston. She was active in church circles and was a member of the boards of the Episcopal Home for Aged Persons and of the Glenwood Manual Training school.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow in St. Mark's Episcopal church in Evanston, with burial in Rosehill cemetery. Surviving, in addition to William MacHarg and Mrs. Halsted, is a second son, Malcolm, of Evanston.

Wife of Weems, the Film Director, Dies in Hollywood

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The victim of a heart attack, Mrs. Eileen Weems, wife of Walter Weems, film director, actor, and author, was found dead by her husband this morning in their Hollywood home.

William Gourley, 78, Dies; Attorney in New Jersey

Clifton, N. J., Oct. 20.—(AP)—William B. Gourley, 78, one of New Jersey's most prominent lawyers, died last night. From 1900 until 1908 he was a member of the Democratic national committee.

Woman, 78, Dies at Church Service of Heart Ailment

While attending services in the Sixth United Presbyterian church at 1210 East 62d street yesterday morning, Mrs. Ida Jacks, 78 years old, 7925 Maryland avenue, died of heart disease.

TURKS FORCED TO STAY HOME ALL DAY SUNDAY TO SEE CENSUS TAKERS

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Millions of Turks and foreign residents spent a dismal Sunday cooped up in their homes, answering questions, and impatiently awaiting the sound of cannon to tell them Turkey had completed its second census since Mustapha Kemal Ataturk came into power.

In cities, villages, and the most remote hamlets no one was permitted to stir from his home or hotel until government counters had completed their task.

Every street and road in the nation was deserted from dawn, except for patrols of soldiers and police. Only doctors, midwives, and newspaper men were issued emergency permits to get about.

Louis W. Dauel Dies; Once Realty Operator

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Louis W. Dauel, 74, former president of the real estate board of Bloomington, former deputy sherif, and member of the McLean county board of review for four years, is dead of heart disease. He had lived in McLean county for 38 years and at the present home in Bloomington for 25 years.

F. A. Halsey, Originator of Labor Bonus Plan, Dies

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Frederick Arthur Halsey, 79, engineer, author and editor, died of heart disease. Originator of a bonus plan for piece work labor, his premium system developed from 1892 to 1894, was the forerunner of many later time studies on labor.

Dr. John C. Swan, 81, Ohio Inventor, Is Dead

Marietta, O., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Dr. John C. Swan, 81, inventor, died today. He was a native of Ireland and attended college in Philadelphia. He practiced medicine for a time, retiring to give all his time to inventions, most of them on oil well drilling tools.

Lord Sysonby, Ex-Keeper of King's Privy Purse, Dies

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Lord Sysonby, former keeper of the king's privy purse and for many years in the royal household, died today. He was 67 years old. Until his recent elevation to the peerage he was Sir Frederick Ponsonby.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

State street's leading merchants will turn radio actors tonight. The story of Potter Palmer's meeting with Marshall Field and Levi Z. Leiter, his associates, in 1862, when he announced his intention of leaving the firm and buying a mile of real estate along the future State street, will be dramatized on the air along with other highlights of the city's early history. Present State street executives will speak the parts of the pioneer merchants.

This historical presentation will be broadcast over WENR-NBC at 9 o'clock tonight from the Grand ballroom of the Palmer house, where the annual dinner of the Association of State Street Seniors will be held.

Founders of State street firms are to be impersonated by either their living descendants or present executives of the firms they organized.

The broadcast was written by William J. Murphy of the NBC continuity department.

Kate Smith, Walter Huston, Myrt and Marge, Henry Hull, Virginia Clark, Joan Blaine, and several other notables of the entertainment world will join with Mayor Kelly at 7 tonight in an anniversary broadcast from the Trafic court. Following a dramatic presentation, actual cases being brought to trial before Judge John Gutnecht will be put on the air.

Eighty McGee families—all listed in the Chicago telephone directory—have been invited to attend the Fibber McGee and Molly broadcast at NBC studios at 7 tonight. Fibber plans to look over the crowd for an amateur McGee to stooge for him—just for tonight.

A reunion of former stars of Tom Gibbons' Irish hour over WHFC is scheduled for 7:30 tomorrow evening. Among the artists who will be on hand are Mary Agnes Donahue, Bill O'Connor, Joe Sullivan, Mary Kennedy Kane, Bill Mahoney, and Jack Haggerty.

The Marx Brothers will make one of their rare appearances on the air in the Hollywood hotel program next Friday evening. They propose to give a preview of their new film, "One Night at the Opera."

Dancers Veloz and Yolanda, whose orchestra plays over W-G-N under Shep Fields' direction, are seeking to adapt their talents to radio. They may become the headline attraction of a new NBC program. Favorites of the night clubs, they also have been seen in the movies, and on Nov. 12 will appear in "Carmen" at the Civic Opera house. When television comes there will be a place for them in radio. But at present—well, we wonder. Fred Astaire's singing was all right on the air—but his tap dancing before the mike was hardly exciting.

SISTER OF LENIN, OFTEN JAILED AS A RED, DIES AT 71

MOSCOW, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Anna Ilyinichna Yelizarova-Ulyanova, sister and close collaborator of the late Nikolai Lenin, bolshevik leader, died yesterday at the age of 71.

Known as one of the most active propagandists and political plotters in czarist Russia, she was frequently imprisoned and exiled. In 1887 she participated in an attempt on the life of Czar Alexander III., organized by her brother Alexander Ilyich [not Lenin, whose real name was Vladimir Ilyich] for this she was exiled to Kazan province and Alexander was later hanged.

In 1896 she managed to maintain contact with Lenin who was inprison at St. Petersburg and copied the program of the communist party which Lenin drew up in code.

In 1904 she spent six months in jail for connection with the Kiev group of the communist party. She was exiled another time and thrice was imprisoned.

When the revolution of February, 1917, broke out she was in prison at St. Petersburg. She was set free and immediately joined in preparing for the October revolution.

In recent years she lived in retirement after ill health forced her to suspend work in the department of history of the communist party and as a member of the editorial board of reciew of the "Proletarian Revolution." She wrote several books.

JUSTICE SHARPE OF MICHIGAN HIGH COURT IS DEAD

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Nelson Sharpe, 77 year old justice of the Michigan Supreme court, died today of heart disease. He had been a member of the court since 1919, and was reëlected at the last general election for an eight year term. Justice Sharpe was born in Northumberland county, Ontario, and came to Michigan in 1885.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

Eleven years ago "Rose-Marie," easily remembered because of its "Indian Love Call" song and its totem pole dance, was a hit that ran through one season and well into another. Its popularity has become one of the minor traditions of the American lyric stage. Now it appears at the Grand Opera house, in its first important revival since the period of its sweeping prosperity, as the first full-bodied musical show of the new season in Chicago.

This piece, whose score was composed, for the most part, by the talented and fertile Rudolph Friml, belongs to the class called "musical romances"—a label invented in this generation to describe borderline cases that cannot be rated either as operettas or as musical comedies. The plots of such works usually smack of the magazine adventure story, with a dash of he-man melodrama in the climax.

"Rose-Marie" invades the Canadian northwest for its atmosphere, and has a French-Canadian child of nature for its heroine and a warm blooded American prospector [maybe he calls himself a mining engineer] for its intrepid tenor. Their love story is told against a background of dangerous Indians; swaggering "mounties" who always get their man, dead or alive; barons of the fur trade from Quebec, and other familiar types of the great open spaces in Saskatchewan.

Wanda, two-timing Indian wanton, kills her husband, the booze-fighting Black Eagle, and her account of that neat bit of knifing, combined with circumstantial evidence, fastens the crime upon innocent Jim Kenyon, Rose-Marie's own true tenor lad. Naturally, they are parted at the end of the first act, with much singing of the "Indian Love Call," which is the signal that Jim must hit the trail for the border before the "mounties" come. They are, of course, reunited at the second act finale, choired in Quebec, whither poor Rose-Marie has gone as the reluctant fiancée of a wealthy rascal who was a witness of Wanda's recklessness with a hunting knife.

"Rose-Marie," in revival, does not sound like a work that fully qualifies for the standard repertory of the light lyric stage. It falls far below the class of "Blossom Time" and "The Student Prince" in its musical values. The "Love Call" and the title song, which have survived lustily in the radio and restaurant orchestra catalogs, are its only claims to fame, although the overture is also a flavorsome stretch of composition.

The show, however, is a picturesque affair, and offers the eye many romantic and high-colored scenes. This revival is ambitious in scenery and costumes, and its large company gives a spirited performance. Roy Cropper and Adele Ardsley are a fine pair of singers for the central rôles; Doris Patston is decidedly attractive in her treatment of the wayward Wanda, and the other principals are experienced and able musical show folk.

A SCOUT named Dudy Campbell says that three girls went into a Lawrence avenue soda fountain to order their favorite concoction.

War Note—Author—Visitors—Test.

But instead of asking for black cows they told the soda jerk they wanted three Ethiopian hefers. The boy never batted an eye. Just went ahead and made their drinks.

THE tall, sandy haired, broad shouldered young man sat there, on a bright green davenport, monosyllabic, pleasant, laconic, unselfconscious, although the talk dwelt mostly on him. There was a southern twang to his tones when he could be induced to say anything. Occasionally, prodded by his friend with a "You tell her about that, Erskine," he entered hesitatingly into the conversation, giving a singularly undramatic and condensed account of an incident that deserved a better narration.

This, then, was Erskine Caldwell, author of "Tobacco Road" and "God's Little Acre." This was the former Georgian, now a resident of Maine, of whom Time magazine said, "Either state would gladly cede him to the other." This was the fellow who has infuriated the south by his writing of poverty and ignorance and degeneracy; who has been chased out of Alabama; and whose father, a Georgia minister and a writer of newspaper editorials, had lost his writing job for being his son's father.

CALDWELL'S "Some American People" will be off the press this week, and another play, adapted from "Journeyman," a book privately printed in a small edition, is expected to go into production soon. There are now three companies playing "Tobacco Road," and the New York company is approaching its 97th week. Caldwell did not see his play the opening night in New York. But a wire came to the theater management from Maine asking if he might have two seats in the balcony the second night. He saw it in Chicago a few evenings ago, and it is doubtful if any one in the theater knew the author was present. During his stay here he is making a few talks, but so far has not been able to talk for more than ten minutes at a time.

"Haven't got anything more to say after that," he explained laconically.

A YOUNG professor from the University of Prague was guest of honor at a party in town a few evenings ago, and it happened that some of the guests were discussing, on the way to the party, the old alleged psychological test given to children—and some adults. In case you don't remember the test, the subject of the examination is asked, "How much is two and two? Four and four? Eight and eight? Sixteen and sixteen? Name a color." The last request is asked quickly, to take the subject off guard, and the answer, in almost every instance, is said to be "red." Embryonic psychologists with a Freudian turn insist that the choice of red has some kind of a sex significance. Herbert S. Futran, who relays the tale, says that at the party the hostess whispered that the guest of honor was something of a Casanova, so it was decided to give him the addition-color test. The addition questions were put to him, and in conclusion his interrogator barked:

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Black, frosted with white, has always been dramatically successful and a best seller, but this fall, after staring for hours at bold, bright colors, it's a decided relief to find out that the clothes designers have again made some outstandingly spectacular duets of this combine.

For instance, long skirted gowns for afternoon and Sunday night affairs are made with fullness in the front [which, by the way, is being managed better and better] and then daringly frosted with deep collars and intricately shaped yokes of point de Venise lace.

This effective chalk white lace trims a lot of the newest and most exciting dull black dresses, especially if the material is crinkled crêpe or soft, thin wool that drapes easily.

One model has cuffs, collar, and an unusually cut vestee effect. Another uses white lace all the way down the front of the dress to the hemline.

White lace goes with velvet just as dramatically as with dull crêpes and thin wools. If you possess a scrap of this typically feminine lace, dig it up and use it for the smartest of white contrasts. You can use it for snug cuffs on sleeves that are full at the elbow and taper to the wrist. Or you can fashion it in wide, very decorative cavalier cuffs that almost reach the elbow and match the cuffs with either a small or large collar.

These snowy white, flattering point de Venise collars and cuffs can be bought, stunning creations that make an otherwise simple black or dark brown wool dress for afternoon or evening wear. They are especially effective on velvets, and breath takingly stunning on dull crêpes.

Miss Flagstad and Melchior Thrill Hearers

Give All-Wagner Program Before Wise Few.

BY HAZEL MOORE.

The wise few who met at Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon to greet Kirsten Flagstad on her first Chicago appearance, in an all-Wagner program shared by her co-star of the Metropolitan opera, Lauritz Melchior, were amply rewarded and made up in applause what they lacked in numbers.

Flagstad is the Norwegian soprano who, unheralded and unsung, appeared at the Metropolitan last year to become the sensation of the season. Adjectives were exhausted by press and public in the effort to describe the quiet, unassuming woman who had sung for many years in her own country before coming to America. Her first appearance in "Tristan and Isolde," with the big Wagnerian tenor of the Metropolitan, Lauritz Melchior, was the outstanding success of the season. Wagner suddenly became popular, and the public stood in line to obtain tickets for any of her performances.

Let it be said immediately that Miss Flagstad fully lived up to her ecstatic heralding yesterday. Hers is a magnificent voice, with apparently limitless power, and the bright soprano quality for which Wagner obviously wrote in the music of Isolde, Brünnhilde, Elizabeth, and Elsa. There is a radiance to Flagstad's voice, and the superbly steady tone flows out effortlessly.

Her singing of Elizabeth's glorious entrance in the second act of "Tannhäuser," "Dich, teure Halle," was radiance itself.

The all-Wagner program was made up of the first act duet of "Walküre," sung by Miss Flagstad and Mr. Melchior; the "Dich, teure Halle," mentioned above, and Tannhäuser's narrative, "Rome Erzahlung," sung by Mr. Melchior, before the intermission. The second half of the program was devoted to excerpts from "Lohengrin." Miss Flagstad sang Elsa's "Dream," Mr. Melchior followed with Lohengrin's narrative "Grahlerzählung," and the two joined in singing the bridal duet to which was added an encore in the duet from the second act of "Tannhäuser," in response to vociferous applause.

Mr. Melchior, of such heroic proportions that he bumped his head when he failed to stoop in leaving the low stage door, has long ranked as the leading Wagnerian tenor of the Metropolitan Opera. He appeared last year with the Chicago Civic opera as Tristan, when Dr. Frederick Stock conducted, and will appear later this season in a concert version of "Tristan and Isolde," to be presented by Dr. Stock and the Chicago Symphony. Being a Dane, Mr. Melchior has none of the usual German tenor's fear of anything higher than an A, and his clarion tones ring out easily. He was in fine voice yesterday and a physical and vocal match for Miss Flagstad.

The one point of difficulty yesterday lay in the puny efforts of one poor pianist attempting to support the voices that are accustomed to soar over full orchestra. Wagner's music thus naked, was like a gem unmounted, a picture without a frame. One wonders in such a program why two pianos were not employed—with tops up.

Giovanni Polifronio, violinist, with laudable ambition, presented a program entirely of the works of the master Paganini at the Studebaker theater yesterday afternoon. Unfortunately Mr. Polifronio's technical equipment is not yet fully developed enough to negotiate easily the difficulties of such a program.

Gallo Company Wins Applause in Twin Operas

Canio	Aroldo Lindi
Tonio	Mostyn Thomas
Silvio	Stefan Kozakevich
Beppo	Francesco Curci
Conductor	Carlo Peroni

BY HAZEL MOORE.

One of the great reasons for the popularity of the Gallo San Carlo Opera company is the lack of experimentation in that organization. At the dollar top price and without guarantors to defray the losses, nothing is left to chance. The double bill of the tried and true "Cavalleria" and "Pagliacci," last night at the Auditorium was a case in point. The listeners knew in advance just what to expect for their dollars, and got it in full measure.

In the Gallo company there is no attempt to get away from the traditional presentation of opera, rather to adhere to it. So last night the staging of the inevitable twins was as it always has been, stereotyped but assured, Luigi Raybaut, San Carlo stage director, first served Gallo in that capacity twenty years ago. As in all of the productions this season, the scenery was conventional but brightly refurbished.

"Cavalleria," traditional first of the twins, was given an excellent performance, with Bianca Saroya as Santuzza and the new young tenor, Rolf Gerard, as Turiddu. Miss Saroya's keen stage sense and fine voice eminently fit her for the rôle of Santuzza, and Gerard fully bore out the promise of his first performance of "Butterfly." Stefan Kozakevich won hearty applause as Alfio, and Philine Falco added her usually good characterization of Mama Lucia. Charlotte Bruno was an attractive Lola, and Conductor Peroni and his orchestra were roundly applauded for their playing of the Intermezzo.

In the following "Pagliacci" applause ran riot. Mostyn Thomas stopped the show with his resonant singing of the Prologue, and was forced to take many bows before the curtain could be raised. Josepha Chekova, the new lyric mezzo of the company who scored such a success as Micaela in the "Carmen" performance, was the Nedda, and again exhibited a voice of fine quality, a good diction, and a charming personality. And again Mr. Gallo would seem to have a find.

Canio was in the capable hands of Aroldo Lindi, and though his Lament could not be heard on account of the late hour, it is safe to say that he was thoroughly satisfactory. Kozakevich was the Silvio, and Francesco Curci the Beppo. Carlo Peroni conducted both performances with pace and precision.

Cyrena Van Gordon will be heard in "Samson and Delilah" tonight. Aroldo Lindi will be the Samson.

Bride of Next Spring

BY JUDITH CASS.

MR. AND MRS. IRA CALEF DARLING made known the engagement of their daughter, Agatha Jane, to Ray Harvey Whidden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Allen Whidden of Kenilworth, yesterday. The announcement was made at a tea in the Darlings' home at 256 Kenilworth avenue, Kenilworth. Most of the young people gathered in the hospitable living room were surprised at the news of the engagement, for, although young Mr. Whidden has been a constant suitor of Miss Darling for several months, few of their friends had learned the secret.

Miss Darling, who preferred a long trip to South America to making a debut, attended the Roycemore school and was graduated from the Ogontz school last year. She is a member of the Service club. Mr. Whidden attended Northwestern university, where he was a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. The wedding will take place next spring.

The youngest guest at yesterday's tea was George E. Holloman Jr., the small son of Capt. and Mrs. George E. Holloman [Dorothy Darling], who, with his mother, has been visiting his grandparents. Capt. Holloman flew up yesterday from Patterson field in Fairfield, O., where he is stationed, to attend the announcement party.

Two Engagements Told at One Party.

Two engagements were made known yesterday afternoon at a tea given in the home of Mrs. Robert G. Bear at 1145 Sheridan road, Evanston, when Mrs. Bear announced the engagement of her daughter, Elizabeth, to Eugene L. De Staebler and at the same time the engagement was revealed of the Bears' houseguest, Miss Mary Jane McMillen, to Dr. Charles Webster Crowe. Miss McMillen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale McMillen of Fort Wayne, Ind., formerly of Winnetka, had announced her engagement the preceding day in Fort Wayne.

Mr. De Staebler, who lives in Evanston, is the son of Mrs. Herbert L. De Staebler of St. Louis, Mo., and Dr. Crowe, who also lives in Evans-

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Now here's a title with sense to it! "Mad" love means—mad love! It means that a lunatic loves a lady. And, my little horror addicts, I rise to advise you that this is a movie to make your blood congeal!

It's a horror film that keeps pace with the most gruesome of its kind, including "Frankenstein." It is a picture which, emphatically, no child should see; one that nervous adults should avoid as they would a leper colony or the seven year itch.

The principal character is a brilliant surgeon—who is mad and knows it. . . . His bestial desires have centered on one Yvonne, star of a melodrama, and wife of Orlac, a famous pianist.

A murderer—Rollo—is guillotined at practically the same time that Orlac's gifted hands are crushed in a railroad wreck. . . . Yvonne beseeches the enamored Gogal to save her husband from amputation.

Gloating over his power, Gogal replaces the sensitive fingers of the musician with—what do you think?

From here on the movie is an orgy of macabre incident that makes gooseflesh of your nice, smooth skin. . . . For hands that once made music now tingle to kill—and there is always gentle, fiendish Dr. Gogal to convince the tortured Orlac that he is a murderer. . . .

Peter Lorre is short, fat, pop-eyed, and relies little on makeup for the effects he achieves. He has a softness, a deadly sweetness, a snaky suavity that are ten times more appalling than the attributes of Karloff, Lugosi, and others of the horror portrait clique. It is remarkable how he can inspire your pity and your liking—when he doesn't have you gibbering with fright.

Frances Drake is a No. 1 girl as the object of his crazed desire. She can yell and otherwise express stark panic quite as well as Fay Wray, who's the recognized tops along those lines. . . . Colin Clive is fine as Orlac. Edward Brophy does a strong bit of work as the murderer. Ted Healy is splendid as an up and coming American newspaper man. May Beatty plays Gogal's frowsy, drink sodden housekeeper expertly. Good cast and direction all the way through.

The story is localed in France.

BORDER BREED

By William MacLeod Raine

SYNOPSIS.

Young Dan Clifford is driving a mule team carrying freight when he meets and befriends 17 year old Milly Sutherland. She and a young brother and sister are en route to Los Pinos, wild border town of the untamed west. Their father died on the way. In Los Pinos Dan, through Polly Doble, gets Milly work washing, and Ah Sin, a Chinaman, to help her. Jasper Ford, gambler and killer, forces his attentions on Milly. Dan publicly humiliates him. Ford challenges Dan to a duel. Dan can't shoot. Sam Jones of the rangers advises Dan to choose bowie knives as weapons and he'll circulate reports of his prowess at slashing. Ford backs out. Sam gives Dan shooting instructions. Dan wins another victory over a friend of Ford's named Le Page. Milly gets another job, teaching school. Dan and his teamsters, String Beans and Yorky, leave for the salt lakes. When they return to Los Pinos an attachment is put on the wagon loads of salt. It is claimed the salt lakes, long public property, have been taken up by one Zack Black, representing the gamblers. Dan dumps the salt in the muddy road. A Mexican, Chaves, suspected of intentions to take salt from the lakes, is arrested. Ford has him bailed out, but holds him hostage. Dan kidnaps Ford and forces him to order Chaves' release. Ford again challenges Dan. In the encounter Dan is shot, but by Le Page, who is killed by Ford. Dan's friends believe Ford arranged the shooting and killed Le Page to prevent his talking. Black, Lou Stone, and a group of gamblers are besieged at the salt lakes by Mexicans. Dan and Sam Jones act as peacemakers and accomplish their rescue, but they are forced to give up all claim to the salt deposits. Lou Stone breaks with Ford. Jonathan Edward Hart, a famous killer, who was sent to prison 16 years before because of Ford's testimony, arrives in Los Pinos. Dan meets Hart at Polly Doble's hotel.

INSTALMENT XXXI.
DAN MEETS A NOTORIOUS CHARACTER.

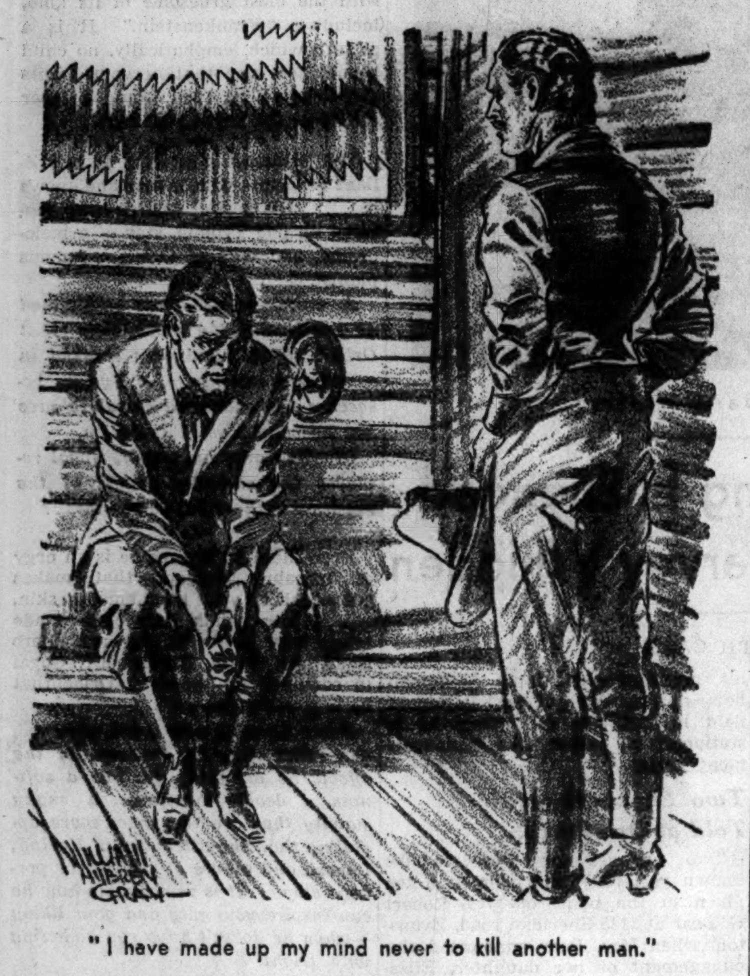
Those present represented a cross section of the citizenship of Los Pinos. One was a lawyer, another a gambler, a third a mule skinner. Several were floaters not yet engaged in any work. A cattleman in from the ranch country rubbed elbows with the Rev. Philip Washburn. Apparently none of them yet knew that the silent stranger sitting next to Dan was the most terrible killer Texas had ever endured.

Hart made no contribution to the conversation, except to answer in the affirmative when some one asked him if he liked the young town. He spoke gently, in a low voice, as mild in manner as a Sunday school teacher. Dan would never have guessed that he was a desperado known all over the country for his efficient ruthlessness.

When Dan rose to leave the table Hart asked him pleasantly if he might see him alone for a minute.

"Sure," Dan said.

They passed out of the dining room, Hart stepping aside to give Dan precedence. As they went upstairs to the stranger's room, the younger man led the way. Hart brought up the rear, ostensibly as a matter of courtesy, but Clifford realized that it was because he was accustomed not to take unnecessary chances.



"I have made up my mind never to kill another man."

Hart closed the door of the bedroom. His gleaming eyes fastened on the other.

"You mentioned a name, sir, at the dinner table," he began in a low voice with gentle courteous note. "I gather from what was said that the owner of that name is no friend of yours. I refer to Jasper Ford."

"You are quite correct," answered Dan. "He is my enemy. His gang has attempted my life several times. Ford himself forced trouble upon me. I was challenged by him and we exchanged shots."

"This Ford is a professional gambler, is he not? A tall man, with a bloodless face. If he is the man I mean, he is probably well dressed. Some would call him handsome. He carries himself with stiff dignity."

"He must be the same man. Your description fits."

Dan volunteered no additional information. His quiet eyes rested on those of the other man. They did not betray the excitement and interest that stirred him. He had a feeling that this man's soul was a battlefield where opposing forces raged. Back of the fierce eyes he guessed at a great weariness, a consuming sadness. Jonathon Edwards Hart had been through the fires.

"I knew this man Ford in the old days," the ex-convict said, reluctantly, as if moved by some inner compulsion to speak. "He was on my side of a feud in which we fought, but at my trial he betrayed me and testified against me. Tell me what you know about him."

Dan told the story of the trouble Ford had forced upon him. The older man listened, but when Dan finished he discovered that Hart's thoughts had been busy with his own problems.

"I have made up my mind never to kill another man," he broke out. "The past is buried. I am a man of peace."

"You had better let Ford know this," Dan said. "I think he has heard you are here and will take no chances."

"What makes you think so?"

Clifford gave his reason. He added that Ford was likely to set the scene for a safe killing.

"Will you take a message to him from me?" Hart asked abruptly. "Tell him I'm not looking for trouble. If he will let me alone, I'll do the same by him."

"I'm not the man to take the message," Dan said. "He wouldn't believe me but would suspect a trap. One of the rangers is my friend. His name is Sam Jones. I'll send him to you. He will tell Ford what you want him to say. If Ford knows he is safe, that you don't mean harm to him, he will probably let you alone."

Hart smiled, mordantly. "Maybe, and maybe not. I'm Samson with his locks shorn. Some one anxious to get a reputation for killing Jonathan Edward Hart will shoot me in the back."

As Milly Sutherland walked home from school her heart was lifted with exultation, merely because the sap of youth flowed fast in her strong and gracious body. To live and love was enough. It was good to have the warm sunshine kiss her cheeks, to feel the soft wind rippling through her hair. Every buoyant step was a delight. Last evening Dan had been with her. She went over in her mind his words and looks. He had said this, and she had answered that. Trivial phrases in themselves, but significant for what they did not tell. He liked her. She was sure of that. But she was in tremulous doubt how much.

The sights and sounds of Los Pinos drifted to her senses. She caught a glimpse of the yellow muddy river on its turbulent way to the sea. A heavy wooden-tired two wheeled Mexican cart drawn by burros lumbered past. There came to her a whiff from a native goat meat market. An olive skinned baker carrying a large osier basket filled with cakes cooked in an outdoor clay oven gave her a smiling "Buenos dias, señorita." She heard the music of saws and hammers busy converting a sleepy village into a metropolis."

A suave voice broke into her musing.

"Why do you hate me, Miss Sutherland?"

Jasper Ford had his hat off and was bowing from the waist to her in his dignified fashion.

Milly was snatched abruptly back into the present. Her eyes registered alarm. It was absurd, she told herself, to be afraid of him. In open daylight, before all Los Pinos, he could do her no harm, even if he had any such intention. Yet at sight of him something very like fear took her by the throat. At the bottom of her heart she knew the dread was not for herself but for another.

"I do not hate you," she told him in her low, throaty contralto. "Why should I, since you are almost a stranger to me?"

"And have done you no harm," he added, his dark eyes fixed on her.

"That is true," she admitted.

"Yet you let it be known I had insulted you. By a lie you injured my reputation in this town, to protect the worthless mule skinner with whom you are in love."

Powder Brush Invaluable in Lovely Makeup

Provides Smooth Finish and Suave Appearance.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I wonder, what with all the little gadgets women indulge in these days, why more don't buy those little camel hair face powder brushes. They cost no more than a jar of good cream or a box of powder and they do a neat face powdering job. For the evening toilette, anyway, they're recommended, and for you leisurely sisters who do not have to catch an 8:30 train or car. You have more time for the makeup job.

"I've noticed that all the professional women have that type of brush on hand always, and use it to wipe off excess powder. It gives a nice mat finish and, I think, a smoother, more even finish than the ordinary job with the puff only.

Madge Evans, the college boys' favorite movie star, says the powdering job is too important in the general makeup scheme to be glossed over. She, like other professionals, with whom makeup wisdom and experience are telling influences in their favor, swabs the face generously with powder. I should have said the face and neck and underchin and sides of the neck and back. All the exposed skin in fact, is gone over with a rich powder layer. Then the small camel's hair brush is brought into use. It removes the excess powder and, as said, gives a finished, smoothly powdered look.

A companion piece for the makeup table is a tiny eyebrow brush. But I think more women have these. Maybe not. I don't mean the mascara brush, but a brush about the same size for brushing the eyebrow hairs free of powder. Also for brushing the hairs up for the same reason that one brushes the hair. To give better tone to the skin surface beneath, cultivate growth, and, at the same time, to train and smooth the eyebrow line. Some women put a wee bit of oil on the eyebrow and use the eyebrow brush to carry the polish out to the end and give a slight shine to the eyebrow.

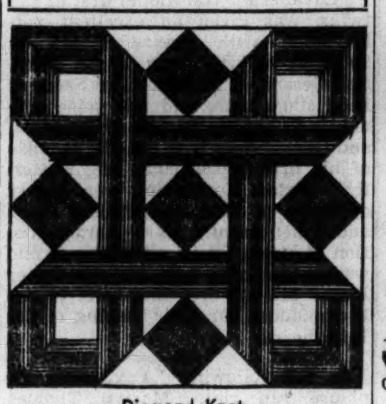
Attractive Pieced Quilt Has Novel Ribboned Effect



Diamond Knot.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Diamond Knot" is one of the most effective of the many pieced patterns. The design is set together with alternate blocks of plain white, although it is necessary to use a combination of striped, plain, and white material. When set together, the entire quilt presents the appearance of an interwoven ribbon. The "Diamond Knot" pattern is "exceedingly smart" without being modern, and without being difficult to piece.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Cuticle coddling and the encouragement of nail health are the principles of a new and extremely nice manicure featured at one of the Chicago beauty shops. The whole sensible process centers in the use of a new, rather magical nail cream—a cream you can use at home with great benefit.

In the manicure, that's corrective as well as beautifying, the nails are shaped with an emery board instead of a steel file, which is right in line with the new theories of scentific nail care. After the shaping the new cream, an orange pink mixture is applied to the cuticle and gently massaged in. This is done on the sound theory that the preliminary creaming protects the cuticle from the drying effects of the polish remover, which is used in the next step of the manicure.

Following this the nails are buffed briskly and the manicure proceeds in usual fashion. The shop prides itself on the fact that each client is given enough time to permit good attention from the operator. There is no ill advised cutting instead of gentle shaping to save time.

When the nails and cuticle have been nicely attended to, the hands are massaged with a good cream, and then polish is applied. When it's dry, the cuticle cream is massaged in again.

Then this completely scientific manicure is stopped with a cooling, very fragrant lotion sprayed over the backs of the hands, refreshing and guaranteed to remove the last vestige of the greasy feeling.

ton, is formerly of Davenport, O. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crowe of Fort William, Can.

Miss Bear is a graduate of Lasell Junior college and is active in Infant Welfare work. Her fiancé attended the University of Illinois, where he was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. Miss McMillen completed her college course at Northwestern university, where she was a member of the Alpha Phi sorority, after attending Lasell college. Dr. Crowe, who also is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, is a graduate of the University of Iowa. His marriage to Miss McMillen will take place in Fort Wayne a few weeks after the Bear-De Staebler wedding in Evanston next January.

Miss Dorothy Dickinson, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Dickinson, has chosen the afternoon of Nov. 14 for her wedding to William A. Little, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alden H. Little. The ceremony will take place at 4:30 o'clock at St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church and will be followed by a reception for a smaller group in the Dickinson home in Astor street. Miss Dickinson's engagement to Mr. Little was announced last spring. The engagement of her elder sister, Miss Alice May Dickinson, to Gilbert H. Robinson was announced recently.

Visitor from Germany Extensively Entertained.

An attractive young woman who is being fêted during her visit to Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin is Miss Eisela Binz of Berlin, Germany. Mrs. Junkin entertained two boxes full of guests at the Kirsten Flagstad-Lauritz Melchior concert yesterday afternoon at Orchestra hall for Miss Binz, and tonight she will entertain at dinner for the German visitor and take her guests on to the San Carlo opera in the Auditorium.

Wednesday night Mrs. Junkin will entertain at the dinner-dance and evening performance of the St. Luke's fashion show at the Stevens hotel, and the following night she will take her guest to the symphony. Mrs. Junkin and Miss Binz will leave for New York on Nov. 11 to spend two weeks there and one week in Washington.

A great many people will be entertaining Wednesday night at dinner and the fashion show which will be followed by dancing. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Reed and Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour, who are throwing their boxes together to entertain some young people. Mr. and Mrs. John P. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Hall Adams have made a joint party of their boxes, entertaining the Edward Harris Brewers, the Augustus A. Carpenters, Mrs. C. Morse Ely, and Mrs. Alfred Hamill. Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers will have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Avery and the Averys' daughter, Mrs. W. C. McMillan of St. Louis, who is coming up just for the show. The Averys' youngest daughter, Miss Nancy Avery, after serving as a manikin, will join Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers. Mr. and Mrs. John Stevenson and the W. Edwin Stanleys will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Huntington B. Henry in their box.

Schweppes to Give Dinner for Katherine McLennan.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe and their daughter, Miss Jean Schweppe, will be host and hostesses at a dinner tonight at the Racquet club for Miss Katherine McLennan, debutante daughter of the Donald R. McLennans. After dinner the Schweppes will take their young guests to a revival of "Rose Marie" at the Grand opera house.

When Jack Hylton, famed English band leader, steps off the Normandie as she docks in New York this morning, he will be cornered by Mrs. Niblack Thorne, Miss Lydia Swift, and Mrs. W. Press Hodgkins, members of the board of Emerson house, who will be there to try to persuade him to give a benefit for Emerson house when he comes to Chicago. Mrs. Thorne, Mrs. Hodgkins, and Miss Swift, whose engagement to Paul Rowan was announced recently, left Chicago Wednesday and while they are in New York they will stay with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grace, who moved east recently.

The Parents' association of the Francis Parker school will hold its first meeting of the winter tonight in the auditorium of the school. Dr. George E. Vincent will speak on "Moving Picture of the Mind," after which there will be a reception.

Mrs. Woodrow Wilson's sister, Miss Bertha Bolling of Washington, D. C., is in Chicago visiting her niece, Mrs. John Moehling of East End avenue. Mrs. James Whitney Hall of Cornell avenue is entertaining at luncheon and bridge today for Miss Bolling.

Members of the board of the Chicago Home for Convalescent Women and Children will meet at the home, 2658 West Washington boulevard, at 11:30 o'clock this morning. A buffet luncheon will follow the business meeting.

Plain Plus Plaid for Chic

WOMAN'S AND MISS' COSTUME.

This smart costume in plain and plaid woolen is in the popular two piece style. School, college, and young business women will find such a dress a useful addition to their wardrobe. It is pretty and youthful, with its round collar, and buttons and buttonholes down the back. You can give your wardrobe variety with little expense by wearing the skirt with a brightly colored sweater, and make an extra skirt of plain velveteen to wear with the woolen blouse.

The pattern, No. 2572, comes in sizes 14, 16, and 18 years and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch plain material, with 2⅜ yards of 39 inch plaid material.

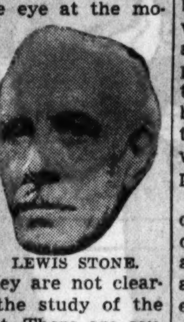
Friends' Lips Apt to Be of Opposite Type

BY HUGO WESTERBERG.



LEWIS STONE.

In a recent article I advised looking a person in the eye at the moment of meeting. The next step is to consider the question of attraction or repulsion. These feelings might be rather vague, but occasionally they will be strong enough to leave no doubt in your mind. It is when they are not clearly recognized that the study of the features is important. There are several of these and your own makeup decides their order of importance.

As a rule, the relative proportions between the upper and lower lips may be noticed first. If your own upper lip is stronger than the lower, that is, larger and fuller in form, the other person likes you on that score if the condition of his lips is the opposite. Notice the mouths of your married friends. They run to opposites most of the time.

Men have had great success in money making without having the strong features of the typical salesman. When this is the case, it does not contradict the claim that special qualities of the sort are shown by the face; it only indicates the possession thereof in a partner, usually his wife.

The intensive strength of the face of Lewis Stone, film star, is subdued only by the fleshiness of his nose in its lower part and the narrowness of his lower jaw. The first of these features shows an ability to read the weaknesses of human nature. The second feature, the formation of the jaw, suggests the use of stratagem instead of violent tactics in obtaining an end, typical in higher business and political circles.

According to CULBERTSON

THE LANGUAGE OF PLAYS.

From the opening lead to the thirteenth trick there really are no meaningless plays in bridge. Even when the card played cannot possibly win the trick, it still can convey information. Since only very young girls, who really are not interested in bridge, and tired business men—whose wives inflict bridge on them as a sophisticated form of torture—are pip-blind to the extent of not noticing the difference between any two cards below the jack, it becomes possible to develop a logical and complete network of information for defensive play.

The information generally can be conveyed by either of two distinctly different methods: positive (encouraging) plays, and negative (discouraging) plays. Both methods are of inestimable value when following suit or discarding to any trick.

In the encouraging or "come-on" method an unnecessarily high card is played. For example, partner leads the king of a suit, and you, holding the eight and deuce, play the eight rather than the deuce. Since you cannot hope to win the trick from your partner's king, your play of the eight obviously is intended as signal. It requests partner to "come on"—to continue leading that suit at the earliest possible moment.

In the discouraging or "stop" method, the lowest card possible is played. Suppose again that your partner leads a king, and that you have the eight, five, and deuce. This time you play the deuce. It urges partner to discontinue leading that suit and to switch to another at the earliest possible moment.

When the signaler has no "unnecessarily high card" which is not too low to convey encouragement, he employs a device called the "high-low" or "echo" by following up his first play with a lower card of the same suit at his earliest convenience. Thus the play of the three or four from A 3 2 or K 4 2 is confirmed by following with the deuce. While this device is extremely valuable, its value depends on partner's noticing the order in which the cards are played. So it's a good idea to watch every card partner plays.

The No Trump Overcall.

A bid of one no trump after an opponent has opened the bidding shows a strong hand of balanced distribution (containing no singleton or void suit). It guarantees at least one trick, and probably two, in the suit the opponent has bid. And while it does not guarantee four honor tricks, as does an opening one no trump bid, the hand as a whole should be capable of winning no less than four tricks not vulnerable, and five tricks vulnerable. The following hand was correctly bid:

NORTH
♥ J 10 6
♦ 8 5 2

WEST
♠ J 7 6
♦ J 7 6 4 3
♣ 6 5 2

EAST
♠ 10 9
♥ A K 5 4 2
♦ Q 9
♣ Q J 9 4

SOUTH
♠ 8 4 2
♥ Q 7 3
♦ A K 10
♣ A K 7 3

The bidding (neither side vulnerable):

East	South	West	North
1 ♥	1 N T (1)	Pass	2 N T (2)
Pass	3 N T (3) (Final bid)

(1) South's hand is too strong to pass. A two club overcall would not show the four-plus honor tricks, and a take-out double would falsely proclaim strength in spades. The bid of one no trump shows exactly the type of hand South holds.

(2) Game in spades seems doubtful, but game in no trump quite possible, since North's hand probably will win five sure tricks.

(3) South has slightly more than the four trick winners necessary for his overcall.

West opened the nine of hearts and East won the king and ace. Then South got the lead with the heart queen and ran off five spade tricks, two diamonds, and two clubs, making four no trump. Four spades could not have been made, due to a heart ruff.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Answer: If the opponents have bid up to two in a suit, and you bid two no trump, you show a stopper in the opponents' suit and the ability to win five or six tricks surely, depending upon whether vulnerable or not. Usually you cannot be sure of winning so many tricks if your strength is distributed, so most two no trump overcalls show a strong minor suit, such as A K Q x x or A K Q x x x, in addition to the stopper in the opponents' suit.

Tomorrow's Hand.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

BY MARY MEADE.

"Uncooked relishes," begs our mailbag. And we're decidedly pleased to comply for several reasons. First, the addition of such simple, homemade accessories to an ordinary meal gives it all sorts of distinction without the "fuss and feathers" touch. Secondly, the fruits and vegetables of the season are teeming with possibilities for these raw appetite teasers. And, finally, we've a number of new additions to our files in the way of grand, simple relishes that ask no cooking and little preparation time.

For instance, there's this favorite among the masculine sex. It's just as easy to toss together as its name implies, and much, much better than it sounds.

One-Two-Three Relish.

1 medium onion
2 dill pickles
3 apples
¼ cup vinegar
⅓ cup sugar

Grind together the onion, pickles [kosher dill pickles are excellent for this if you like the garlic flavor] and unpared apples and combine with the sugar and vinegar. Keep covered in a cool place until used.

And there's this crispy relish of cabbage and carrots, green peppers and onions, which likewise needs no cooking and keeps without sealing.

October Special.

2 medium heads of cabbage
8 medium carrots
8 green [or sweet red] peppers
12 medium onions
½ cup salt
3 pints vinegar
6 cups sugar
1 teaspoon mustard seed
1 teaspoon celery seed

Grind all the vegetables in the food chopper, add the salt, and let stand for 2 hours. Drain and mix with the vinegar, sugar, mustard, and celery seed.

Tomatoes are featured in this next relish, an excellent uncooked accompaniment to the meat dish.

Raw Tomato Relish.

1 peck ripe tomatoes, peeled
1 head cabbage
6 large onions
2 green peppers
2 tablespoons salt
½ teaspoon red pepper
3 cups brown sugar
4 cups vinegar

Put the peeled tomatoes through the food chopper and drain overnight. Chop the other vegetables and combine them and the other ingredients with the drained tomatoes. Mix well and seal in jars without cooking.

Or your family may be hankering for an old-fashioned beet relish. This is a sort of hybrid, cooked only until it reaches the boiling point, and really no more complicated than the strictly uncooked kind.

Old-Fashioned Beet Relish.

1 quart chopped cooked beets
1 quart chopped raw cabbage
1 cup grated horseradish
2 cups sugar
1 tablespoon black pepper
¾ cup salt

Mix all the ingredients and heat just to the boiling point. Pack into sterile jars and seal.

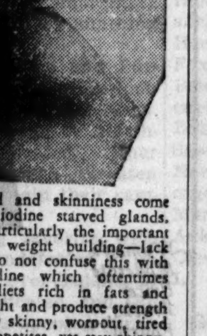
LEARNS MURDERED FATHER'S SECRET

Alfred E. Ricks, oil-well promoter, was shot down by unknown assassins yesterday, as he walked into the Perkins' Lumber Yard, Rushville Center, where his latest promotion was under way.

Taken to the home of Ma Perkins, Ricks asked her to call his 19-year-old daughter Isabel at once. Just before lapsing into unconsciousness he confessed that . . . .

This is just one of the many true-life situations that is thrilling old and new listeners to the Ma Perkins program. (Daily except Saturday and Sunday at 2:15 P. M. over Station WENR.) Added interest lies in the current Ma Perkins contest, where 10 fully-equipped 1936 Model Plymouth Touring Sedans and $2,000.00 in cash are being given away.

The contest is open to all listeners. For full details, listen to the Ma Perkins radio program at 2:15 over Station WENR, every day except Saturday and Sunday.



NATURALLY SKINNY LOOK OUT FOR IODINE STARVED GLANDS!

New Way Adds 5 Lbs. in 1 Week or No Cost!

Science now knows that nervous exhaustion, rundown conditions, poor blood and skinniness come very frequently from iodine starved glands. When these glands—particularly the important gland which controls weight building—lack natural plant iodine (do not confuse this with ordinary chemical iodine which oftentimes proves toxic), even diets rich in fats and starches fail to add weight and produce strength and energy. That's why skinny, wornout, tired folks often have huge appetites, yet stay skinny.

With the discovery of Kelpamalt, a mineral concentrate made from a huge 90-foot sea plant harvested off the Pacific Coast, you can now be sure of your needed ration of plant iodine in concentrated, easy-to-take form. 1300 times richer in iodine than oysters, Kelpamalt helps your food do you good, build rugged strength, increase nerve force, add weight and banish fatigue. Its 12 other minerals stimulate the digestive glands which produce juices that enable you to digest fats and starches,—weight-building foods. 3 Kelpamalt Tablets contain more iron and copper than a pound of spinach or 7½ pounds of fresh tomatoes, more iodine than 1386 pounds of lettuce, more calcium than 6 eggs.

Start Kelpamalt today. Even weak, rundown, naturally skinny folks must gain new strength and energy and add 5 pounds the first week or the trial is free. Costs but a few cents a day to use. Sold at all

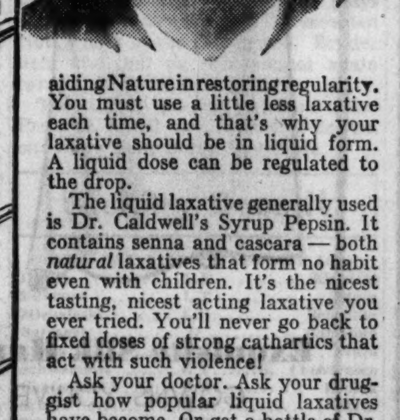
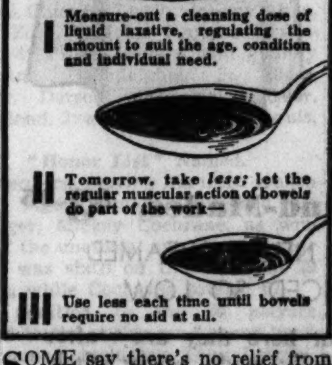
"The Doctor was RIGHT!"

Women should take only liquid laxatives



THREE STEPS TO RELIEVING CONSTIPATION



I Measure-out a cleansing dose of liquid laxative, regulating the amount to suit the age, condition and individual need.

II Tomorrow, take less; let the regular muscular action of bowels do part of the work—

III Use less each time until bowels require no aid at all.

SOME say there's no relief from constipation on account of the things we eat and the way we live, today. It isn't true!

Many believe any laxative they might take only makes matters worse. And that isn't true.

Do what doctors do to relieve such a condition. They use liquid laxatives, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why your laxative should be in liquid form. A liquid dose can be regulated to the drop.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara — both natural laxatives that form no habit even with children. It's the nicest tasting, nicest acting laxative you ever tried. You'll never go back to fixed doses of strong cathartics that act with such violence!

Ask your doctor. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. Or get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if it doesn't give you absolute relief, if it isn't a joy and comfort in the way it overcomes any sluggishness or biliousness due to constipation, return it and get your money.

Try Syrup Pepsin! Just take regulated doses until Nature has restored regularity.

STATE ST. STORE VETERANS TO BE HONORED TONIGHT

Pageant to Mark Pioneer Achievements.

Veteran State street merchants, executives, and store employés will be honored this evening with a pageant and a banquet. Shortly after 6 o'clock a horse drawn street car will move north on State street and draw up in front of the Palmer house. Riding in this transportation medium of an earlier Chicago will be men and women who have seen the vigorous, sometimes turbulently busy, merchandising street grow to achieve a 400 million dollar annual turnover.

The horse car will hold only about 27 people, but there are almost 100 persons in the membership of the Association of State Street Seniors who have given 40 or more years of service in the stores. These and some 600 others who have worked in the retail stores for 25 years or more will be among the many persons, who, after the arrival of the old time street car, will gather in the Palmer house for the third annual dinner of the seniors' association.

Kelly and Dunne Head Pageant.

Mayor Kelly and Edward F. Dunne, former mayor and Illinois governor, will lead a pageant in which will be driven several early automobiles bearing couples personifying early State street characters.

This procession will move from the Monroe street entrance to the State street entrance of the Palmer house, arriving at the same time as the antiquated tram.

Henry C. Lytton, 90 years old, head of the Hub department store and the only survivor of the group of 14 merchant princes credited as the founders of the great retail thoroughfare, will be an honor guest at the dinner and willb e given a testimonial parchment in recognition of his service.

Henry Gordon Selfridge Jr., vice president of Selfridge's of London, whose father carried State street business methods to London, will bring greetings from Oxford street.

An Historical Dramatic Sketch.

Living descendants of the founders of State street firms or present executives of the firms they organized will impersonate the early "merchant princes" in an historical dramatic sketch which will be the feature event of the dinner program. This program will be broadcast.

Leon Mandel Sr. will be impersonated by the present Leon Mandel; Charles A. Stevens by Elmer T. Stevens, Elijah Peacock by Robert E. Peacock, John T. Pirie Sr. by John T. Pirie, A. M. Rothschild by Maurice L. Rothschild, Ernest J. Lehman by D. F. Kelly of the Fair store, Levi Leiter by M. C. Penticoff, Potter Palmer by Walter L. Gregory, Marshall Field by Frederick D. Corley, and C. W. Partridge by Henry G. Hart.

Veterans to Be Honored.

At the speakers' table will be Otis W. Smith, chairman of the seniors' group, who has been with Marshall Field & Co. for 52 years; Frank M. Anderson, who has had 48 years with the Davis store and its predecessor, A. M. Rothschild & Co.; Miss Katherine Malone, 47 years with the Boston store and its predecessor, C. W. Partridge; Robert E. Foster, 48 years with Carson Pirie Scott & Co.; Matthew Abrams, [illegible] years with A. G. Spaulding, and Edward Majesky, 44 years with Mandel Brothers.

Veteran workers in other industries also will be guests. These include Thomas E. Freeman, for 53 years with the Illinois Bell Telephone company; Thomas E. Rees, for 45 years with the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company and its predecesors, and Lyman G. Van Horn, for 61 years with the Chicago Surface Lines.

Persian Lamb is the LION of the season

At $89.75

Not so much fur, because Fashion is in favor of less this year—but such fine quality! Persian lamb smartly manipulated in the new dressmaker effects. The fabrics, too, are exceptionally lovely—and the most important types of the season.

1. A very young and military coat with an upstanding collar and frog fastenings of Persian lamb. The peplum-like piece below the belt in front turns out to be a pocket muff. Of a diamond-pattern woolen in black. 12 to 16. As young and smart as a coat can be.

2. A chic roll collar in front, plastron in back, gives just enough Persian lamb to this smartly designed coat for women. It is fashioned of one of the season's newest woolens. It comes in regular sizes, 36 to 44.

3. A scarf collar of Persian lamb may be worn criss-cross or in a plastron effect on this coat for the shorter woman. Note the Persian-banded sleeves. Of smooth, slenderizing suede cloth, 35½ to 43½.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The Pittsburgh Pirates snapped out of their losing streak this afternoon at the expense of the Chicago Cardinals, punching out a 17 to 13 victory. Time alone saved the Pirates, for Soboe, brilliant Cardinal back, had played the ball within one yard of the goal line as the final seconds ticked off. Field Judge Earl Cavanaugh's announcement of the end of the game led to a near riot, with Right Tackle Lou Gordon of the Cardinals rushing at the official with fists flying. It was the Cardinals' first defeat of the season.

Casper Knocked Unconscious.

That the game would end in an uproar was indicated early in the contest as tacklers smashed ball carriers to the ground with more than necessary vigor. At times the backs leaped to their feet ready to retaliate with their fists. Damon Wetzel, Pirate full back reserve, was caught punching Field, 230 pound Cardinal tackle, early in the fourth quarter and was banished from the field.

In the near battle as the game ended Cy Casper, star Pirate back, was knocked temporarily unconscious, apparently struck while he was being held by several of his mates. Cardinal players pushed over Casper's fallen body to reach Field Judge Cavanaugh, but finally went to their dressing room without further serious trouble.

The Pirates went into the lead early in the game. After a consistent drive down field, Doehring tossed a short pass to Casper, who fell across the goal line for the touchdown. Niccolai place kicked the extra point.

Sorboe Runs 80 Yards to Score.

Sorboe came into the game to start the second period and had not been in action long until he took a punt on his own 20 yard line and with amazing speed dashed through the Pirate team for a touchdown. Smith made good on the try for extra point with a placement.

The Cardinals' second touchdown was made in the fourth period and was scored after a long march down the field. Nichelini plunged the final five yards for the score. Smith's kick for the extra point was blocked by Zaninelli, however.

Niccolai missed a try for field goal in the second period, but made good on his second try just before the half ended. The kick was from the 20 yard line.

The Pirates' second touchdown came in the fourth period. The Cardinals were driving toward Pittsburgh's goal line when Art Strutt intercepted one of Sorboe's passes and raced 75 yards for a score. Once more Niccolai's placement was good.

Cards Get to Two Yard Line.

From this point on the Cardinals turned on the power, but found the Pirate defense hard to penetrate consistently until the closing seconds when three successive passes carried the ball from deep in Chicago territory to Pittsburgh's two yard line. The great play of Bob Hoel, Niccolai, and Wilbur Sortet was the chief reason for the Cardinals' failure to penetrate the Pirates' line.

The Cardinals gained 170 yards to the Pirates' 80. The first downs were 11 for Chicago and four for the Pirates.

A. A. U. PRESIDENT ATTACKS GERMAN OLYMPIC LEADER

Calls Lewald Screen for Nazi Discrimination.

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Jeremiah T. Mahoney, president of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, tonight charged that Dr. Theodore Lewald, president of the German Olympic committee, was "being used as a screen to conceal his government's most flagrant violations of the Olympic ideal of fair play for all" and suggested that he resign.

In a direct communication, Mahoney said:

"I recall that you were permitted to retain your position as the titular head of the German Olympic committee only through the intercession of the international Olympics committee and the force of foreign public opinion, and I fear that, lacking any real authority, you are being used as a screen to conceal your government's flagrant violations of the Olympic ideal of fair play for all.

Suggests Lewald Resign.

"If you are not a hostage of your government, I counsel you, my dear Mr. Lewald, to formally and publicly resign your office in the Olympic committee in respect to those ideals of sportsmanship to which your whole life has hitherto been dedicated.

"Permit me to say that under its present leadership your country not only is not observing but cannot observe the principles of democracy and of equality upon which the Olympic games are based. The Olympic code, which recognizes in the realm of sports the absolute equality of all races and of all faiths, is the direct antithesis of Nazi ideology which has as its cornerstone the dogma of racial inequality. Until the Nazi régime has ended the American people will have no reason to believe that the true spirit of sportsmanship, to which the Olympic games are devoted, can find expression in Germany."

Convinced of Discrimination.

Mahoney said that investigation had confirmed his belief "that the German Jews are being excluded from the possibility of participating in the Olympic games; that the present German government has injected race, religion, and politics into sports in general and into the Olympics in particular; and that if Germany today has no Jews of Olympic caliber, it is because she has denied them adequate facilities for training and competition and has forced them into exile.

"I am convinced that discrimination in sports, which began with the Jews, has been extended so as to include Catholics and Protestants who do not supinely submit to the Nazi will in all spheres, including the sphere of conscience."

PREACHERS RAP NAZIS

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Pleas for the United States to stay out of the Olympic games at Berlin next year were made today from New York pulpits.

In Town hall, where the Rev. John Haynes Holmes spoke, and in Carnegie hall, where Dr. Stephens S. Wise was heard by 2,000, the Nazi régime was lambasted in vigorous language.

"Lies! lies! lies!" cried Dr. Wise in characterizing the defense of conditions in Germany by Jews.

Calls Sport Unsafe for Jews.

"He isn't a Jew from my point of view," he said. "He is a pseudo-Aryan skunk."

Dr. Holmes said there was "a very real question of safety" of Jewish contestants in the games.

"This last summer," he said, "according to unimpeachable reports, a brilliant Jewish athlete, playing on a visiting Polish team, was set upon by a crowd of Nazi spectators and so terribly beaten that he died."

P. G. A. Results

Paul Runyan, White Plains, N. Y., defeated Tony Manero, Greensboro, N. C., 9 and 8.

John Revolta, Milwaukee, Wis., defeated Pat Circelli, Tarrytown, N. Y., 4 and 2.

Tommy Armour, Chicago, defeated Ky Laffoon, Chicago, 3 and 2.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Oklahoma City, Okla., Oct. 20.—Two of the most fair-haired of Chicago's adopted sons, Thomas D. Armour, by way of Edinburgh, Scotland, and Horton Smith, out of Springfield, Mo., today advanced to the quarter finals of the 17th National Professional golf tournament at the Twin Hills Golf club.

Much as it pained Thomas and Horton, they were forced to forego all of the civic amenities, for their victims were two fellow Chicagoans. Tommy had to do in Ky Laffoon of Northmoor, a dozen years his junior, by a 3 and 2 count, while the urbane Horton forgot all that is proper in eliminating his west side neighbor, Denny Shute, of Westward Ho, 2 and 1.

Runyan Wins Easily.

These, of course, were only two of the eight 36 hole matches transacted today in the third round of this tournament wherein the artists all stroll pleasantly side by side, each with golfing murder in his heart.

Among tonight's eight survivors, incidentally, was a quiet little person by the name of Paul Runyan, who verily is bent on nothing short of fairway mayhem, judging from what he committed today. This dastardly deed by the defending champion consisted of a 9 and 8 assault on Tony Manero, the Greensboro, N. C., Italian of the movie mustachios. The innocent looking Runyan was guilty of playing the 28 holes in par, thus

Coaches Avoid Fancy Laterals for Old-Fashioned Football

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Where are the lateral passes and the trick plays football coaches assured the spectators they would use this season? This year, so the coaches said just a few months ago, football was to be a wide open, take-a-chance game, with basketball players more in demand than smashing full backs.

Let us look at the record. Colgate, considered one of the major exponents of lateral passing, came west a week ago and lost to Iowa. The Red Raiders attempted only four lateral passes.

Navy lost to Yale Saturday, 7 to 6, and the most unusual play was the Midshipmen's place kick for the tying point which struck the goal post. In other details, runs and forward passes comprised the menu offered the fans.

Irish Play It Safe.

Notre Dame won a brilliant victory over Pittsburgh, a hard fought battle, climaxed by Marty Peters' placement for the winning points with two minutes to play. But Notre Dame and Pitt stuck to the fundamentals of rushing and passing. Pitt placed the ball on the Irish 2 yard line, preparatory to Full Back Patrick's scoring plunge, with a sharp forward pass to the left of Notre Dame's box secondary. Fred Carideo crashed through the center of Pitt's line for fifteen yards, the most valuable contribution to Notre Dame's touchdown, which was scored by Bill Shakespeare on a four yard inside tackle drive.

Ohio State's highly regarded squad used forward passes to score three touchdowns, and Sophomore Joe Williams ran thirty-five yards for the other which whipped Northwestern, 28 to 7. Ohio gained 285 yards by rushing and its blocking for speedy ball carriers produced the victory.

Ah! Here Are Those Laterals.

Alabama, in defeating Tennessee, 25 to 0, tacked laterals to forward passes, and Catholic university, by a lateral after the receiver of a forward pass had run to Detroit's 12 yard line, scored a touchdown for a 13 to 7 victory. But the forward pass with lateral pass isn't new by any means. It was considered only the beginning of this new football, which was to see laterals between runners both behind the scrimmage line and down field.

Illinois probably is the Big Ten's outstanding team for open play. In this, Southern California will agree, but the Illini have been performing their tricks for years. They are not recent converts to the style of attack coaches said would sweep the country.

The more evenly matched teams hesitate to open up. Possibility of disaster by fumble or interception frightens. And in such a fight as that staged by Pitt and Notre Dame, the value of an accurate, long distance kicker never was greater. Shakespeare kicked Notre Dame out of trouble with a 91 yard punt from where he stood behind his own goal line, a kick that Pitt returned only ten yards. And Arnold Greene, Pitt's substitute quarter back, by a high, short kick that bounded backward twenty-four yards to Pitt's 21 yard strip, opened the way for the Irish to tie the score in the second quarter.

Fundamentals Still Worthwhile.

Northwestern's Steve Toth had two indifferent kicks which helped Ohio State get started. And so it goes, the fundamentals of football, kicking, passing, blocking, and running still are more important than impromptu laterals and the spirit of try anything once.

This morning, Michigan and Purdue lead the Western conference football race with two victories each. Ohio State, by conquest of Northwestern, also is undefeated. Other elevens, several of which threaten present leaders, will begin their campaigns this week.

Minnesota, ranking favorite with Ohio State, remains undefeated by an intersectional victory over Tulane, 20 to 0. Iowa, also undefeated, and Illinois, beaten only in its opening game, meet this week in an important elimination contest. Neither played Saturday.

Northwestern, whipped by Purdue and Ohio State, is Minnesota's next opponent. Michigan goes east to face Columbia with excellent chances for victory, in view of Pennsylvania's smashing triumph over Columbia Saturday, 34 to 0. Purdue meets Carnegie Tech and then will battle the Gophers.

Maroons' Big Chance.

Chicago, unable to stop the Boilermakers' speedsters, and losing, 19 to 0, has hope of whipping Wisconsin. The Badgers have yet to win a game this fall.

HANK GREENBERG GETS VALUABLE PLAYER AWARD

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Hank Greenberg, the Bronx boy who went west to become the slugging star of the world champion Detroit Tigers, today was designated the most valuable American league player of 1935.

Despite the injury which kept him out of most of the world series games, Greenberg was the unanimous choice of the eight representatives of the Baseball Writers' Association of America who participated in the selection. The poll was announced by James C. Isaminger, chairman of the committee.

Voting on the basis of ten points for the first choice man of the list of ten candidates selected by each writer, nine for the second, and thus down to one for the tenth, Greenberg polled the maximum total of 80 points.

Ferrell Is Second.

Wes Ferrell, Boston Red Sox pitcher who won 25 games during the season, received second honors with 62 points. Joe Vosmik, Cleveland outfielder, was third with 39 points, and Buddy Myer, Washington second baseman, fourth with 36.

A total of 24 players were named in the balloting. Others were Lou Gehrig, Yankees, 29 points; Charley Gehringer, Detroit, 26; Mickey Cochrane, Detroit, 24; Roger Cramer, Philadelphia, 18; Julius Solters and Rollie Hemsley, St. Louis, 16 each; Jimmie Foxx, Philadelphia, and Tommy Bridges, Detroit, 11; Ted Lyons, Chicago, 10; Lefty Grove, Boston, 8; Zeke Bonura, Luke Appling and Luke Sewell, Chicago, 7 each; Johnny Allen, New York, 5; John Whitehead, Chicago, 4; Pinky Higgins and Johnny Marcum, Philadelphia, 3; Elden Auker, Detroit, and Mel Harder, Cleveland, 2; and Lyn Lary, St. Louis, 1.

"Honor List" Named.

Greenberg, playing his third season as a Tiger regular, succeeded his manager, Mickey Cochrane, as winner of the unofficial award. Last year Hank was sixth on the list with 29 points, while Cochrane totaled 67.

In addition to the 24 players named in the voting an "honor list" was named including Tony Lazzeri, George Selkirk and Red Rolfe, New York; Dick Ferrell, Oscar Melillo and Mel Almada, Boston; Rabbit Warstler, Eric McNair, Bob Johnson and Wally Moses, Philadelphia; Cecil Travis, Jake Powell and Earl Whitehill, Washington; Pete Fox, Schoolboy Rowe, Al Crowder and Goose Goslin, Detroit; Jimmy Dykes, Chicago; O'Dell Hale and Billy Knickerbocker, Cleveland; and Jack Burns, Sam West and Ivy Andrews, St. Louis.

PACKERS DEFEAT LIONS, 13 TO 9, ON TWO FIELD GOALS

BY CHARLES NEVADA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 20.—The Green Bay Packers, battling to remain in the National Professional Football league race, put together two field goals and a touchdown for a 13 to 9 victory over the Detroit Lions at State Fair park here today.

Big Ad Schwammel, 230 pound tackle from Oregon, kicked the field goals, one in the third quarter from the 39 yard line and the other in the last period from the 41 yard stripe. Don Hutson, one of the heroes of the last New Year's Rose Bowl game, was responsible for the touchdown. He recovered a blocked punt in the first minute of the third quarter and ran 30 yards for the score.

Packers Tie for Second Place.

The victory, Green Bay's fourth in six league games, enabled the Packers to move into a two way tie for second place in the western section.

The Lions, appearing in Milwaukee for the first time, shot into a 3 to 0 advantage soon after the first quarter opened on Dutch Clark's drop kick from the 40 yard line. The Packers' offense proved superior in the first two quarters, just as it did a week ago against the Chicago Cardinals, but their six first downs to Detroit's two availed nothing in points.

Green Bay tried twice to score on field goals, but each of Bob Monnett's attempts ended in failure. His first placement kick was from the Lions' 17 yard line in the opening quarter. His second came in the final seconds of the second quarter from the 15 yard line.

Schwammel Blocks Kick.

The third period hardly had begun before Schwammel set the stage for Green Bay's only touchdown. He broke through and blocked Frank Christensen's punt. The ball rolled to the western side lines, where Hutson picked it up and dashed on to the touchdown. Ernie Smith added the extra point to make the score 7 to 3 in favor of the Packers.

After the next kickoff Green Bay rushed the ball from its 25 yard line to Detroit's 25, only to be checked there. Three plays failed and Schwammel dropped back to the Detroit 39 yard line, from where he made the placement kick that netted three more points. Arnie Herber held the ball.

Detroit then took charge and marched from midfield to the Packer goal line, with Cadell going across for the touchdown. Passes from Nott to Clark and Nott to Cadell featured this advance. Clark's try for the extra point by drop kick was unsuccessful, leaving Green Bay in front, 10 to 9.

Schwammel stepped into the picture for the final time three plays after Hank Bruder had intercepted Nott's pass in the last period. Bruder held the ball as Schwammel again connected for a field goal.

The Lions, playing without Glen Presnell, rolled up eleven first downs, one more than Green Bay made.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The Bears celebrated the opening of Chicago's professional football season yesterday by going back into the lead in the western division of the National league with a 24 to 14 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Three touchdowns in the first half and a field goal by Jack Manders in the third quarter provided the Bears with the margin necessary to pass the defeated Cardinals in the standings. It was the Bears' third victory in four starts this season and gave them a percentage of .750 against .667 for the Cardinals, who suffered their first defeat at Pittsburgh.

Brooklyn made two touchdowns in the third period, but its rally, outside of providing a few sensational runs and passes for the opening day crowd of 18,000, 13,620 of whom paid, did not change the complexion of the game. The Bears held the upper hand throughout.

Bears Too Good.

It was evident after Brooklyn's first flurry in the opening minutes of the first quarter, when the right side of the Bear line was having trouble, that the Bears could score almost as they pleased.

Four plays after Bernie Masterson intercepted Stan Kostka's pass midway in the first quarter Beattie Feathers sprinted off right tackle, cut out, then swung back to the left and raced over the goal line for a 19 yard gain and the first touchdown. Manders, who missed one field goal in addition to his third quarter effort, place kicked the extra point into Waveland avenue, whence the ball never returned.

Feathers had started this drive with a 26 yard run. A five yard offside penalty on the Bears made it possible for Feathers to gain 45 yards in this 44 yard drive to the goal.

March 82 Yards.

Brooklyn kicked off to the Bears, and 13 plays later the Bears ended an 82 yard march with Keith Molesworth's 4 yard plunge off tackle for the second touchdown. The chief ingredients in this uninterrupted drive were Reds Pollock's 35 yard dash down the sidelines on the first play, an 11 yard charge by Feathers, and a lateral pass, Manders to Molesworth, good for eight yards. Manders also kicked this extra point, and the ball again went into Waveland avenue where a small boy captured it and hurried home.

The second Bear team took charge at the start of the second period and helped itself to a touchdown. Midway in the period Bob Dunlap, substitute quarter back, intercepted Red White's pass on Brooklyn's 35 yard line. Dunlap passed to Molesworth for 9 yards on the first play and Johnny Sisk made it first down on Brooklyn's 22 yard line. Gene Ronzani, who had relieved Manders at full back, got a yard. Dunlap lateraled to Molesworth, who passed 21 yards into the end zone to Luke Johnsos for the touchdown. Ronzani added the extra point.

Manders Misses Tough One.

The second team marched to the seven yard line late in the period after Joe Zeller had intercepted White's pass on Brooklyn's 34 yard line. The Bears, feeling in a charitable mood, decided to let the Dodgers off easy this time and, instead of trying for a touchdown, called in Manders to place kick from a difficult angle on first down. Manders missed.

The second team returned in the third quarter and amused itself trying a series of lateral passes, punctuated by Manders' smashes at the center of the weary Brooklyn line. They eventually found themselves on Brooklyn's 24 yard line. Masterson attempted a field goal which was wide, and Ralph Kercheval promptly kicked one of the three punts he sent

It was well that the boyish Runyan attended to Manero in the brutal fashion of today, for tomorrow he will meet an ornery character from another side of the tracks, way up there in Portland, Ore. He is Al Zimmerman, who has been the bully among the pros in the Pacific northwest for a half dozen years. Albert today waylaid an unsuspecting Levy Lynch of Houston, Tex., 7 and 6.

Revolta Has Hard Match.

Still another dangerous gent looking for a fight is Johnny Revolta, Milwaukee's western open champion, who had one of the hardest battles of his career today in putting down Pat Circelli of Tarrytown, N. Y., 4 and 2. Pat wouldn't hold still for twenty-seven holes today, finishing them even. Johnny reached for his favorite weapon, the sand wedge, and finished it up, 4 and 2.

In one of tomorrow's quarter-finals, Johnny will take off his coat against one Eddie Schultz of Troy, N. Y. The authorities figured Ed, a husky German lad, didn't have a record, until they checked up and discovered that he has been in five of these fights. Today he had the struggle of his life to win over Alvin [Butch] Krueger, the Beloit redhead who whipped Gene Sarazen yesterday. They went to the thirty-seventh hole before Krueger, making his P. G. A. debut, gave up by 3 putting.

Watrous Beats Parks.

So much for the upper bracket. The underside brings the picture back to Armour and Smith. The latter is scheduled to trade drives and chips with Al Watrous of Detroit. Mr. Watrous, who used to be a boxer before he went in for golf, suffers no tremors at the idea of meeting champions. Last year he floored Gene Sarazen by a 4 and 3 count. Today he stretched his permanent grin a speck wider and also stretched Sam Parks Jr. of Pittsburgh, the national open titleholder, right out on the fifteenth green by the same count.

Armour also is due to have his worries. He will come out against Ed Dudley of the Brunswick, Ga., Dudleys, who got his pro start in this city, and is drawing all the cheers of the local bystanders. Today Dudley met Jimmy Thomson, the game's muscle man, but his smooth, rhythmic punch was too much for Jamie, and Ed ambled home a 6 to 4 winner.

Play Thirty-six Holes Today.

Tomorrow's quarter-finals, as well as Tuesday's semi-finals, and Wednesday's showdown, all will be at thirty-six holes. The hosts of this golf mad town think that Messrs. Zimmerman, Schultz, Watrous, and Dudley are all splendid fellows but the ideal semi-final arrangement to them would be Runyan against Revolta and a Chicago brush between Smith and Armour.

SKATING CLUB IS ADDED TO C. Y. O. SPORTS PROGRAM

A skating club has been made a permanent addition to the athletic program sponsored by the Catholic Youth organization, it was announced yesterday by Jack Elder, C. Y. O. athletic director.

Forming the nucleus of the skating team the C. Y. O. club will put on the field this winter will be Leo Freisinger. Freisinger is the holder of five world's intermediate records and is recognized as one of the greatest skaters in the central states.

OUR LADY OF GRACE WINS.

Our Lady of Grace scored twice in the fourth quarter to defeat Elmwood Park Merchants, 13 to 7, in a Midwest Football league game played at Lane Tech field yesterday.

Phagan and Battaglia Will Clash Tonight

A professional boxing show on the north side and two amateur fight cards and a wrestling program on the south side will comprise tonight's ring schedule.

A ten round return contest between Frank Battaglia and Johnny Phagan, Chicago middleweight sluggers, is the feature attraction at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Milt Aron, Jackie Sherman and Harold Brown will appear in supporting matches.

Aron will oppose Marty McHale, Cleveland, and Sherman is matched with Tommy Habel, Chicago, at five rounds. Brown will tackle Mickey O'Shea at four rounds. Another match at four rounds involves Bobby O'Dowd and Duke Calloway. Jim Landis will wrestle Ernie Peterson.

The wrestling show, headed by George Dusette and Clarence Smith, will be presented at White City Casino, 63d street and South Park avenue. Preliminary events pair Charles Grubmeyer and Babe Kasaboski, Larry Carlson and Lefty Pacer, Gerard Lauth and Jimmy Demetral, and Paul Miller and George Jonasen.

The amateur fight cards will be offered at the Johnny Coulon gymnasium, 1154 East 63d street, and Venetian hall, 139 Kensington avenue. Bob Wiley will oppose Emile Schiarato in the main event at the Coulon gym. Other contests there include those involving Al Owens and Nick Gallotte, Harold Schimmer and Orris Schow, and Robert Murphy and Lou Scorza. Roseland lodge, No. 1723, Order of the Sons of Italy, is sponsoring the card at Venetian hall. Orville Eighmay and Charles De Franco will appear in one of the eight matches carded there.

George Engel, Plymouth, Ind., welterweight, has been substituted for Bob La Monte against Billy Celebron, Rockford, at Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 4. . . . The oft postponed match between Frank Battaglia and Tony Zale, Gary, Ind., at Winnipeg, Man., has been rescheduled for Nov. 5. . . . Jackie Sharkey, popular local boxer, and Frank Wolfram, Canadian featherweight, will meet in another event on the card. . . . Sharkey is booked to fight on the Charley Retzlaff-Ford Smith program at St. Paul tomorrow. . . . Phil Pernice, north side fighter, and Miss Irene Grote were married the other day at Waukegan. . . . Andy Scrivani, Patsy Urso, Heinen Thomas and Al Wozniak will be headline principals in the amateur boxing show at Bloom High school gymnasium, Chicago Heights, Friday. . . . Proceeds will be used to buy equipment for the Chicago Heights fire department. . . . Ronny Rutt, bantamweight boxer, has started drills at the Allerton gymnasium in preparation for the impending Catholic Youth organization tournament.

Leo Rodak, South Chicago lightweight, will move to New York today to fulfill two contracts there within the next few weeks. His opponents likely will be Lou Lombardi and Cleto Locatelli. It is understood Rodak will be under the management of Hymie Caplan, who piloted Al Singer to the lightweight crown, during his stay in the east.—F. M.

McLEAN, TRAINER FOR NEBRASKA ATHLETES, DIES

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Martin J. [Doc] McLean, 49 years old, University of Nebraska athletic trainer, died at a hospital here today from a kidney ailment.

He was stricken last Oct. 5 at Ames, Ia., where he accompanied the Cornhusker football team for a game with Iowa State college, and was taken to a hospital here upon his return from Ames.

McLean was a native of Louisville, Ky. He came to Nebraska in 1915, after spending two years at Notre Dame university and two years at Johns Hopkins university as a student. He was a professional player in the Ohio and Pennsylvania league.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at Lincoln.

HEAP BIG CHIEF LITTLE WOLF TO FACE O'MAHONEY

Title Bout Heads Stadium Mat Card Tonight.

The Card

Man Mountain Dean vs. Floyd Marshall.

Jim McMillen vs. Emil Dusek.

Ernie Dusek vs. Olaf Oleson.

Ray Steele vs. Ricardo Santos.

George Calza vs. Pat Murphy.

A series of heavyweight wrestling bouts will be put on at the Chicago Stadium tonight with the head man of the division, young Dan O'Mahoney, appearing in the feature match in a defense of his title against Chief Little Wolf [born Ben Tenario.]

Others in tonight's show have given the card added attractiveness. Many of them have been frequently cast as headline principals in various other cities where the mat artists display their wares and are taken more or less seriously. There is Man Mountain Dean, who before he grew a flowing beard and successfully toured California and New York a few years ago, answered to the name of Frank [Soldier] Leavitt, and was just another Chicago wrestler who couldn't locate a market to demonstrate his artistic ability. He is booked to swap groans and holds with Floyd Marshall, a newcomer who calls Phoenix, Ariz., his home.

Dusek Boys on Program.

Then there are Jim McMillen, Ray Steele, and Olaf Oleson, all known here for a fine histrionic style. McMillen faces Emil Dusek and Oleson tackles the latter's brother, Ernie, while Steele will oppose Ricardo Santos. In addition, George Calza, long absent from local wrestling circles, will return to action against Pat Murphy.

Principals in the preliminary bouts, each of which is set for 30 minutes [unless a fall is scored] are experienced, and veterans schooled in the modern style of wrestling. Nevertheless, the star of the evening, the magnet upon which Matchmakers James C. Mullen and Nate Lewis are depending to attract at least 10,000 through the turnstiles is O'Mahoney, the champion.

O'Mahoney at all times appears to be in awe of everything that is going on around him. He can't seem to be trained to imitate his more experienced rivals in the art of making faces, of simulating intense pain and agony, and of emitting wild whoops or groans during a bout. All he has in mind is that he is supposed to wrestle somebody and throw him as quickly as possible. He leaves the showmanship to his rivals.

Makes Hit with Fans.

O'Mahoney, who arrived in this country last December, has proved to be an excellent Christmas present to his backers. He is extremely popular, especially with fans of Irish descent. He made a success of his debut at Boston Jan. 4 by throwing Emil Dusek. He continued to throw opponent after opponent and eventually commanded a match with Jim Londos, the old holder of the crown.

Wolf, a bronze skinned fellow 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighing 215 pounds, is no stranger to the fans. He has performed creditably in Colorado, on the Pacific coast, and New York in recent years. Last month he gave mat followers here their first glimpse of him when he defeated Emil Dusek at the Stadium. Included among his victims since then are Joe Savoldi and Floyd Marshall. He beat Savoldi in 27 minutes and 40 seconds at St. Louis Sept. 25. O'Mahoney pinned Savoldi in 32:36 here Sept. 16.

There'll Be No Holding Hands at Their Games

Tahlequah, Okla., Oct. 20.—(AP)—In the interest of more and louder yelling the student council has decreed boys and girls should not attend football games of Northeastern State Teachers college in pairs.

"There will be more yelling and rooting at the games," the council announced, "if the boys and girls are kept apart."

Soccer Trophy to Bohemians 7th Time, 2-0

BY OFFSIDE.

The largest soccer crowd of the season—5,000—turned out yesterday to see the Bohemians win the Cermak Memorial trophy for the seventh time by beating the Germans, 2-0, at Sparta stadium. In a preliminary the British beat the Scandinavians, 3-2.

After six minutes of play in the trophy game Vleck headed a goal past Riebe. For the next half hour, however, Riebe turned back every shot. Then Kriz slammed in a hard one to make the score 2-0. For the rest of the battle Riebe and Burda, the rival goalkeepers, had the better of the forwards.

Greenlees and Purden scored for the British in the first few minutes. Paulson made a goal for the Scandinavians after 35 minutes and just be- turned over to the Carmelite Fathers' found the net again, making it 3-1. Eid scored for the Scandianavians in the second half.

JERRY RODMAN TO RIDE IN 6-DAY BICYCLE RACE

Jerry Rodman, west side rider, will compete in Chicago's thirty-fourth international six day bicycle race which starts Nov. 10 in the Stadium. Rodman is busy now training for the race.

Rodman is looked upon today as Chicago's most promising young six day rider. It is only recently that he graduated from the ranks of the amateurs. Rodman developed quickly and within a year is expected to be one of the outstanding American six day riders.

Rodman is a protegé of Carl Stockholm who developed and coached him in the amateur ranks.

JONES SAYS HIS TEAM MAY WIN "A GAME OR TWO"

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Howard Jones, whose football coaching precipitated a verbal tilt last week with Charles Paddock, the former sprint star, surveyed another defeat today, but declared his University of Southern California team "Might win a game or two this season yet."

Jones, whose once mighty Trojans were toppled by Oregon State Saturday for the first conference loss this season, spoke as he prepared for this week's clash with California, undefeated this season.

"The boys are trying," said Jones. "They're trying hard. I'm going to have to make a few changes, but I'm trying to avoid them. We'll give California a ball game. We might win a game or two this season yet."

There were no repercussions over last week's verbal fire from Paddock, University of Southern California alumnus, who demanded more winning teams from Jones and less character building.

San Antonio Wins from St. Thomas Eleven, 7 to 6

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Rattlers of the University of San Antonio, Tex., beat St. Thomas, 7 to 6, today.

Blackhawks Continue Hunt for Right Wing

1,500 Watch Workout.

It was open house for the folks hereabouts and 1,500 watched the Blackhawks perform. Loughlin adhered to his announced plan of having the entire squad, with the exception of Goalies Chabot and Karakas, practice nothing but passing, ragging, and shooting high and low.

The method of pre-season hocky training which has been the vogue since the early days of the game and which consisted of scrimmaging from the day of reporting to the season's start, has been discarded by Loughlin, and while the old timers of the team looked askance when the Hawks' boss announced the new idea, they are now enthusiastically supporting him.

Keep Going Two Hours.

The Blackhawks' present manner of getting in shape keeps the entire squad of 22 players on the ice without any rest period for two hours in which they skate up and down, constantly passing and shooting. Four pucks are kept in operation through the workout.

WILLARD PLANS TOURNEY TO FIND TITLE CONTENDER

Willard said the contest would embrace "five or six states" and said he expected to develop a "white hope" to contend with Joe Louis, who he predicted will be the next champion.

Willard knocked out Jack Johnson, only colored fighter to win the heavyweight crown. Willard said he expected to see Louis beat both Max Schmeling and Jimmy Braddock by knockouts.

EUGENE FRANK, HOWARD CHATT LEAD CASTERS

DRY FLY ACCURACY—Howard Chatt and Eugene Frank, 95, tied for first; Frank Steel, 94, third.

⅝ OUNCE DISTANCE—Won by Howard Chatt, 266 feet average; A. D. Schyman, 246⅔ feet, second; Frank Steel, 213⅔ feet, third.

⅝ OUNCE ACCURACY—Howard Chatt and Eugene Frank, 95; tied for first; Frank Seagren, 94, third.

St. Mel, 13; St. Philip, 0.
De Paul, 33; Rita, 6.
De La Salle, 20; St. George, 0.

A lateral pass from the 18 yard line from Cramer to Brennan to Gallagher enabled Leo to defeat Mount Carmel, 7 to 0, before a crowd of 12,000 at Soldiers' field yesterday. The proceeds of the game were turned over to the Carmelite Fathers and Christian Brothers' fund.

The touchdown was made in the second period. The victory enabled Leo to maintain its first place position in the east section of the Catholic league. Leo has won three and tied one for a total of seven points, while De Paul is in second place with three victories or six points. De Paul yesterday scored a 33 to 6 victory over St. Rita at De Paul field.

St. Mel and Fenwick Win.

St. Mel and Fenwick remained undefeated in the west section race. St. Mel registered its third consecutive victory by triumphing, 13 to 0, over St. Philip, while Fenwick downed St. Ignatius, 13 to 6. Jimmy Oakey replaced Kernan in the third quarter and scored the two St. Mel touchdowns, one on a 20 yard run and the other on an 80 yard run.

Gordy Kearns scored four touchdowns for De Paul against St. Rita.

Loyola Beats Joliet.

Loyola won its first league game by defeating Joliet, 7 to 0. Don Sackley scored in the second quarter from the four yard line on a run around right end.

De La Salle beat St. George, 20 to 0, Young, Blum, and Carey making touchdowns.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1935: By The Chicago Tribune.]

A SERIES with Cincinnati in Tampa has been added to the Cubs' training schedule. . . . The National league champions have booked five with the Giants in Pensacola and one with the Yankees in St. Petersburg. . . . There probably will be about 20 games on the Cubs' Florida schedule when it is completed. . . . Harry Martin, Virginia half back, ran 47 yards against Davidson without making a first down. . . . Penalties had set back Virginia to where it was third down and 50 yards to go. . . . The long reign of Viktor Barna over international table tennis is seriously threatened. . . . His right arm, broken in an automobile accident in London last spring, has not knit properly and recently had to be reset. . . . George Raft, who used to be a semi-pro baseball player and professional fighter, is back in Hollywood with a collection of world series keepsakes that begins with the bat Goose Goslin used to win the series. . . . He also has the glove Pitcher Tommy Bridges wore in the deciding game, Mickey Cochrane's mask and seven baseballs, all autographed by the complete lineups of Cubs and Tigers. . . . Raft valued Goslin's bat so highly he sent his companion-stooge, Mack Grey, back to Hollywood with orders Gray never was to leave the bat out of his possession, even while eating in the dining car. . . .

Members of the Dayton club of the Middle Atlantic league received $54 apiece as their share of the championship playoffs with Zanesville. . . . Jimmy McLarnin, who has fought most of the leading fighters from bantamweights to welterweights, says Bud Taylor was the best he has met. . . . Bill Lamm, 145 pound Colorado university boxer, wrestler and half back, directs the school orchestra in his spare time. . . . Dick Hanley ranked third among the hundreds of salesmen in his insurance company for volume of business in August. . . . John Rozinka, Leonard Saaro and Albert Soumi, members of the national championship Babe Ruth hocky team last year, will play with a Denver, Colo., team this season under the direction of Kay Iverson, brother of the former Blackhawk manager. . . . MacDonald Smith once received $200 an hour for teaching a broker how to correct a slice. . . .

Jack Rothrock, Cardinal outfielder, lost 15 pounds last season, seven less than he lost in 1934. . . . Bob Zuppke plans to return to California for the Pittsburgh-U. S. C. game Dec. 14 and will remain over for the Rose Bowl battle. . . . Rollie Williams, Iowa basketball coach, has only two regulars available for this year's team, Barko and Rosenthal. . . . Barko will be lost at the start of the second semester. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—The National Boxing association ordered Jack Dempsey to defend his heavyweight title within six months. . . . The total receipts of the Pittsburgh-Washington series was $1,182,854, of which 10% went to the government. . . . Northwestern was preparing to meet the highly touted Tulane eleven. . . . Frankie Schaefer and Sidney Glick boxed a ten round draw at Indianapolis.

Dean's Offer of Atonement for Walkout Snubbed

Chattanooga, Tenn., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Replying to Dizzy Dean's offer to pitch for charity here to atone for having walked out on 375 fans in a scheduled exhibition game last week, Joe Engel, president of the Chattanooga baseball club, today said he never would permit the Cardinal hurler to appear in his park in any capacity.

Engel was sponsor of the game in which the loquacious tosser was to have appeared, the profits to have gone to a Christmas toy fund. After Dean refused to pitch because of the small crowd Engle protested to Commissioner K. M. Landis, and Dean later sent a message of apology with an offer to appear in a charity game later "if properly promoted."

Engel's wire sent to Dean at Dallas, Tex., said:

"Your wire received Oct. 19 offering apology and expressing regret for your behavior at exhibition game, Chattanooga, Oct. 17. Under no circumstances would I permit you to appear before my fans in any capacity, at any future date. Your attitude and action toward a most worthy cause is evidently exemplary of your inner self, and any one not in sympathy with a Christmas movement for wanting children of this country needs to be awakened. If this has been done may you enjoy a merry Christmas."

YALE SCHEDULES GAME ON NOV. 16 WITH LAFAYETTE

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Yale football team will play Lafayette at Yale bowl Nov. 16, Malcolm W. Farmer, chairman of the Yale Athletic association, announced tonight. In preparing the Yale schedule originally an open Saturday was left between the Brown game on Nov. 9 and the Harvard game on Nov. 23. It is the first season in several years in which Yale has scheduled as many as nine games.

Lafayette defeated Muhlenberg, 7 to 0, and has lost to Moravian, 6 to 0; to Albright, 38 to 0, and to Colgate, 52 to 0. Yale has defeated New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, and Navy. Yale has never met Lafayette.

KIEFER BREAKS WORLD'S RECORD IN BACKSTROKE

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Adolph Kiefer, young swimmer from the Lake Shore Athletic club of Chicago, today bettered the world's 100 meter backstroke record by covering the distance in 1 minute 7 seconds.

It was the second time within a week that Kiefer had bettered both the listed record of 1:08.2, held by George Kojac of New York, and the more recent mark of 1:07.4, set by Al Vande Weghe of Newark, N. J., which probably will be recognized at the next meeting of the International Amateur Swimming federation. The Chicago swimmer, touring Europe with two companions, made the time of 1:06.9 at Altona last Friday, but German sports officials say that mark will not be recognized, as it was made in a handicap race.

Where Are All Those Fancy Lateral Plays?

urday, 7 to 0, despite superiority in rushing and first downs, is the opponent for Ohio State. By winning, the Buckeyes will tie Michigan and Purdue in games won.

Michigan State was No. 1 on Saturday's list of upsets. The Spartans scored first by a forward pass, but collapsed before the rally of Boston college, 18 to 6. Duke, highly regarded in the south, was beaten by Georgia Tech, 6 to 0, bearing out prediction that the Rambling Wrecks are on the way out of the gridiron morass. Georgia, another of the best teams in the south, took North Carolina State, 13 to 0.

Fordham Comes Home, 13 to 7.

Holy Cross, until Saturday undefeated and unscored on, was tied by Manhattan's stirring drive, 13 to 3. Fordham staved off Vanderbilt's rally to win, 13 to 7. Southern Methodist surprised Rice, in the Southwest conference, and the Mustangs won, 10 to 0, in the fourth quarter.

Washington took a long stride toward Pacific coast honors by disposing of Washington State, 21 to 0. California won from Santa Clara, 6 to 0, while Southern California lost again, this time to Oregon State, 13 to 7.

PATRICK, PITT STAR, LEADS IN EAST SCORING

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Frank Patrick, Pittsburgh full back who scored his team's only points against Notre Dame Saturday, continue to show the way in scoring for football players of the east today.

Patrick is credited with 47 points, five more than his nearest rival, Eddie Stanley, Williams, and eleven more than the third man on the eastern list, Jaeger, Colgate.

The Pitt ace has six touchdowns, five points from tries after touchdowns and two field goals. He is high man in field goal kicking as well as scoring.

Stanley leads in the business of getting touchdowns with seven for his 42 points, while Jaeger has six. Joe Handrahan, Dartmouth guard, continues to lead in kicking points after touchdowns, making three against Brown for a total of 12 in four games.

Babe Ruth Gets Single in Farewell Game of Year

New York, Oct. 20.—Babe Ruth bade farewell to the diamond for 1935 and perhaps forever as an active player today when he contributed a single to the victory of the Springfield semi-pro team over the Bushwicks, 6 to 5, before 15,000 spectators. Babe, in a speech over the park's public address system, emphasized that his active days are over. Although playing first base, he appeared lively and fielded perfectly.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

EARLIER CHICAGO.

DEAR Wake: When I began going to the theater in 1866 there were only three such places of amusement in Chicago. They were McVicker's theater, located where it is at present; Col. Woods' museum on the north side of Randolph between Clark and Dearborn, and Emerson and Manning's Minstrels on the east side of Dearborn near Randolph.

Christmas in 1866 came in the middle of the week. I attended the Saturday matinée, where Joe Jefferson was playing "Rip Van Winkle," which I have since learned was the first performance of the play anywhere. Mr. Jefferson brought it to Chicago in the theater of his old friend, J. H. McVicker.

I shall never forget the performance. Old Rip was a good natured soul. He did not harm any one, but had one fault—he enjoyed the company of his old friends at the tavern. His account was chalked up on the blackboard, but nothing bothered him. On one occasion he was telling the frau how he took aim at a flock of ducks. She was impatient and made some noise. "Keep still," he admonished, "or you scare the ducks." She said, "And you killed the ducks?" He replied in his quiet tone, "And away flies the ducks."

After his long sleep Rip awakes, a few rags covering his body. "O, my arm. O, my leg. O, my back. I vonder what is the matter with me." Finally struggling to his feet and shading his eyes with his hands, "I vonder if dot is the village of Falling Water?" He stoops and attempts to pick up his gun.

There was a roar from the gallery as the gun fell apart. He calls for his dog Schneider, and is much disappointed at its failure to appear. His old friends are dead, he is told, and his inquiry about himself brings the same answer. "If Rip Van Winkle is dead, then who the devil beeish I?" he remonstrates.

It was a notable presentation by Mr. Jefferson, never to be forgotten.

WESTERN STATE TEACHERS FEAR DE PAUL POWER

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Coach Mike Gary's Western State Teachers are facing a chilling prospect for their homecoming football game Saturday with DePaul university. The Teachers conceded only a remote chance to stopping the Blue Demons.

DePaul will be seeking revenge for its defeat before a homecoming crowd last year here, when the Hilltoppers put over an upset, which they are hoping for again Saturday.

DePaul has a victory over Dayton, a tie with Texas Technical, and a defeat from Northwestern. Western State won from Illinois college and Western Kentucky and then lost to Chicago and Iowa Teachers.

Monday Evening Quarter Backs Size Up Bears

Among the spectators at the Bears-Dodgers' game yesterday at Wrigley field were 50 members of Arch Ward's quarter back club. These gentlemen were the only ones out of hundreds who responded who submitted the correct solution to Mr. Ward's football problem, presented over W-G-N last Monday night. They sat in a group comparing notes on the headwork of the professional players.

If you haven't tested your knowledge of football strategy, you will have an opportunity to do so tonight when THE TRIBUNE sports editor presents another problem in his weekly radio chat at 10 p. m. over W-G-N. Membership in the club is open to every one. Winners will be given tickets to next Sunday's game between the Bears and Green Bay Packers at Wrigley field.

Bears Win, 24-14; Go to First Place

Franklin Runs 62 yards.

Norman Franklin, a newcomer from Oregon State that the Cardinals sent to Brooklyn to help out their former coach, Paul Schissler, broke off tackle, slipped from the arms of Art Buss and Fred Crawford, and went 62 yards down the east side line for Brooklyn's first touchdown. He wound up the achievement with a victory over Grosvenor in a foot race from the 25 yard line.

The Bears received the kickoff and marched down the field again without giving up the ball. Sisk went 18 yards and then lateraled to Masterson, who added another 20 before lateraling to Johnsos, who tacked on four yards to complete a 42 yard gain on one play. When routine line plays brought the ball to the 12 yard line Manders dropped back to the 19 yard line and place kicked a field goal, making the score 24 to 7.

This margin seemed to satisfy the Bears and they eased up long enough to let Brooklyn get under way for its second touchdown. Kercheval intercepted a pass, Masterson to Johnsos, and returned 35 yards to the Bears' 24 yard line. Franklin picked up eight yards, White added two for a first down and then passed directly over center to Kercheval for 14 yards and a touchdown.

Stan Kostka, the former Minnesota full back, gave the Bears a few merry moments in the first quarter, ripping through the line for 31 yards in seven attempts, but was forced out of the game in the second quarter with a slight concussion. His condition was not serious, doctors reported.

19-10 in First Downs.

The Bears' superiority was attested by the statistics. They made 19 first downs to Brooklyn's 10 and gained 516 yards against 225 for Brooklyn. The Bears' total represented 367 yards by rushing, 75 yards by passing, and 74 yards on laterals. Brooklyn made only 138 yards by rushing and 11 on laterals. In attempted 20 passes the Dodgers completed 6 for 76 yards. The Bears completed 3 out of 20 passes for 75 yards.

Feathers, the league's ground gaining record holder, was the Bears' most consistent back, making 85 yards in 13 attempts. Manders had 60 yards in 14 attempts, and Pollock piled up 56 yards in 8 plays. The chief ground gainer in the game, however, was Franklin, who accounted for 90 of his teams' 138 yards from scrimmage, although he carried the ball only five times.

GIANTS DEFEAT REDSKINS, 17-6, IN EARLY ATTACK

New York Scores All Points in First Five Minutes.

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The New York pro football team, the Giants, defeated the Boston Redskins, 17 to 6, today at the Polo grounds before 20,000 in a National league game which saw the Giants amass all their points in the first five minutes.

It started when Leland Shaffer, a half back, intercepted a Boston pass on Boston's 25 yard line. A couple of line bucks failed to gain a first down and then Ken Strong kicked a 25 yard field goal.

Blocked Punt Leads to Score.

A few plays after the kickoff, End Red Badgro blocked a punt by Cliff Battles and the Giants' new full back, Les Corzine, formerly of Davis and Elkins, picked up the ball and raced ten yards to a touchdown. Strong kicked from placement for the extra point.

Two passes, thrown by Danowski, opened the way for the second touchdown. The first, thrown to Shaffer, netted 26 yards, and the second, caught by Tod Goodwin, put the ball on the Redskins' one yard line. Kink Richards stepped over the line and Harry Newman, making his first appearance for the Giants this season, kicked the extra point.

Redskins Come to Life.

The Redskins came to life in the second half and for a time stubbornly kept the Giants on the defensive. Pug Rentner returned the second half kickoff 22 yards to Boston's 43 yard line and then made 12 yards around the Giants' right end. He flipped a pass to Tosi, good for 26 yards, Battles carried it 14 yards to the New York 5 yard line and then in three more plays Battles carried it over but failed in his kick for the extra point. RESERVE BANKS' LOANS INCREASE BY 179 MILLION

Deposits Reported in Gain of $882,000,000.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Commercial, industrial and agricultural loans of member banks in leading cities increased by $179,000,000 to a total of $3,299,000,000, while loans on real estate at $955,000,000 showed an increase of $6,000,000 during the eight weeks period from July 31 to Sept. 25, the federal reserve board reported today in a survey in its current bulletin.

Total loans and investments by this class of member banks on Sept. 25 was put at $19,126,000,000, an increase of $619,000,000 from July 31 and $1,337,000,000 for the year.

Acceptances and commercial paper bought by these banks increased by about $21,000,000 in the eight weeks, a reversal of the trend for preceding months.

Summary of Situation.

	Sept.25, 1935.	—Change since— July 3, 1935.	Sept.26, 1934.
Loans on securities—
To brokers and dealers in New York City	825	..	+ 139
To others	2,121	— 21	— 273
Acceptances and commercial pap. bought	312	+ 21	— 145
Loans on real estate	955	+ 6	— 31
Other loans	3,299	+179	+ 29
Investments—
U. S. government direct obligations	7,633	+253	+1,002
Obligations fully guaranteed by U. S.	981	+ 89	*+ 547
Other securities	3,000	+ 92	*+ 69
Total loans and investments	19,126	+619	+1,337

*Figures for Sept. 26, 1934, partly estimated.

Commenting on the fact that although there had been a rise in stock prices and an increase in stock market activities in recent months, loans to brokers and dealers had shown little growth, the board said that fluctuations had probably reflected changes in borrowings of security dealers.

Gain in Deposits.

Deposits at member banks in ninety-one leading cities, the board said, reached $23,887,000,000 on Sept. 25, an increase of $882,000,000 since June 26 and $3,104,000,000 in the year.

Deposits of the United States government at $677,000,000 on Sept. 25 were $3,000,000 greater than on June 26 and $415,000,000 less than one year ago. Demand deposits at $13,191,000 were $2,251,000,000 greater than in the preceding year, and time deposits at $4,297,000,000 had declined $66,000,- for the year.

Interbank deposits were $4,822,000,000 on Sept. 25, an increase of $295,000,000 since June 26 and $955,000,000 for the year and those of foreign banks at $295,000,000 had increased $35,000,000 since June 26 and $162,000,000 for the year.

Adjusted demand deposits, those solely of individuals, partnerships, corporations, clubs, associations, etc., showed an increase of $420,000,000 in the third quarter of the year and $2,190,000,000 for the year.

WILL REPORT ON 3 YEAR STUDY OF DEPRESSIONS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Dr. Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings institution of Washington, reports officially tomorrow night the results of a three year, $150,000 study by his organization of American depressions.

More than 300 business executives will attend the banquet where the scientist will give his interpretation of the voluminous findings to the sponsors of the inquiry, the Falk foundation.

The report, already partially released, concludes that no amount of redistribution of existing wealth can bring substantial economic progress, but that this must come through an effective distribution of a greatly enlarged productive output. It holds that such a goal can be attained only if the benefits of increased effciency, both human and technological, are passed along to the entire people in lower commodity prices.

LABOR TROUBLES FORCE FACTORY FROM COUNTRY

Collinsville, Ill., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The St. Louis Smelting and Refining company is moving its Collinsville plant to the Argentine because of labor troubles here.

Equipment which cannot be replaced more economically than it can be transported will be taken to South America. It will go by rail to St. Louis, by barge to New Orleans, by an ocean going vessel to Buenos Aires, and again by river boat up the Rio de le Plata to its destinations in the Chaco territory.

J. A. Caselton, vice president and secretary of the company, said it is hoped to start smelting operations in about four months. Shipment of equipment will start next week. The plant here has been closed for more than a year. Caselton said the Progressive miners "virtually tried to run our plant."

ITALY'S SUPPLY OF GOLD SHOWN DECLINING FAST

Reserve Puts Total at 379 Million.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Italy's falling gold reserve, the figure by which some experts measure that warring nation's ultimate cash buying power on world markets, received special comment today from the federal reserve board.

As diplomats pondered Mussolini's resources and asked each other "how long can Italy go on?" against league of nations' sanctions, including a boycott of Fascist exports, the reserve board emphasized "the continual decline in gold reserves of the Bank of Italy."

Its monthly bulletin attributed the trend "less to capital transactions, which are now subject to government control, than to the country's adverse balance of merchandise trade."

Legal Minimum Abandoned.

The board also noted that the legal minimum of gold reserve behind the lire—40 per cent—had been abandoned last July and said that reserve now has dropped to only 29 per cent.

Those seeking to evaluate Italy's strength in a drawnout conflict, especially if an export embargo should prove effective in cutting off the establishment of foreign balances through merchandise sales, gave attention to the board's newest figures on Rome's gold supply.

Federal reserve experts estimate this metal stock at $379,000,000, a drop of $140,000,000 during 1935. It compared with $1,595,000,000 for Britain whose warships crowd the Mediterranean; France's $4,770,000,000; Russia's $856,000,000 and Belgium's $604,000,000. Spain and Switzerland also outranked Italy while the huge United States hoard of gold exceeded $9,500,000,000.

Gold From Italy.

The board indicated that some of the gold recently pouring into this country from abroad may have come from Italy after being sold to Paris to maintain Italian exchange.

"The Bank of Italy has been losing reserves since April 1928," the reserve board said. "Although gold reserves increased until the beginning of 1934, the increase was more than offset by the exhaustion of the bank's reserves in foreign exchange.

"During 1934, with foreign exchange reserves no longer available, the bank parted with substantial amounts of gold and by the end of the year its reserves were down practically to the legal minimum of 40 per cent.

"In December 1934 decrees were issued by the government requiring the Italian public to place their foreign balances and securities at the disposition of the authorities, and these resources enabled the bank to maintain its reserve position intact during the first half of 1935.

Ratio Falls to 29 Per Cent.

"In June 1935, however, the decline in gold reserves of the bank was resumed and on July 22 the government suspended the bank's reserve requirements. In the next two months more than $100,000,000 of gold was withdrawn and the reserve ratio fell to 29 per cent."

In discussing the recent gold flow to the United States, the board said:

"The disturbed political conditions in Europe, which have intensified the movement of capital to this country in recent weeks, have operated mainly upon those financial centers which capital transactions are hampered.

"This heavy movement of gold does not reflect an excess of payments due to the United States on ordinary transactions with the world. The inflow of gold has been caused by a heavy movement of capital to this country, offset in part by purchases of silver abroad by the United States treasury."

Rise in Wheat Is Halted by Foreign News

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Two main factors served last week to check the upward swing in wheat prices in the principal markets of the world.

The foreign political developments, which suggested that an armed conflict involving the principal European powers had been averted—temporarily at least—brought on liquidation of wheat that had been purchased in the belief that a war was imminent. At the same time came realization that harvest returns in the southern hemisphere—Argentina in particular—will probably exceed earlier tentative estimates.

Wheat in Chicago has been fluctuating with the changes in the price level in the world market because of this country's dependence to a limited extent this year on imports.

Chicago Prices Decline.

Coincident with a general decline in world prices last week the Chicago market receded approximately 3½ cents a bushel as measured by quotations on the December contract.

The great drouth in the wheat producing regions of Argentina—comparable in scope and intensity with that experienced in this country in 1934—has been definitly broken. Long delayed rains brought relief to the country that had been suffering for months from extreme dryness.

Argentine Surplus Larger.

Argentina is not likely to challenge Canada's position this year as the big world wheat supplier but it is now regarded probable that she will have a bigger surplus to offer for sale than either Europe or Canada had counted on.

With added evidence of the improvement made in Argentina and peaceful gestures on the part of Italy, France and England in the week just ended there was small incentive for speculators to exploit further the bull side of the wheat market here last week. The underlying domestic conditions which have provided the basis for a strong market in recent weeks have not changed but foreign influences were strong enough to turn prices downward.

Price Range for Week.

Gary Electric Warant Offer Becomes Effective

An advance distribution of stock of the Gary Electric and Gas company as called for by warants issued under the plan of extension of its bonds, approved last December, was announced yesterday by John N. Shanahan, president. Under the plan for extending $8,000,000 of first lien collateral 5 per cent gold bonds, series A, a stock warant was issued for each $1,000 bond, each warant being exchangeable for 15 shares of stock without cost. The bonds became due July 1, 1934, and were extended for ten years.

Oil Refining Employment, Pay Rolls Above "Normal"

Employment and pay rolls are above normal in the refining branch of the petroleum industry, according to the American Petrolium institute, which says employment in that branch was 10 per cent above the average during the first 7 months of 1935.

STEEL OUTPUT EASES DESPITE MOTOR BUYING

Production Is Put at 51% of Capacity.

Refuting the contentions of other reviews that lagging orders from the automobile industry were responsible for the current easiness in steel production, the magazine Steel says that on the contrary other sources—such as tin plate mills, railroads, and structural materials—have caused another dip of 1 point to 51 per cent in the steel mill operating rate.

The brake on steel output is not due to any lack of specifications from automobile manufacturers, whose requirements are steadily increasing, the journal says. Automobile production last week totaled 44,500 cars, a gain of 13,000 over the preceding week. The Ford Motor company was negotiating for a substantial tonnage which may exceed its July purchases, according to the weekly review.

Largest Decline in Chicago.

The largest decline in the steel operating rate during the week was in Chicago where production dipped 3 points to 55 per cent. Pittsburgh declined 2 points to 46 per cent, and Buffalo a like amount to 50 per cent. Youngstown advanced 2 points to 58 per cent, Cleveland, 3 points to 62 per cent, and eastern Pennsylvania, 1 point to 38 per cent, while other areas were unchanged.

The journal says that despite the drop in steel ingot output there is sustained confidence in the underlying soundness of the markets, due to the sharply rising trend in merchant pig iron. Demand for this product is said to be more than double the prediction of producers at the opening of this quarter. Indicative of this trend is the Chicago market, where a record movement of pig iron is under way, with another steelworks blast furnace being lighted and two more stacks scheduled for operation this month. Pittsburgh, also a leading producer, is preparing to blow in another blast furnace.

Scrap Moves More Slowly.

Scrap is moving more slowly, but Chicago mills have purchased 60,000 tons. Scrap exports to Europe, the journal points out, are virtually suspended, due to the prohibitive vessel rates and Italy's refusal to pay cash.

The state department is reported to be waiting for final action by the league of nations on a subcommittee's recommendation for an embargo on iron, steel and raw materials to Italy.

The magazine's iron and steel price composite declined 3 cents to $32.83 a ton, and the scrap composite dipped 4 cents to $12.71 a ton, while the finished steel index remains at $53.70 a ton.

Over 3,000 A. & P. Workers to Hold Meeting Tonight

More than 3,000 employés of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company will attend a meeting of the organization tonight in the Civic Opera house. A. G. Hoadley, D. B. Austin, L. P. Hammond, and B. F. Friele, officials of the concern, will address the gathering. Entertainment will be provided by Kate Smith and her company.

MEAT PACKERS TO OPEN ANNUAL MEETING TODAY

Hundreds of packers from all parts of the country will discuss the outlook for live stock supplies at the opening meetings today of the annual convention of the Institute of Meat Packers at the Drake hotel. Frank A. Hunter of St. Louis, chairman of the board of the institute, will give the opening address.

Leverett S. Lyon of Washington, executive vice president of the Brookings institution, will talk at the opening session on "Some Current Forces in the Field of Distribution." Later William Diesing, vice president of the Cudahy Packing company, Omaha, will discuss the outlook for beef and small stock, and W. S. Nicholson, vice president of Wilson & Co., Inc., will discuss the outlook for pork.

Coincident with the convention there will be a display of packing house equipment and supplies in the Tower and French rooms of the Drake. More than 300 companies have memberships in the institute.

JAPAN REVEALS HUGE SMUGGLING OF CHINA SILVER

[Copyright: 1935: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, Oct. 20.—Silver smuggling from China on an enormous scale appears to be revealed by the September trade figures, which show exports of silver from Japan in September amounted to 20,973,000 yen, compared with 1,350,000 in September, 1934. The yen is currently quoted at 28¾ cents. The officially recorded imports of silver amounted to only 1,675 yen.

Exports of silver for the last nine months amounted to 144,160,000 yen, compared with 7,625,000 yen for the corresponding period last year. The recorded imports in the same period last year were only 2,535 yen. Japan's production of silver averages under 8,000,000 yen yearly.

CHICAGO MERCHANTS FIND WARM WEATHER HANDICAPS BUSINESS

A sharp rise in temperatures last week adversely affected retail sales here, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. While volume compared well with last year, the buoyancy of recent weeks was noticeably retarded.

Wholesale sales maintained a steady pace, with buying for the early holiday trade in the ascendancy. In the clothing field, higher priced merchandise was in demand, with prices continuing to mount.

$5,500,000 Crown Cork Bonds Offered Today

Public offering will be made today by Paine, Webber & Co. of a new issue of $5,500,000 fifteen year 4 per cent sinking fund bonds of Crown Cork and Seal company. Proceeds will be applied to redemption of $4,313,500 principal amount of sinking fund bonds due Dec. 1, 1947, now outstanding. The bonds are priced at 100 and interest.

UNION PACIFIC HEADS CHEERFUL OVER BUSINESS

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Ten officials of the Union Pacific railroad, including its president and the chairman of its board of directors, were unanimous today in the opinion that business is not only much better than in many years but also that it apparently has more "substance."

"The occasional flares of the last few years faded so soon, but it now appears that we actually are coming back into a place in the sun," was the comment of W. A. Harriman of New York, chairman of the board of directors. Carl R. Gray of Omaha, president of the railroad, said the conversion of 2,000 box cars from wood to steel construction in the company's Omaha shops is evidence of the company's faith in a "rosy future."

Floridan to Run Daily Instead of Tri-Weekly

The Floridan, de luxe train to Florida, will operate on a daily instead of a tri-weekly schedule as a result of the pickup in business to the southern resorts in recent years, the Illinois Central system announced yesterday. The train goes into service immediately after the first of the year and continues until April. This will be the first time since 1931 that the train will be operated daily. It was also announced that the running time will be reduced.

Trade Talkies to Utilize Old Essanay Studio

Wilding Picture Productions, Inc., makers of commercial talking pictures, announced yesterday that Chicago has been chosen as the firm's middle western production headquarters. The firm has acquired the old Essanay studio at 1333 Argyle street, which was the production scene in the early days of the industry of the first moving pictures starring such figures as Gloria Swanson, Wallace Beery, "Broncho Billy" Anderson, Bryant Washburn, Charlie Chaplin, and others who gained wide fame.

The building will be remodeled and equipped with modern sound picture apparatus and facilities. It will be used for the staging and production of business sound films, of which the Wilding firm is the largest maker.

Large Studio Here.

At the present time the company has studios in Hollywood, Detroit, and on Long Island. The Chicago plant, which will be opened about Dec. 1, will be the largest sound film studio outside of Hollywood, with the single exception of the same company's Long Island studio, the announcement said. The company has established temporary Chicago offices at 624 South Michigan avenue.

The company will bring technicians from Detroit and Hollywood to staf its new studio which, it was announced, will be equipped with the double system recording units of the type used by the major producers of standard films.

Founded in 1915.

The company was founded in 1915 by Norman E. Wilding, who is still its head. It was one of the first concerns in the commercial picture field and has produced sound films for a number of the country's leading corporations, including the large automobile companies.

The director of the new studio has not been named. L. Mercer Francisco, formerly advertising manager of the Curtis companies of Clinton, Ia., and a former Chicago advertising man, will head the Chicago sales and service staf. John R. Kneebone, formerly with the Curtis Publishing company, will be in direct charge of sales.

Union Carbide Reports $6,154,725 Quarter Profit

Union Carbide and Carbon corporation reports for the third quarter of 1935 a net income of $6,154,725, equal to 68.38 cents a share on the 9,000,743 shares of common stock outstanding. This compares with net earnings of 59.25 cents in the preceding quarter of this year and 48.35 cents in the corresponding quarter of last year.

GOOD BUSINESS NEWS BOOSTS STOCK PRICES

Liquor and Packing Shares Climb.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Oct. 20.—Cheerful business news keeps speculators looking on the sunny side of the stock market in spite of the ebb and flow of opinion on the so-called Ethiopian complication.

The "averages" rose last week to within a fraction of their high for the year and many trading favorites went soaring to the best price levels since September, 1931. At the close of business yesterday virtually all the ground lost in the scare over the actual outbreak of hostilities in Africa—about 8 points—had been regained. Trading was at the liveliest clip since the week of Sept. 8, the volume for the week totaling 10,459,858 shares.

Number of Favorites.

Liquor, automobile, equipment, and packing shares are the current market favorites. Individual features of the last week included Chrysler and Western Union, in which the New Deal era equivalent of pool activity is strongly suspected, and Packard, which was turned over in tremendous volume at rising prices during the last two or three sessions of the week.

Utility and railroad shares continue to lag in spite of some extremely favorable statistics put out in their behalf. The figures on the power and light group showed the highest consumption in the history of the industry.

Helps Steel Shares.

Reports that the steel industry, recovered from its late setback, is being maintained above 50 per cent of theoretical plant capacity were beneficial to the steel shares, and a number of store issues turned up rather neatly on reports of the mercantile agencies showing an increase last week of 10 to 20 per cent in eastern retail sales over 1934, of 10 to 20 per cent in the middle west, and of 8 to 15 per cent in the country as a whole. To cap the array the Moody business index was the best since July, 1933, and country-wide bank clearings were reported as 28 per cent above 1934.

Brokerage house opinion looks to the continuance of the general improvement in this final quarter of the year, with a stream of new "highs" in various lines to stimulate optimism.

GIFTS IN TRUST
... what economies can they bring to your estate plans?

PARTICULARLY timely is the new folder just issued by The Northern Trust Company, entitled "Gifts in Trust ... Their use in net estates ranging from $100,000 to $5,000,000."

When the Revenue Act of 1935 was approved last August 30th, increased estate taxes became applicable at once. But the new gift tax rates do not go into effect until next January 1st.

The situation has focused new interest on gifts in trust as a step toward greater economy in estate transfer. And it is the purpose of The Northern Trust Company's new tax folder to give you and your attorney a quick summary of the possible savings to be realized. They are in many instances considerable.

You are invited to request a copy of this folder for discussion with your attorney.

TRADING RULES ON 'WHEN ISSUED' STOCKS RELAXED

SEC Sets Up High Margins for Transactions.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—(AP)—The securities and exchange commission reopened the nation's stock markets today to trading in securities before they are issued, but under stringent rules designed to protect investors.

Such trading was cut off by the securities exchange act pending the preparation of commission rules, in order to prevent manipulation, creation of excessive prices for the stock when it was issued, and purely speculative trading.

Theoretically, "when-issued" trading is instituted when a company announces it intends to issue a security. It constitutes the purchase and sale of contracts among individuals and brokers calling for delivery of the stock when it is issued.

Favored Customer Lists.

The senate banking investigation in 1933 brought out that such trading often boosted prices to the point where lists of favored customers already had a sizable paper profit when the actual stock certificates reached the market.

The commission's rules governing trading on exchanges require registration of "when-issued" contracts. Such registration will be given only when there is definite assurance the security actually will be issued. Further only securities that will be issued by companies already listed, or admitted to unlisted trading, on an exchange may be registered, thereby entirely eliminating new companies from when-issued trading on an organized stock exchange.

Set up High Margins.

High margins are set up, 100 per cent on net long committments in unlisted warrants, and 45 per cent of the current market value in other unissued securities. A warant is a security giving the holder the right to buy an actual security at a certain price. The federal reserve board simultaneously issued rules supporting these margin requirements.

The commission may revoke registration if there appears to be trading that creates fictitious activity, or a price not in line with true values. It can refuse or revoke registration for a variety of reasons to protect investors.

Argentine-German Trade Pact to Aid Meat Industry

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Argentine meat industry will be aided by an extension of the Argentine-German trade agreement for another year, starting Nov. 1, it was disclosed today. An additional clause to the existing agreement provides Germany will admit 25,000 metric tons of chilled frozen meat.

National Tea Pfd.

Investors' Guide: I would like your opinion of National Tea preferred.—S. A. M.

Answer: National Tea company operates 1,224 retail grocery stores in the middle west, mainly in Chicago, Minneapolis, and St. Paul. Both earnings and sales followed a generally downward trend from 1929 to 1934. Sales during the first 36 weeks of 1935, however, were up 1.2 per cent over the corresponding 1934 period.

Preferred dividend requirements have been earned by ample margins. The 5½ per cent $10 par stock is entitled to annual cumulative dividends of 55 cents a share.

In the 24 weeks to June 15, 1935, earnings equaled $1.58 per preferred share, virtually the same as in the corresponding 1934 period. In 1934 the company earned an equivalent of $3.13 per preferred share, against $7.98 per preferred share in 1933, $5.99 in 1932, $4.76 in 1931 and $6.20 in 1930.

The stock is rather high grade.

Central Mining and Development.

Investors' Guide: I would like some information concerning stock of Central Mining and Development company, incorporated in Arizona, which I have been holding for a number of years.—F. N. O.

Answer: Central Mining and Development company was organized in 1906 in Arizona with a capitalization of 10,000,000 shares of $1 par stock. Land consisted of nine claims, one fractional, covering 175 acres, a millsite and a 160 acre ranch. Its main office was in Winkleman, Pinal county, Arizona.

We understand that it never was profitable. The entire management was changed in 1908.

The company has since been reported dead and we believe that the stock is now worthless.

Sears Roebuck Dividend.

Investors' Guide: Can you tell me whether Sears Roebuck have paid their dividend or will it be paid in October, as I own a few shares and did not receive a check? Thank you in advance for this information.—T. A. L.

Answer: Sears Roebuck & Co. stock paid a 75 cent dividend on May 1, 1935. This, however, did not put the stock on a regular dividend paying basis. Nothing additional has since been declared or paid.

STRONG DEMAND FOR NEW BONDS FEATURES WEEK

Three Issues Totaling 120 Million Oversubscribed.

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Heavy oversubscription to three issues of domestic corporation bonds aggregating $120,000,000 monopolized interest in investment quarters last week.

Existing obligations were neglected for the most part and tended to drift lower under small and scattered offerings that represented in and out trades. There also was some readjustment of portfolios to accommodate newly acquired issues. United States government bonds were quiet and steady during the forepart of the week, but developed slight softness toward the close.

Principal news affecting the federal list was the final conversion of Liberty loan bonds which called for a cash outlay of around $250,000,000, or a shade better than 20 per cent of the total bonds converted.

Foreign bonds underwent the usual fluctuations that have featured this division since the African war became a vital factor, but on balance some ground was lost, especially by Italian issues. A rise in Canadian government and private securities followed the dominion elections early in the week.

Of the three corporate bond issues marketed during the week two were for refunding purposes and the other—$55,000,000 of Anaconda Copper Mining 4½s—represented strictly "new" money.

IN THE COURT OF CHANCERY OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE in and for New Castle County.

GORDON BURT AFFLECK, Complainant, against
GENERAL THEATRES EQUIPMENT, INC.,
a corporation created by and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware, Respondent.

NOTICE

To All Creditors, Holders of Certificates of Deposit Representing Debentures, Stockholders, and Holders of Voting Trust Certificates of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., and All Other Interested Parties:

NOTICE is hereby given that ARTHUR W. LOASBY, EDWARD C. DELAFIELD, HARRY S. DURAND, LLOYD S. GILMOUR, ARTHUR PECK, CONRAD H. POPPENHUSEN, SETON PORTER and RAY W. STEPHENSON, as a Debentureholders' Committee, constituted under Deposit Agreement dated as of February 10, 1932, and as a Reorganization Committee constituted under a proposed Plan and Agreement of Reorganization hereinafter mentioned, have filed in the above entitled proceeding a petition for leave to intervene therein, and, among other things, for approval of the proposed Plan and Agreement of Reorganization of said General Theatres Equipment, Inc., dated August 31, 1935, and of a proposed amendment to the above mentioned Deposit Agreement, copies of which proposed Plan and Agreement, Deposit Agreement and proposed amendment thereto, being attached to said petition, and praying, among other things, that an order be entered fixing a date for a hearing on said petition.

The Court made an order, dated the 7th day of October, 1935, fixing the 13th day of November, 1935, at 10:30 o'clock A. M. as the time and the County Court House, Wilmington, Delaware, as the place for the consideration of said petition and the relief therein prayed for. As more fully provided in said order, any creditor, any holder of a certificate of deposit issued under said Deposit Agreement, or stockholder or holder of a voting trust certificate for stock of said General Theatres Equipment, Inc., and any other party in interest, shall be entitled to appear at said hearing and be heard upon all matters to be considered by the Court at said hearing, including the fairness of said proposed Plan and Agreement, of said proposed amendment to said Deposit Agreement, of the terms and conditions under which holders of certificates of deposit issued under said Deposit Agreement shall be permitted to withdraw therefrom upon filing with the Depositary thereunder of said amendment thereto and of said Plan and Agreement (changed as set forth in said petition), and of the terms and conditions of the issuance and exchange of all securities issuable under said Proposed Plan and Agreement. Copies of said proposed Plan and Agreement may be obtained by any creditor or stockholder or holder of a voting trust certificate for stock of General Theatres Equipment, Inc., or holder of a certificate of deposit issued under said Deposit Agreement, or other party in interest, who has not already received the same, upon written request addressed to City Bank Farmers Trust Company, 22 William Street, New York, N. Y., as Depositary of said Debentureholders' Committee. Said petition, among other things, prays that said Court will:

(a) Grant leave to petitioners to intervene;

(b) Take jurisdiction and supervision of the Deposit Agreement and of all amendments thereto;

(c) Take jurisdiction of said proposed Plan and Agreement, including the proposed changes therein referred to in said petition, and approve the same as fair and equitable;

(d) Approve the filing with the Depositary under said Deposit Agreement of said Plan and Agreement as so changed and said amendment of the Deposit Agreement;

(e) Approve the provisions of the Deposit Agreement relating to the right which accrues to depositors thereunder to withdraw therefrom upon the adoption by said Debentureholders' Committee of said Plan and Agreement and upon the amendment by said Debentureholders' Committee of the Deposit Agreement, including the terms and conditions on which depositors, upon withdrawal, may surrender their certificates of deposit and receive in exchange therefor debentures and coupons represented thereby, and the terms and conditions upon which depositors will become bound by said Plan and Agreement and said amendment of said Deposit Agreement, when adopted as aforesaid, in the event such depositors shall not exercise such right of withdrawal;

(f) Approve the determination by said Debentureholders' Committee of the pro rata share of the compensation and expenses of said Committee and the expenses on transfer and delivery, to be paid by depositors under the said Deposit Agreement as a condition to withdrawal therefrom and approve the giving of notice to such depositors, in the form and manner referred to in said petition, of such determination and of the provisions referred to in (e) above;

(g) Approve the terms and conditions of the issuance and exchange of all securities issuable under said Plan and Agreement;

(h) Approve the giving of notice to creditors, to holders of certificates of deposit issued under said Deposit Agreement, and to holders of voting trust certificates for stock of the company, in the manner referred to in said petition, of the adoption of the Plan and Agreement and the right of such creditors and holders to participate therein;

(i) Grant such other, further and additional relief as may be just and equitable in the premises.

The aforesaid hearing may be adjourned from time to time without further notice otherwise than by announcement at the hearing or at any adjournment thereof.

Dated, October 11, 1935.

DANIEL O. HASTINGS,
Receiver of General Theatres Equipment, Inc.
By Order of the Court.

WARNS MOUNTING DEFICIT HOLDS BUSINESS BACK

Former Budget Chief Raps Federal Spending.

The mounting federal deficit, which now exceeds 15 billion dollars, has raised fears of the ultimate destruction of currency and savings to such a point that it is definitly retarding business recovery and reëmployment, says Lewis W. Douglas, former director of the budget in the Roosevelt administration, in the current issue of the Atlantic Monthly.

Douglas predicts that unless a halt is called impoverishment of the entire people through currency depreciation eventually will result. He assails the policy of deliberate government spending that has created such deficits and dismisses the use of ordinary and extraordinary budgets as a trick of bookkeeping. He points out that the enormous deficit has been financed, not by selling bonds to investors, but through the sale of bonds to banks, creating a tremendous and dangerous fiat credit inflation.

Spending Always Disastrous.

"There is nothing new about the experiment of government spending as an instrument of recovery," he writes. "It has been tried at various times by many governments. The result has always been the same. It has invariably led to debasement of the currency, destruction of savings, ruination of the middle classes and impoverishment of the entire people.

"We are told the exigencies of the times and the social need for large government spending justify the accumulation of an enormous deficit. This is the same old story. Circumstances are always unusual. It is one thing to rationalize a deficit and another thing to liquidate it."

Douglas says the United States has the largest deficit of all nations, both in total amount and in relation to income. The 11 billion dollar deficit incurred in the four years from 1931 was more than double the government's income.

Deficits Cause Fiat Credit.

"If deficits of a country are financed out of savings that is an indication credit still exists," he continues. "But the United States has financed its deficit by creation of fiat credit issued by the country's banks in exchange for huge amounts of government bonds, which have been virtually forced upon them by the government. Except for certain technical differences, this method differs little from the thoroughly discredited method of selling government bonds to central banks, which create currency to pay for them."

Douglas said many governments in South America have deluded the people with the devise of the extraordinary budget. In all cases, he said, a collapse of the currency and destruction of the people's savings have resulted, for it has proved impossible to stop extraordinary expenditures and the deficits they create, which necessitated continued borrowing which lead to bankruptcy.

Hard to Stop Spending.

"There are few instances in which other nations have had the fortitude and determination to stop government spending," he continued. "Once started they are seldom relinquished. Deficits, incurred in the hope they will promote recovery, defeat their own purpose because as they continue they cause a growing fear of currency destruction and radical social changes.

"This fear discourages the use of savings in new capital investment. Without such capital investment permanent reëmployment of idle workers cannot be achieved. Instead of permanent employment of workers in productive enterprise we have temporary and unproductive employment by the government itself, which may give a temporary appearance of recovery. But it has no solid foundation, for it disappears when government spending stops. And sooner or later government spending must stop."

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING IS

ADVERTISING!

PEOPLE enter a museum to admire. They shop department store art galleries with an eye to buying. The difference in frame of mind illustrates an asset which only newspaper advertising enjoys.

Readers of newspapers turn each day consciously to the advertising columns in order to learn who in their community offers at what price what they want that day. Newspaper advertising is point-of-shopping advertising!

It gets immediate results. It translates readers into buyers with least time and at lowest cost.

The newspaper advertiser on any day of the week and in the locality in which the reader lives can picture and describe merchandise, give its price and tell where it can be bought —at a time when the reader is planning the day's buying.

FREIGHT TRAFIC RISE HINTS OF NEW RAIL BUYING

Some Roads Feel Pinch of Rolling Stock Needs.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—(AP)—A spurt in car loadings has revived hopes in quarters that the trafic-hungry railroads may be brought back into the market for new equipment in substantial volume.

Loadings have risen above 700,000 cars weekly for the first time since 1931 and some roads are said to be feeling the pinch of need for additional rolling stock.

From a peak of around 650,000 in 1932, the freight car surplus compiled by the Association of American Railroads has dropped to about 228,000, the smallest since 1929. The percentage of cars in bad order was described in rail quarters as unusually high.

Many Cars Scrapped.

More than 400,000 freight cars have gone to the scrap heap while the railroads have been struggling to get through the depression. Since 1931, equipment buying has been restricted to bare needs. Save for a run of PWA financed orders last year, the equipment makers have been through barren years.

In recognition of the importance of the carriers to heavy industry, New Deal recovery promoters have devoted much attention to putting the railroads back into buying shape in hope they would lend a shoulder to the business wheel. Efforts to reorganize bankrupt roads to provide lending facilities were encouraged partly with the argument the country needed the normal buying power of the railroads.

But the march of recovery has proceeded this year without much help in the way of equipment buying from carriers. Rail men said they had plenty of equipment to meet needs as long as loadings remained below 700,000 cars weekly and that, anyway, they had to wait until rail credit was better.

View on Requirements.

Rail equipment experts here say the carriers generally have enough surplus equipment to carry them over this seasonal bulge in loadings, although there have been a few complaints of a pinch in supplying certain kinds of cars in some sections of the country. The trafic movement usually reaches a peak in October, then declines to the year-end.

But a continuation of the uptrend next year, they assert, probably would force many roads to expand equipment buying, considering the heavy abandonment of rolling stock during the depression and the long halt in replacement. That is held to apply to motive power equipment as well as freight cars.

U. S. Rubber to Redeem All 6 Per Cent Gold Notes

New York, Oct. 20.—(AP)—United States Rubber company has called for redemption on Dec. 1 all its three year secured 6 per cent gold notes, due June 1, 1936, at 100¼ and accrued interest. There were outstanding on June 30, $4,225,600 of these notes out of an original issue of $5,900,000. The notes were issued in 1933 to refund maturing obligations.

Friend of the Coal User

The Friend of the Coal User will supply information on economical use of coal in an attempt to enable users to meet with less loss the added expense which the Guffey coal law is loading on the Chicagoland public. Inquiries should be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Items of general interest will be published.

Needs Insulation.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 12.—We have been told that if we insulate all our outside walls and the floor of our attic we will save considerable on our fuel bills. We can't afford so much at present and would like to know if merely pouring on some loose insulation material ourselves on the attic floor wouldn't help considerably. We could insulate our side walls later.

H. F. C.

Answer—There are a number of good insulating materials on the market, most of them are fire resisting, which you can place in your attic yourself, and thus save labor costs. Such insulation will not only cut down your fuel bills but will give you a great deal more warmth on your second floor and also keep your upstairs cooler in summer. Later on, as you suggest, you can have side walls insulated.

Has a Fuel Problem.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—I have a round steam boiler to heat my five room bungalow and equipped my heating plant with vacuum valves. I am burning petroleum coke still run 50-50 and have the grate of my boiler partly covered with four fire bricks.

I would like to hear from you if petroleum coke, price about $7.75, is the right kind of fuel or if there is some other coal to be recommended. I have had no trouble with it. I wish your advice about how such a fire should be handled; that is, how one should apply more fuel and about banking at night. So far I have no check draft, just a pipe damper.

C. D.

Answer—When petroleum coke is used for fuel the most important factor is the draft, which should be less than for any other solid fuel. Most users of this coke cover their grates with a layer of cinders and you might try this in addition to your fire bricks. A check draft would help you to obtain the correct draft for the varying combustion rates needed on account of weather changes. When banking at night you should reduce your draft to the minimum. We believe petroleum coke is as satisfactory and economical as any of the solid fuels.

EXPECT LARGEST GROUP SINCE 1929 AT IBA MEETING

Attendance at the Investment Bankers association convention in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Oct. 26 to 30, is expected to be the largest since 1929, Edward C. George of Lawrence Stern & Co., and chairman of the transportation committee, announced yesterday.

Practically all the ninety-eight members in Chicago will attend, he said. A special train is being run from here which will also carry delegates from the west and northwest.

Edward B. Hall, vice president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, treasurer of the organization, is slated to be elected a governor for a three year term. Francis F. Patton of A. G. Becker & Co., will also be named for governor for a similar term.

IN THE COURT OF CHANCERY OF THE STATE OF DELAWARE IN AND FOR NEW CASTLE COUNTY

—vs.—

TO ALL CREDITORS AND STOCKHOLDERS OF BIFLEX PRODUCTS COMPANY AND TO ALL OTHER PARTIES IN INTEREST:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that pursuant to a decree of the Chancellor of the State of Delaware, dated October 2, 1935, in the above entitled cause, the undersigned will offer for sale at public auction to the highest bidder therefor, in the corridor of the County Court House, at the Eleventh Street end thereof, Eleventh and King Streets, Wilmington, Delaware, on the 4th day of November, A. D. 1935, at ten o'clock in the forenoon [Eastern Standard Time], all of the property in said decree described and thereby directed to be sold, to-wit:

No. 1. The Decatur plant of Biflex Products Company located at 800 East Garfield Avenue, in the City of Decatur, County of Macon, State of Illinois, consisting of approximately twenty acres of land.

No. 2. The North Chicago plant of Biflex Products Company located at 108 Hennepin Street, in the City of North Chicago, Lake County, State of Illinois, consisting of approximately 5.06 acres of land.

The aforesaid property will be offered for sale, pursuant to said decree, free from and clear of any and all liens and encumbrances, except unpaid real estate taxes and special assessments, if any, which taxes and special assessments the purchaser or purchasers will be required to assume and pay.

No bid will be accepted from anyone offering to bid who shall not, at least twenty-four hours before the sale, have deposited with Richards, Layton & Finger, 4072 du Pont Building, Wilmington, Delaware, Solicitors for the Receivers, as a pledge that they will make good the bid in case it is accepted, the sum of $5,000.00 in cash for lot No. 1 and $10,000.00 for Lot No. 2; except that Oakes Products Corporation, the owner and holder of all the outstanding notes of the defendant, is permitted to bid for said property without making any such deposit. Any deposit received from a successful bidder, other than said Oakes Products Corporation, will be held subject to the further order of the Chancellor to be applied on account of the purchase price and will be forfeited in case of failure to comply with any order of confirmation. Deposits previously made by unsuccessful bidders will be returned at the conclusion of the bidding.

The sale will be subject to confirmation by the Chancellor of the State of Delaware and a Report of Sale will be made to the Chancellor on November 6th, 1935, at 10:30 A. M., Eastern Standard Time, at the Court Room of the Court of Chancery in the County Court House at Wilmington, Delaware, which time and place have been fixed for a hearing on said Report of Sale and on any application for confirmation. No further notice of such hearing, other than an announcement at the sale, is required to be given. The Chancellor has reserved the right to offer for resale or order the resale of said property in case the purchaser shall fail or omit to pay the purchase price within the time provided by the order of confirmation.

Upon confirmation of the sale, the purchaser will be required to make payment of the purchase price at such time and in such manner as the Chancellor may direct.

For further particulars, intending purchasers are hereby referred to said Final Decree and to the proceedings in the above entitled cause on file in the office of the Register in Chancery, in and for New Castle County, Delaware, or inquiry may be made of the Receivers or their Solicitors.

THIS AD IS

TRUTH, NOT FICTION

FACT, NOT THEORY.

The writer was raised on a farm, was out of work, answered an ad and seriously was trying to find work where an honest living could be made.

Gratefully I tell you that it was the best move I ever made. I made a living, saved a little money, and really learned the profession which has made living conditions better for my loved ones each and every year.

I have helped others get started and if you are sincerely looking for a real job where you can make an honest living with opportunity for advancement, see me. Our product is an electrical system of units. The compensation is on a very liberal dealer's percentage plan where you receive extra pay for extra hours.

SEE ME MONDAY, 10 A. M. OR 1 P. M.

Rm. 516, 333 N. Michigan

LOOKING FOR

5 men who are calling on one of the following trades and selling something and want to make more money.
Railroads or Transportation Companies.
Bus or Trucking Companies.
Novelty Mfg. Company.
Automobile Dealers.
Airplane Fields.
Automotive parts and Accessory Stores.
Requirements are you MUST be a SALESMAN, have a car and clientele. On proposition that has great possibilities for the right man. Liberal comm. Give complete description of yourself and product you are selling. All correspondence treated confidentially. ADDRESS T S 354, TRIBUNE.

$100 a Week and Up.

If you are accustomed to earning this amount, or if you feel capable of it, you are the man I am looking for. Experience not necessary as you will be under the supervision of the most expert real estate men who will teach you our successful system of selling and closing sales. UNEMPLOYED MEN YOU MUST READ THIS UNUSUAL AD

This message is addressed to men living in the West Side of Chicago who are looking for an opportunity of immediate employment, who have faith in themselves to do the things they will be taught how to do without any cost to them and with possibilities of earnings that may far exceed their expectations.

Any man who is unemployed and does not try to get work is a disgrace and liability to the community and the nation, if he does not take advantage of a position that is offered to him even though it be out of his regular line of work. Some of our men, who were unemployed a few years ago, heeded our call and went to work with us, have earned during these years of so-called depression [unknown to us as our business increased] more money in commissions than they previously had in their entire lives in salaries or commissions. Many have had the pleasure of buying new homes, automobiles, have substantial bank accounts, with earnings as high as $5,000 and up a year. Why not give yourself a chance. You may also be one of the men who could enjoy this unusual experience in unusual times.

This message comes from one of the largest companies in its line in the world, whose electrical appliances enjoy an enviable reputation and whose business is built on the soundest basis. We believe in paying a man all that he is worth and he is never handicapped by having to support a lot of dead wood, as we are sorry to say, many business firms through their system have compelled a man to tolerate.

We are on an expansion program in Chicago and we are going to employ a certain number of men, give them an opportunity to prove to themselves the sincerity of the above statement. If we do not find enough men to respond to this ad, we will then transfer from our neighboring cities, men who answered a similar ad and have proved so successful that they are willing to go anywhere to work. We prefer, however, to get as many men locally as is possible and if you are a man who is unemployed or employed in a position where you feel you are entitled to greater earnings, and are willing to learn, adapt yourself to our methods, and can furnish good references as to your character and habits, we will be very pleased to grant you an interview and we will frankly tell you whether or not you are fitted for our work.

Read this message at least twice, then come in to 250 Prairie-st., Bk. Bldg., 3 Madison-st., Oak Park, and meet one of the company's executives in a personal interview, Monday, Oct. 21, between 10 a. m. and 1 p. m. only.

At DeLEE You Learn BEAUTY CULTURE

Quickly—Easily—Thoroughly.

Quickly—because you receive individual instruction under the personal direction of Madame Louise, internationally famous stylist and beauty expert.

EASILY—because DeLEE "University type" of training simplifies learning. You learn by practicing on living models. Classrooms are colorful, light and roomy. Equipment is 100% new and up-to-the-minute.

THOROUGHLY — because DeLEE does not graduate a student until she has attained genuine proficiency. At DeLEE you receive unlimited instruction at no extra cost.

Come in today and talk with the DeLEE Dean, or write for interesting book. Convenient terms can be arranged.
